COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1913 120th of the General Assembly

VOL. 2. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY. MAY 15, 1913. No. 67.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, May 15th, 1913.

The House met at 10.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we rejoice in the belief that our lives are not accidents, that we are not to meet a series of chance occurrences which we call experience, and that we are not adrift aimlessly and helplessly on a sea of uncertainty. We believe that our lives are ordered for us, that there is a wise and loving Providence over them; that we stand in the places and that we do the work to which we are appointed; that the things which befall us on the way are the best things for us. We believe this, O Lord, even regarding the hard things, the things which try us and test us most severely, the disappointments and failures and losses—these are the agents of Thy Providence that teach us lessons and put us upon our guard and brace us to resolution and energy. Let us not merely believe this, but get quickening and comforting from it. May we regard each new day as a new opportunity to learn important lessons and to do important work and to make some contribution toward the plan of our lives. Now if it be Thy will that we have a brief respite from this legislative work and be returned to our homes, wilt Thou guard us and guide us and bring us in safety and strength again to our work, and Thy name shall have the praise of it through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Donnally, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

The SPEAKER. Appropriation bills will not be reported until after the reports from Standing Committees, so that the appropriation bills can be kept together on the calendar.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, why could not the members having appropriation bills to report send them up to the Clerk, as they will be embodied in the record any way.

The SPEAKER. If that is satisfactory to the members, the appropriation bills may be sent up to the Clerk. Members who have appropriation bills to report may send them to the desk with the pages and they will appear upon the Journal as if reported in the ordinary way.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this bill has appeared on the calendar for quite sometime. The House has passed a bill taking care of the assessments of towns of the first class introduced by the same gentleman. This House has also passed a bill taking care of the assessments of towns of the second class. There is no necessity for this bill. The sponsor of this bill told me that he would have dropped this bill if he were present and stated that in case of his absence this morning, I should call it up and see to it that it was stricken off the calendar.

BILL STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. Speaker, I move that it be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. DONNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. E. E. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state in connection with the amendments that they are simply to re-number the routes that are laid out in this bill to conform with the original Sproul Act of 1907. I do not think it is necessary to read them, as they are simply renumbering the routes. That is all the amendments are.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, with reference to the renumbering of those routes, I would like to ask the Chairman of the Public Roads Committee if it is the intention to build those roads in accordance with the numerical numbers.

Mr. E. E. JONES. Mr. Speaker, it will not. They will merely take the numbers they already have in the original Sproul Act.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The second section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 2 That section three of said act which reads as follows

"Any president judge of any such court where there is only one judge or a majority of any such court where there is more than one judge being of the opinion that it is necessary for the purpose of expediting the business of the said court shall have the power to call upon any of said judges so registered as aforesaid by transmitting a written request to the prothonotary of the supreme court who shall forthwith send such request to the judge so called upon If no particular judge is designated in the call then the prothonotary shall transmit the request to one of the judges who is registered upon the docket as having time to spare during the period named in said call and the judge who responds to any such call shall thereupon be assigned to specially preside in the district from which the call has come for the purpose of transacting the business thereof with the same power and authority as vested in the judge or judges of said district" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

"Any president judge of any such court where there is only one judge or a majority of any such court where there is more than one judge being of the opinion that it is necessary for the purpose of expediting the business of the said court shall have the power to call upon any of said judges so registered as aforesaid by transmitting a written request to the prothonotary of the supreme court who shall forthwith send such request to the judge so called upon If no particular judge is designated in the call then the prothonotary shall transmit the request to one of the judges who is registered upon the docket as having time to spare during the period named in said call and the judge who responds to any such call shall thereupon be assigned to specially preside in the district from which the call has come for the purpose of transacting the business thereof with the same power and authority as vested in the judge or judges of said district Judges of the orphans courts may be assigned not only to districts which have separate orphans courts but also may be assigned to conduct orphans court business in districts which have no separate orphans courts"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 2, line 3, Before the word "Any" insert the word "Section 3."

Section 2, line 20. Before the word "Any" insert the word "Section 3."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The third section was then read as follows:

Section 3 That section four of said act which reads as follows

"Each judge so assigned and presiding in said court as aforesaid shall at the end of the month in which he is so engaged make and forward to the Auditor General on a blank form to be furnished for that purpose the place or places where he presided as judge the name of the court number of cases heard and nature of the same that is criminal civil or in equity and the number of days engaged" be and the same is hereby amended so to read as follows

"Each judge so assigned and presiding in said court as aforesaid shall at the end of the month in which he is so engaged make and forward to the Auditor General on a blank form to be furnished for that purpose the place or places where he presided as judge the name of the court number of cases heard and nature of the same that is criminal civil or in equity (if an orphans court judge the number of orphans court cases heard) and the number of days engaged"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 3, line 3, Before the word "each" insert the word "Section 4."

Section 3, line 11, Before the word "each" insert the word "Section 4."

Section 3, line 17, Strike out the word "equinty" and insert the word "equity."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The title was then read and agreed to as follows:

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment:

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Title, line 2, Strike out the words "head-light or."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The title as amended was then agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2002, as follows:

An Act authorizing the board of township commissioners in townships of the first class to join with the county commissioners in the improving of roads or streets in first class townships and providing for the assessment of a part of the cost upon the abutting property

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever hereafter in any township of the first class in this Commonwealth the board of county commissioners are about to improve any road or street in such townships under the laws of this Commonwealth authorizing them to make such improvement and the part of such road or street so to be improved will be less than three-fifths (3-5) of the total width of said road or street as laid out or dedicated it shall be lawful for the board of township commissioners of such township and they are hereby authorized and empowered to authorize by ordinance the proper officials of the said township to enter into an agreement with the county commissioners of such county providing that the said county commissioners improve said road or street for a width of twenty-four feet or a width equal to three-fifths (3-5) of the total width of said road or street to be agreed upon by the parties

Such ordinance shall also stipulate that the township shall bear thirty-three and one-third (33 1-3) per centum of the total cost of such improvement and the county shall bear the remaining cost thereof and it shall further provide that the county commissioners shall have the right to issue permits determining the manner in which public service or other corporations or individuals shall place under such road or street its pipes conduits telegraph lines or other devices used in the furtherance of its business It shall further provide that after such road or street is improved it shall be the duty of the county to keep and maintain such improved road or street in good repair. The right is reserved however to the township of policing such road or street

Section 2 The board of township commissioners are hereby authorized and empowered to assess the whole or any part of the one-third (1-3) of the total cost of said improvement being the proportion to be paid by the township under the provisions of section one hereof upon the real estate bounding or abutting upon the improved road or street which cost and expense upon the abutting real estate shall be assessed according to the foot front rule or according to benefits as the board of township commissioners shall by ordinance determine When the costs and expenses or any part thereof are to be paid for by the foot front rule the township shall assess or cause to be assessed the said cost and expense upon the real estate abounding or abutting on the line of the improvement by an equal assessment on said property in proportion to the number of feet the same fronts on the respective road or street or part thereof to be improved and the commissioners may provide for an equitable reduction from the frontage of lots at all street and other intersections and at other places where from the peculiar or the pointed shape of the lots an assessment for the full frontage would be inequitable and unequal When the costs and expenses or any part thereof is to be paid for by the real estate abutting as aforesaid according to benefits the same shall be assessed by viewers appointed by the court of common pleas as is now or shall hereafter be provided by act of Assembly Provided however That no ordinance shall be passed providing for the assessment of costs or expenses as aforesaid except upon the petition of a majority in number or of a majority in interest of the owners of property abutting on the line of the proposed improvement requesting the township commissioners to join with the county commissioners in the improvement of the road or street to be verified by the affidavit of one or more of the petitioners one-half in interest of owners of undivided interests in any one piece of property to be deemed and treated as one person and sufficient to bind said property for the purpose of said petition

Section 3 That all acts or parts of acts conflicting with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1899 (Senate Bill No. 550), entitled:

An Act regulating the use of motor boats and providing a penalty

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 467, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation for the payment of the expense of publication of amendments to the Constitution in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of two hundred and fifteen thousand dollars ($215,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the payment of the expenses already incurred for the publication in the various newspapers of this Commonwealth of the several amendments to the Constitution of this Commonwealth in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 1, line 4, by striking out the words "Two hundred and fifteen thousand dollars ($215,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof "One hundred and seventy thousand dollars ($170,000)."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, this bill was handed to me by the Auditor General or one of his clerks and the amount designated in the bill—I do not recall what it is, but I believe $215,000.00—I have been assured is the required amount to pay this bill contracted by the State. I appointed a sub-committee consisting of two members. They both made reports separately. The first one reported that $170,000.00 would be sufficient to pay the amounts contracted for. The other member of the committee reported that he had made an investigation and he suggested that the full amount of the bill would be necessary to be appropriated, viz: $215,000.00. If it would not require that amount, why it would be a very easy matter for the Auditor General to hold up any additional money that was not used for the purpose, and I hope the members of the House will take the view that I have suggested, that the amendment be refused and the bill passed for $215,000.00, as named in the bill.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, in order that the members of the House may thoroughly understand this proposition, I believe that they are entitled to a little enlightment on the subject of the advertising of the amendments proposed to the Constitution of this Commonwealth.

Under the Constitution of Pennsylvania the Secretary of the Commonwealth is directed to advertise the amendments proposed by the Legislature in at least two newspapers in each county, three months before the next election. The session of 1911 passed several amendments, some for the first time and some for the second time. At that time there was a deficit, I believe, for advertising amendments that had appeared in the public press in the year 1910. The General Appropriation Bill of 1911 carried with it an item of $175,000.00 to pay for the advertising of the Constitutional amendments incurred and to be incurred. Mr. Speaker, while it is an acknowledged fact that the question of selecting the number of newspapers and the particular newspapers in each county is discretionary with the Secretary of the Commonwealth, I contend, and I believe the majority of this House believe, that it is within the province of this House to limit the exercise of that discretion by placing a limit on the amount of money to be used for that purpose. Mr. Speaker, when the session of 1911 had before it the fact that there was a deficit and that there were other amendments passed at that session requiring advertisement, they must have figured out and arrived at the conclusion that $175,000.00 was enough to pay the bills that were then outstanding and carrying on the advertising for the next two years. Under that circumstance, I feel and I believe that the Secretary of the Commonwealth should, in the exercise of his discretion, confine himself to the limits of his appropriation. Such is the foundation of all the appropriations passed by this Legislature or any other. Such is the method of government. But notwithstanding that, the Secretary of the Commonwealth has authorized advertisements which exceeded this sum at his command to an exorbitant amount. The bills for advertising the amendments in 1911, which were paid, amounted to $64,000.00. The total amount of bills for the advertising of amendments in 1912, I was informed, amounted to some $196,000.00, with some few newspapers still to be heard from. Now, Mr. Speaker, the amount of space used in the newspapers for advertising the amendments in 1911, which were those to go before the people at the general election in that year, compared with the amount of space used for the amendment advertising in 1912—the space in 1912 was just two and two-thirds times as great; therefore, if the bill submitted to the Secretary of the Commonwealth for the advertising in 1912, which this bill is to take care of, were legitimate and fair they would be only two and two-thirds times the amount of the bills in 1911. Mr. Speaker, I have compared the bills rendered for this advertisement with the amount of these bills of the same particular newspapers rendered this Commonwealth and paid by the Auditor General for the advertising in 1911, and find that the two and two-thirds times rule applies with the exception of about one hundred newspapers, and in some instances these rates are more than double. Now, Mr. Speaker, the most unusual exercise of this discretion on the part of the Secretary of the Commonwealth is apparent when you consider the character of the newspapers which carry these advertisements. I am not particularly informed on many of the newspapers throughout this Commonwealth, but on the list of newspapers which carried these advertisements in 1912 in the City of Philadelphia are little sheets that are published at the instance of cut-rate grocery stores, with no paid circulation, and printed merely for free distribution. Notwithstanding this fact, these newspapers have rendered bills to this Commonwealth for advertising these amendments equal in amount to that charged by the large Philadelphia morning and afternoon papers. Mr. Speaker, this is significant to my mind, when you consider the fact that newspapers that carried the State's advertising of amendments in the year 1911 and did not secure the similar advertising in 1912 were some of the most influential newspapers in their respective counties, but the discrimination, in my mind, was exerted against them for the purpose of disciplining them for supporting the Progressive candidate for President of the United States. Mr. Speaker, I have recalled to my mind the particular case of the "Tribune," published in the City of Johnstown, Cambria County. I am informed that that is the paper that has the largest circulation in that county, having three or four times the amount of circulation of any newspaper in that county, but not withstanding that fact they were not given this advertising in the year 1912, although they had advertised these publications for years at the instance of the State. Mr. Speaker, I only cite that as an instance and it will carry true, I have no doubt, throughout every county in the Commonwealth. I have made inquiry as to at least a dozen counties and found that conditions adhered throughout as in this particular case. Now, Mr. Speaker, only yesterday this House passed a bill which, as I believe, was introduced at the instance of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, limiting these advertisements to two newspapers in each county. Mr. Speaker, in my mind there was absolutely no occasion for that bill. The Secretary of the Commonwealth, in my judgment, in having that bill introduced in this House, put himself in a very peculiar position. To my mind he acknowledged to this House and to the State at large that he was not competent to exercise a proper discretion, and acknowledged to the State and every citizen in it that this outrageous abuse that has been pursued for some time was not warranted and should not exist. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, while I believe that as agent for the State the Secretary of the Commonwealth is subject to criticism for the use and abuse of his discretion in placing these advertisements, at the same time, the newspapers that gave that space to the State, the legitimate newspapers, should not be done out of their money. We who represent the principal have to be bound by the acts of the agent and pay the honest, legitimate newspaper for the service it rendered to the State, that is, the advertising of the amendments. If there was no other obligation, if it was not a moral obligation of this State to pay the legitimate newspapers, I would be against this bill most emphatically, but I have to recognize the fact that even if our agent exceeded his authority we are bound by it. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I feel that this House should adopt this amendment.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the House to what is appropriated in this bill. It simply appropriates $215,000.00, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to pay bills contracted by the Commonwealth. The Auditor General could not pay out more than is necessary nor more than the bill appropriates.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would call the attention of the House to the fact that we are hard up for money. You know that every time you appropriate a certain amount that it is set aside in a specific fund and is beyond the reach or the disposal of this Legislature. If my proposition is true that $175,000.00 is more than ample to pay the legitimate newspapers for the proper advertising bill, there is no occasion to put beyond the reach of this Legislature forty-five thousand dollars additional and have it lay idle for the next two years. Under the argument advanced by the gentleman from Tioga, this bill might as well carry an appropriation of one million dollars because only the amount necessary would be used. In appropriation bills that carry that clause in it, "so much as may be necessary," may be raised three or four times to deplete the amount at the disposal of this Legislature, so that the legitimate and necessary institutions and improvements of the State would suffer. Mr. Speaker, I insist that $175,000.00 is more than ample to take care of these bills.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that it is wise for this House to pass upon the amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia without some consideration. I hold in my hand the tabulation that he has made of the various bills that have been sent by the newspapers throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the publishing of the proposed constitutional amendments. Now you gentlemen will appreciate the fact that the constitutional amendment must be of the same space as published in the one session as it must be as published at the next session. In other words, there is no difference as to the space and there should be no difference as to rates. According to the tabulation prepared here the publication now is two and two-thirds times greater than was the publication previously when the rate was fixed. See what he has shown here, and which you gentlemen should clearly understand before you vote against this bill, and before you allowed this well studied levity around here to lead you to believe that this means nothing. This young gentleman from Philadelphia has brought before this House something that deserves the consideration of the man who is careful about his vote in this House. He has got, for instance, the bill of the "Compiler," of Gettysburg. This bill was $182.00. When they published two and two-thirds of that same advertisement again, according to their rate, it ought to have been $486.00. Now their bill as submitted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth is $568.00. We find the "Star" and "Sentinel" of Gettysburg fixing the rate of the previous publication at $153.79. According to that calculation their charge should be $410.00, but their bill is $566.80. We find the same thing with the "Times" of Gettysburg. This gets along at a little greater rate as you go down the line. Take the Gazette-Times of Pittsburgh. Their bill was $351.00. According to that calculation they would be entitled to $936.00, but their bill shows now a claim of $1,157.00. That does not apply to all newspapers. We find, for instance, the "Pittsburgh Dispatch" where their bill was $421.00. According to the calculation on that basis they would be entitled to $1,123.20. What is their bill? It is $1,123.20. In other words, in this calculation that this gentleman has gotten up you will find that a certain class of newspapers have given their bills exactly to, the exact penny, and then another class of newspapers that is giving a class of bills which eat up these thousands of dollars that the amendment offered by the young gentleman from Philadelphia now seeks to correct. You gentlemen who follow merely the well-studied levity that is around here, that laugh and scoff at the young gentleman from Germantown, should appreciate the fact that he has dug up something for the consideration of this House. You should vote for this amendment which is against this character of use of the money of the Commonwealth, and I, for one, gentlemen, propose to support this amendment.

I want to put my vote on record on this amendment against this measure and this method of using the money of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, I fear the gentlemen who have been speaking on this question, are not familiar with the topic on which they have been talking. The State has entered into a contract with certain newspapers and the service has been rendered. The only question is, is our Auditor General going to use his discretion? Is he going to be honest and require these newspapers to furnish, under oath, a statement that they didn't charge the State any more for this service than they would for any other advertising of like nature. That is no fault of the Secretary of the Commonwealth if they have charged more for the service than they would charge any one else. The Auditor General has power to find out if the newspapers are charging more. Other Auditor Generals in the past have done it. Auditor General Sisson, if you please, has seen fit to cut down newspaper charges when they were charging a higher rate. Mr. Powell has done likewise. This matter is only a question of the integrity of the Auditor General. It is not a question for this House to decide as to what rate the newspapers are charging. I think the gentlemen who support them don't know. They may question the newspapers, but we have an Auditor General here to investigate. I will say on this floor that I know of four newspapers in my own county who have in some way over-charged the customary rate. I am one who is willing to ask the Auditor General to put that bill back and down to the rate where they have published this matter in the past, as to rates charged and where it should be. As to going into all this tirade of service rendered for contracts entered into and placing the State in the position of not paying its bills, there is nothing to that.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I think there is a misunderstanding of the situation. The fact that when a party presents a bill to me and I think it is more than it ought to be, is no presumption that I am or am not going to pay it. The Legislature will appropriate sufficient money to pay its honest bills. They have been waiting to pay bills because of certain conditions, namely: no appropriation. The presumption that the present Auditor General is going to pay bills that are not correct—in other words, practically stand in and rob the State, is all folly; it is nonsense. This bill simply says: "We appropriate so much money." To be sure to appropriate enough to pay our honest debts. If there is any more than is necessary to meet the bills due, it will stay in the Treasury. It is not proper to presume that because the gentleman from Philadelphia says certain bills ought not to be paid or certain bills ought to be paid, that is no evidence that the Auditor General is going to pay them irrespective of the merits of the claims. There is no doubt but that the Auditor General will carefully comply with the laws of the State and pay only those bills authorized by law, and no doubt he will just as carefully take care of the interests of the State. I think the appropriation as provided for in the bill is entirely correct. We can trust the Auditor General to make whatever corrections are necessary and if within this short time of service they have made mistakes they may be corrected. They may have omitted an item or made a mistake in bookkeeping and then some newspapers may not have been paid, but I don't see any reason for alarm on this matter unless we have no faith in the Auditor General of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the statement of the gentleman from Delaware that the appropriation of the money does not mean the paying of these bills, assuming as he said, that if a bill was presented to him does not mean hat he is going to pay it merely because the bill is presented, is not meeting the conditions.

If the bill were presented, the presumption would be that he is going to pay it. We are simply endeavoring to stop them now from going to the cash register and paying out moneys on bills without further consideration. The saying that this is an attack on the Auditor General, Mr. Speaker, is nonsense. The Auditor General will have merely the approving of the voucher. The voucher will come from the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the Secretary of the Commonwealth will base his voucher upon these bills that have been shown by the gentleman from Philadelphia not to be correct. Who takes the responsibility? Is it the Auditor General? No. Is it the Secretary of the Commonwealth? No. It is you and myself. You stand here on the floor of the House being the only body of the Legislature that has power to stop the paying of the bill by refusing the appropriation. This is a very easy matter to brush aside. It does not involve many thousands of dollars but if we continue that character of legislation, that this is a part of. we are going to encourage extravagance in this State and loot the Treasury. I mentioned some of the newspaper bills from the other portions of the State. Now let us see if the gentleman from Philadelphia has not brought the real solution in the report which I have here. The Demokrat, a German paper of Philadelphia, is the first one I will read. They were paid five hundred and eighty-five dollars. (Several others were referred to.)

Every one of the bills that come here from Philadelphia have shown that the calculation that has appeared here before the House by the gentleman from Philadelphia is absolutely correct, because it meets the bills of these papers. The bills throughout the State—one-half of them have the increased charges of which he complains. Now, let us see whether or not the other portion of the proposition is right? This bill is to pay for a deficiency. It is not for the future; it is for the past. It is the trust that we put in the Secretary of the Commonwealth who under the power of the law has a right to use his discretion in spending the money at this date in advertising in the various papers of large circulation, to which I now wish to refer. Let us see what he has picked out. In Philadelphia, among some of them. The Pennsylvania State Gazette, the Philadelphia Advocate, the Plain Dealer, the Sunday Transcript, the West Philadelphia Mirror, the West Philadelphia Bulletin, the Young Republican, and Cracks. There was paid to Cracks (and there is something here in small print), stating that $1,560.00, the same amount as the Ledger charges. The Sunday Despatch $1,650.00. Now let us see what the large publications charge: The Philadelphia Inquirer $1,560.00, let us compare that with Cracks which is paid $1,560.00. The North American, $1,560.00; the Philadelphia Press. $1,560.00; the Ledger, $1,560.00; the Record, $1,560.00; the Sunday Despatch, $1,560.00.

What is the use of my friend from Delaware ranting about us not putting confidence in the State officials when publications of that character have been used for advertising, and when we are asked to appropriate some forty thousand dollars more than are legitimate bills to pay for such publications? Why do we hear this? Gentlemen of the House, don't allow yourself to be misled in your vote on this matter merely because the gentleman whose views are not appreciated by many of those from his own city who are merely groping through the dark; who are merely digging their own graves (groans). Don't allow those groans to influence you; I helped to teach some of them; don't allow that to influence you and, Gentlemen of the House, don't, I repeat, allow that to influence you in the vote which means now the protection of the Treasury. I ask that all you gentlemen will support the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, we have all had experience in this session of the Pennsylvania Legislature with deficiency bills. The Legislature has already appropriated and passed appropriations, as I can recollect, something over a million dollars for deficiency bills and if there is not a sufficient amount of money appropriated to pay these newspaper bills, that are entitled to this money, it will naturally have to be taken care of at another time and that means that the next Legislature will have to pass another deficiency bill and I hope the gentlemen will take that view of it and not make the next Legislature pass a deficiency bill caused through the carelessness of the preceding Legislature. I trust that every member of the House that is inclined to be fair and impartial will vote for this measure and will vote down this amendment.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the amendment?

An Act to amend the first section of an act entitled "An Act authorizing banks chartered under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to loan money on the security of bonds and mortgages on real estate and to invest their funds in bonds mortgages notes and other interest bearing securities and obligations" approved the tenth day of July Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one Pamphlet Laws six hundred and thirty-nine by defining more definitely the amount of money banks may loan on the security of bonds and mortgages on real estate

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1973 (Senate Bill No. 826), entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of an act entitled "An Act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditures thereof abolishing the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of court fixing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions" approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the twelfth section of an act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditures thereof abolishing the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of court fixing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions" which reads as follows

"Section 12 It shall not be lawful for any township supervisor to be interested either directly or indirectly in any work done except as provided for in this act any purchase made or contract relating to roads and bridges nor to furnish any materials therefor Any person knowingly violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months both or either at the discretion of the court" is hereby amended so as to read

"Section 12 It shall not be lawful for any township supervisor to be interested either directly or indirectly in any work done except as provided for in this act any purchase made or contract relating to roads and bridges nor to furnish any material therefor except stone gravel and earth when not convenient to supply the demand and these at a price to be fixed by the township auditors Any person knowingly violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months both or either at the discretion of the court

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. H. B. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, line 27, by striking out the word "not" and inserting the word "most."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The second section and the title of the bill were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

An Act to amend section twelve of an act entitled "An Act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditures thereof abolishing the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of court fixing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions" approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1902 (Senate Bill No. 815), as follows:

An Act providing for the making valid of the charters of certain corporations heretofore incorporated for the purpose of supplying heat light and power by means of electricity to the public upon the filing of certain certificates with the Secretary of the Commonwealth

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That wherever heretofore any corporation has been incorporated under the provisions of the act of May eighth one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine an act to amend an act entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" approved the twenty-ninth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four providing for the incorporation and regulation of electric light heat and power companies (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and thirty-six amending sub-division eleven class two section two act of April twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four "An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" for the purpose expressed in the application for its charter of supplying heat light and power by means of electricity to the public within a territory greater than the territory for which by said act said corporation would have had authority to supply light heat and power by electricity it shall be lawful for said corporation within one year from the date of this act to file in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and record in the proper county a certificate under its corporate seal specifying the borough town city or district (part of said larger territory) in which it desires to supply heat light and power or any of them to the public by electricity And if any such borough town city or district after the filing of the original application for the charter was subdivided into two or more separate boroughs or districts the certificate so to be filed may comprehend all such boroughs or districts

Upon the filing and recording of any such certificates said corporation shall be obliged to confine its operations to supply light heat and power or any of them to the public by electricity to the territory specified in said certificate Any such corporation filing and recording such certificate shall thereafter possess the same rights and powers which it would have possessed had the original application for its charter and its charter confined the operations of said company to the borough town city or district thus specified

All property rights easements franchises and privileges belonging to any such corporation theretofore acquired by gift grant conveyance municipal ordinance or consent assignment or otherwise shall be vested in and shall be exercised by said corporation as though the original application for charter and charter had been limited in the way specified

Section 2 The Secretary of the Commonwealth is authorized and directed to receive any such certificate and to file the same with the original application for incorporation in his office upon payment of a fee for filing of thirty dollars Provided that nothing herein contained shall enlarge the territory within which any such corporation was authorized by law at the time of its incorporation to supply heat light and power by means of electricity to the public

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1305, entitled:

An Act providing for the making and recording of duplicate maps or plans of tracts of land laid out and subdivided into lots where the owner of any such tract of land has died without recording the same and the engineer making such map or plan is still alive and providing for the collection of the costs of such proceeding from such decedent's estate

The first, second, third, fourth and fifth sections of the bill were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That where any tract or piece of land has been or may hereafter be laid out and subdivided into lots and a map or plan thereof made by an engineer and any of said lots have been sold and deeds therefor delivered reciting descriptions according to said map or plan and where the owner of such tract or piece of land has died without recording such map or plan in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county wherein such tract or piece of land is situate and the engineer making the map or plan of such lots is still alive it shall be lawful for the owner of any such lot or lots his or her heirs devices assigns or legal representatives to present a petition to the Court of Common Pleas of the proper county setting forth that a map or plan of such lots was made that the same has not been recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds the interest of the petitioner in such lot or lots that the owner of said tract or piece of land which was subdivided and laid out into lots is dead and that the engineer who made said map or plan is still alive said petition shall be accompanied by an affidavit showing that notice of the intention to present said petition to said court was served upon an heir or legal representative of the decedent at least ten days previous thereto

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.
Agreeably to order,
The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1693, entitled:

An Act prohibiting corporations co-partnerships or companies conducting a cemetery from excluding persons duly authorized by the lot holders in said cemeteries to enter said cemeteries to do gardening work and decorations on lots therein and providing a penalty for violation of said act by officers managers agents or employees of said corporations co-partnerships or companies

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That on and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any corporation co-partnership or company engaged in conducting a cemetery except those conducted on the lawn plan to exclude from the said cemetery any person or persons lawfully authorized by any lot-holder in the cemetery conducted by said corporation co-partnership or company to enter the said cemetery and to perform such gardening work and decoration in and about the said lot as said person may be duly authorized to perform by said lot-holder provided that said person so doing the work shall comply with the regulations of the said corporation co-partnership or company

On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. GANS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 1, line 6: Strike out "except those conducted on the lawn plan."

Section 1, lines 13, 14 and 15: Strike out "brackets."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendments?
They were agreed to.
The section as amended was then agreed to.
The second section and the title of the bill were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 Any corporation co-partnership or company or any superintendent officer manager agent or employee of said corporation co-partnership or company violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of misdemanor and subject to a fine not to exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) for each and every offense Provided however That the provisions of this bill shall not apply to cemeteries conducted on the law plan

An Act prohibiting corporations co-partnerships or companies conducting a cemetery from excluding persons duly authorized by lot holders in said cemeteries to enter said cemeteries to do gardening work and decorations on lots therein and providing a penalty for violation of said act by officers managers agents or employes of said corporations co-partnerships or companies

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.
Agreeably to order,
The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1972 (Senate Bill No. 572), entitled:

An Act to validate appointments heretofore made of persons to act as patrolmen and firemen of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth

The first section of the bill was read.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment:

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section one, line 32, by inserting the following: "Provided, however, that this act shall not apply to appointments heretofore made, the validity of which is now in litigation."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I decline to vote on this bill, and ask leave to file my reasons and that the same be read by the Clerk.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise for information. Is the House considering the amendment proposed.

The SPEAKER. The question is will the House agree to the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the amendment be again read.

The amendment was read the second time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. W. H. Wilson, desires to have read to the House his reasons for not voting upon this bill. The reasons will be read.

The reasons were read by the Clerk as follows:

William H. Wilson declines to vote on Senate Bill No. 572, and desires to file the following reason:

The law firm with which he is connected is of counsel in certain test cases now pending before the Superior Court of Pennsylvania growing out of appointments made the basis of this legislation.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was not agreed to.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a division on that question I desire to say it is an extermely important question.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will withdraw its decision.

Whereupon a division was taken, 22 voting in the affirmative and 48 in the negative, a total of 70.

The SPEAKER. The Sergeant at Arms wil close the doors and the Clerk will call the roll to ascertain the presence of a quorum. The doors will remain closed until the Chair directs them to be opened.

The Clerk will call the roll and the gentleman will answer present.

The roll was then called and 147 members answered present as follows:

Speaker.

The SPEAKER. A quorum is present.

The question recurs on the adoption of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut.

The Chair will state to the House that with the exception of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. W. H. Wilson, who has filed reasons for not voting on this bill, any member who now declines to vote one way or the other, is in contempt under the rules of the House.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the amendment ought to have a little bit of explanation. The bills to validate a certain number of appointments to the public service in Philadelphia, police appointments. The reason that the bill is considered necessary.

The SPEAKER. I am afaraid at this time this is out of order, but if there is no objection the gentleman can make the explanation.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, these appointments which have been brought in question and that are validated by the bill, were made in what was evidently an attempt to evade the provisions of the Civil Service Act for cities of the first class. Under that act all appointments were only to made after medical examination and being placed upon the eligible list, the appointments to be made from the first four on the list. Now in order to evade this provision the eligible list was divided into a great many district lists, so that each district is very small and the first four would comprise a very large proportion of the list and sometimes the whole list, and then when any of the powers desired to appoint a man and could not appoint him on the district list they would transfer his residence or make him pretend to transfer his residence to the district where the list was small and in that way they appointed a large number of men in violation of the civil service act.

Those of us who believe in the upholding of the act and living up to it, have a great deal of doubt as to whether this bill ought to pass at all because of the fact that it would validate appointments made in fraud upon the act, but we can see certain justice in the act as a whole. That is to say, those men who are appointed, were appointed under what they were told by the powers in charge was the proper way and it is a pretty heavy burden to expect those men to carry who may be desirous of upholding its provisions more than the authorities of the city. I say there is something to be said for the men who are appointed in that way. But this bill goes further. The actual validity of five of those appointments is now in litigation and that litigation will determine whether or not this attempted evasion of the act is legal or not. Now if this bill passes without the amendment, that litigation will be rendered entirely useless and we will never know from the Supreme or Superior Courts whether or not that is a legal manner of evading the Civil Service Act. What we want to guard against is this: Should there come again an administration in the City of Philadelphia such as the one which used to be there, antagonistic to the principles of civil service reform, then they will take this same method of evasion and there will be no decision upon the act and the whole civil service legislation will be rendered useless and it will be a complete failure. Therefore, while I say I am perfectly willing to vote for this bill with this amendment incorporated excepting those particular cases now under litigation, I do not think the House ought to decide litigation. That should be left to the Courts.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

A rising vote was taken, sixty-six voting in the affirmative and eighty in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The doors will now be opened.

The section was then agreed to.

The preamble and title were then separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, when the amendment to House Bill No. 467 was under discussion, I distinctly voted in the affirmative. I am advised that I am reported as having voted in the negative. I am surprised at the mistake of the Clerk on account of the confusion while the vote was being taken, and I, therefore, ask that the Clerk be instructed to record me as having voted "aye."

The SPEAKER. The roll is still on the desk, and can be corrected. In defense of the Clerk, I will say that the response of the gentleman sounded "no" at the desk.

Mr. W. M. WILSON. Three or four gentleman shouted "no," Mr. Speaker, and drowned my "aye."

The SPEAKER. The correction will be made and noted upon the Journal.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move you that the vote by which the House concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 580, file folio 8043, entitled:

> An Act to amend an act entitled "A Supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the better government of cities of the first class in this Commonwealth' approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five creating a Department of Wharves Docks and Ferries for the improvement regulation and supervision of the construction extension alteration maintenance and use of wharves piers bulkheads docks slips basins ferries harbors and harbor structures in cities of the first class and providing for the making and enforcement of rules and regulations and fixing certain penalties for violations thereof and providing for the acquisition of property by said cities by purchase and by condemnation for certain purposes" approved the eighth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven as amended by an act entitled "An Act to amend the fifteenth section of an act approved the eighth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled 'A Supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the better government of cities of the first class in this Commonwealth' approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five creating a Department of Wharves Docks and Ferries for the improvement regulation and supervision of the construction extension alteration maintenance and use of wharves piers bulkheads docks slips basins ferries harbors and harbor structures in cities of the first class and providing for the making and enforcement of rules and regulations and fixing certain penalties for violation thereof and providing for the acquisition of property by said cities by purchase and by condemnation for certain purposes' by fixing the number of jury at three' approved the twenty-seventh day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven be reconsidered.

Mr. CONRADE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, last night I asked the House to concur in the various amendments made by the Senate to this bill. In going over it carefully this morning, I find that there are other matters that should be gone into, and that is the reason for my motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

HOUSE NON-CONCURS IN SENATE AMENDMENTS.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its non-concurrence in the amendments as made by the Senate, and that a conference committee be appointed.

Mr. HORACE B. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 263, entitled:

An Act repealing an act entitled "An Act supplementing and amending section two of an act entitled 'An Act concerning divorces approved March thirteenth one thousand eight hundred and fifteen regulating the submission of issues of fact to a jury the appointment of masters in proceedings for divorce defining the powers of the Court and the practice in relation thereto Repealing an act approved March tenth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine approved the twentieth day of April one thousand nine hundred and eleven be placed upon the calendar notwithstanding the negative reccommendation of the committee.

Mr. CONNER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is this. that I understand that this bill was reported out last Tuesday with a negative recommendation and, therefore, under the five day rule, five days having elapsed, the gentleman's motion is out of order.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I hope that the gentleman will not raise this point of order. This is a repealer to the divorce bill which I introduced at the last session. After the Judiciary General Committee passed upon this, they reported it with a negative recommendation. When I filed the repealer, I stated that I intended to vote against it. I think the law as enacted is a good law. But I have been criticised unjustly and it has been said that the bill was introduced from an ulterior motive. Putting the bill on the calendar and after a discussion of the bill by the House, we will be able to show to the public whether it was a bill improperly enacted for the purpose of depriving a woman of her rights.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, has not the time limit run on placing this bill on the calendar.

The SPEAKER. It has.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, then I raise the point of order that the gentleman is out of order in discussing this bill.

The Speaker. Under the rules the Chair will have to sustain the point of order raised by the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to place this bill upon the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections.

The SPEAKER. The bills on final passage have not as yet been printed and will be passed over for the present.

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I call up from page 20 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed for the present, House Bill No. 1913, file folio 7497.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1913, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the sixth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three entitled "An Act to provide for the consolidation of boroughs and the government and regulation thereof" as amended

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimors consent of the House to offer an amendment?

The Speaker the amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

House Bill 1913, file folio 7497. Amend Section 1, line 26, after the word "at," strike out word "every" and insert "a" in its place.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to on third reading.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. KERN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from page 21 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed for the present, House Bill No. 904.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 904 entitled:

An Act fixing the pay of assessors in the several counties having a population of one hundred and fifty thousand or over

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KERN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of the House to insert an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend House Bill No. 904, file folio 3571. Amend Section 1, line 4, by striking out the word "county" and insert in lieu thereof the words "township of the second class." Strike out all of line 5, and in line 6 strike out "five dollars ($5.00)" and in lieu thereof the words "three dollars and fifty cents ($3.50)."

Amend title by striking out all after the word "counties."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to on third reading.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, before proceeding with any further business in the House, I do now move you that Rule 5, which requires that a motion to place on the calendar be made within five days from the time the bill is negatived by the Committee be suspended with reference to House Bill No. 263.

Mr. JOHN ROBERT JONES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, in fairness to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott, I wish to make a short explanation of how the bill was handled in the Judiciary General Committee. When the bill came up for consideration, the sub-committee was appointed to investigate. Later the sub-committee reported to the general committee in favor of reporting the bill with a negative recommendation. The general committee considered the matter and after a motion fairly put and carried, the report of the sub-committee was adopted and the bill was reported with a negitave recommendation. As far as I am concerned personally, I have no objection to the bill being placed upon the calendar, where each member will be given a chance to record his vote upon the proposition.

The SPEAKER. The motion is on the question to suspend the rule.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I renew my motion to place the bill upon the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the committee.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 800, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation for the purchase for the Pennsylvania State Museum of a collection of photograph negatives showing the history of the oil industry of this Commonwealth from the earliest discoveries to the present time

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1.

Brosius,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate, with the information that the House has passed same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1706, entitled:

An Act conferring jurisdiction upon courts of quarter sessions in cases of nuisance against townships cities boroughs and other municipal corporations to hear and determine the same without trial by jury and regulating procedure fine and costs

On the question.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading

It was agreed to.

On the question.

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the author of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Conniff, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker. I desire to ask the gentleman how does he evade the constitutional provision that trial by jury shall be as heretofore.

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, not having here at this time Dunmore's Appeals, I have not the opportunity to cite therefrom, but it is decided that municipalities are not guaranteed the same rights as individuals under the Constitution of Pennsylvania—that is the right of trial by jury.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further ask the gentleman if that right is not guaranteed by the Constitution, why is it not as proper that a municipality shall have the same right of trial by jury as an individual?

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, for this reason: A number of these nuisance cases come before the court after indictment by the Grand Jury and they really become nuisance cases. They are not determined, most of them, and finally the calendars of the court are so clogged by such cases that nothing definite ever comes from them. This is to help the District Attorneys to have these nuisances abated after they are maintained by the several municipalities. In order to get speedy disposition of such cases—that is the object of this bill.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this would be an apt reason that might be given in all cases for denying the right of trial by jury. I think a similar argument might be made to proceed in wiping out trial by jury entirely. Of course, it takes longer to try a case by jury than in a court. Unless some better argument is advanced I shall have to vote against this bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 668, entitled:

An Act to provide for the return by the State Treasurer to the several counties from which the same are received for their own use of three-fourths of certain taxes received or collected by county treasurers or other officers and paid into the State Treasury

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill for an explanation of its provisions. It say certain taxes are to be returned to the State.

Mr. BURNETT. Mr. Speaker, the tax commission appointed in 1911 to look into consideration this mercantile license tax, and in their consideration they recommended that a portion of this tax be returned to the county from which it was received and on the basis of their recommendation this bill was prepared returning three-fourths of the mercantile license tax to the counties from which it was received.

BILL POSTPONED.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1951 (Senate Bill No. 714), entitled:

An Act to amend the ninth section of an act entitled "An Act for the establishment and government of a State Naval Militia approved the fifteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three by repealing the provision that the divisions in each battalion in the Naval Force shall be considered the equivalents of companies of the National Guard and by providing that the divisions of the Naval Force shall be considered the equivalents of field batteries in the National Guard and shall receive the same allowances as field batteries for armory rent for rifle practice for clothing and equipment and making said allowances also available for subsistence and additional general military purposes by also providing that the allowances to be received by battalions in the Naval Force for armory rent for rifle practice for clothing and equipment shall be available for subsistence and additional general military purposes

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, this is a Senate Bill and I have looked over it as carefully as I can, but I am unable to understand the change that is made in the bill, not being familiar with the terms that are used there, and if there is any one who can explain it, I would like to have that explanation.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill is an identical bill with one that has passed this House. There was a similar bill to this one introduced in the Senate at the same time. The bill passed the House and was sent to the Senate and went to the same Senate committee in which this bill was lodged and instead of reporting out the House Bill from the Senate committee, they reported out the Senate Bill and that is the reason this bill is here. It is the same bill as the one which passed the House.

It merely puts a battalion of the Naval Militia on the same footing and standing as a company of militia. They have the same rights and obligations and duties to perform as the National Guard and it merely puts them upon the same footing.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate, with the information that the House has passed same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House preceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 355, as follows:

An Act prohibiting any officer clerk or employee of any county containing a population of one million five hundred thousand and over from taking any active part in politics political movements or elections or from interfering with elections or from using his office to influence politcs political movements or elections and providing penalties for violation thereof

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That no officer or clerk or employee at any county containing a population of one million five hundred thousand and over shall be a member of or delegate or alternate delegate to any political convention nor shall he be present at any such convention except on the performance of his official duty No such officer clerk or employee shall serve as a member of or attend the meetings of any committee of any political party or take any active part in political management or in political campaigns or use his office to influence political movements or influence the political action of any other such officer clerk or employee No such officer clerk or employee shall in any way or manner interfere with the conduct of any election or the preparation therefor at the polling place or with the election officers while counting the vote or returning the ballot boxes books and papers to the place provided by law for that purpose save only for the purpose of marking and depositing his ballot as speedily as it reasonably can be done or be within any polling place or within fifty feet thereof except for purposes of ordinary travel or residence during the period of time beginning with one hour preceding the opening of the polls for holding such election and ending with the time when the election officers shall have finished counting the votes and have left the polling place for the purpose of depositing the ballot boxes and papers in the place provided by law for that purpose excepting only police officers of the particular county who may temporarily approach or enter the polling place in order to make any arrest permitted by law or for the purpose of preserving order and in each such case only long enough to accomplish the duties aforesaid after which the said officers shall at once withdraw

Section 2 Any such officer clerk or employee who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars and to undergo an imprisonment in the jail of the proper county of not less than three months nor more than twelve months The court shall not suspend sentence in any case In addition to the fine and imprisonment such officer clerk or employee shall forfeit his office or position and shall during a period of five years thereafter be disqualified from holding any position of honor or trust or profit within the limits of this Commonwealth

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. G. K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 2, line 4, by striking out the word "less" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "more" and by striking out all after the word "dollars" to the end of the section and substituting therefor the following: "and either before after conviction shall be immediately dismissed by the officer vested by law with the authority to dismiss such officer, clerk or employee."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment? Is there any objection. The Chair hears objections, and the amendment will not be inserted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. G. K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now go into a committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker announced that the "noes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon,

A division was called for.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that many of the gentlemen are voting merely to make a quorum, therefore the vote is out of order.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk not being satisfied with their count, the vote will again be taken.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, before the vote is taken, I would like to explain the amendment to the House in order that the members might know upon what they are voting.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the gentleman will be granted this privilege. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut, will proceed.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, this amendment merely reduced the penalty in the bill. The penalty in the present bill is altogether too severe, and the sponsor of the bill has introduced this amendment reducing the penalty for the offense described by the bill. I think the purpose of the bill is perfectly good, and I think the amendment should be inserted, so that we may have a proper bill for our consideration when it comes to voting on it on final passage.

The question recurring,

Will the House go into a committee of the whole for the purposes of special amendment?

The Speaker announced that the "noes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon,

A division was called, and seventy-nine gentlemen having voted in the affirmative and thirty-nine in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Rockwell will kindly assume the Chair as Chairman of the committee of the whole.

Mr. ROCKWELL in the Chair.

The CHAIRMAN. The committee of the whole House having under consideration House Bill No. 355 for the purpose of special amendment.

The Clerk will read the amendment. ....

The Clerk again read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 2, line 4, by striking out the word "less" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "more" and by striking out all after the word "dollars" to the end of the section and substituting therefore the following: "and either before or after conviction shall be immediately dismissed by the officer vested by law with the authority to dismiss such officer, clerk or employee."

On the question,

Will the committee of the whole House agree to the proposed amendment?

Whereupon,

A division was called for and sixty-two gentlemen having voted in the affirmative and forty-three in the negative,

The amendment was adopted.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the committee of the whole House rise and report back to the House.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the committee of the whole House, I now report back to the House, House Bill No. 355, as amended, with amendments inserted therein.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the report of the committee of the whole?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be prepared for final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1963 (Senate Bill No. 10), as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for their compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibiting vendors from giving false or insufficient weights and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" by restricting the provisions thereof to counties and cities of the second and third classes regulating the appointment and compensation of the inspectors extending their powers and duties and changing the penalties for violation of the said act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the first section of an act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for their compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibiting vendors from giving false or insufficient weights and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" which reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the several boards of county commissioners and the mayors of the several cities of the Commonwealth may and are hereby authorized to appoint such numbers of competent persons as inspectors of weights and measures as they may deem proper to protect the public from the use of false weights and measures and whose duties it shall be to faithfully enforce and execute the laws of the Commonwealth now in existence or which may be hereafter enacted with reference to weights and measures Provided That the county inspectors of weights and measures shall have no authority to inspect weights and measures in cities or to execute the laws of the Commonwealth in regard to the same or the ordinances of municipalities as they apply to cities within limits of their respective counties Neither shall the city inspectors have any jurisdiction outside of their respective cities

The compensation and expenses of such county inspectors shall be fixed by the respective boards of county commissioners and paid by appropriations directly from the proper county treasuries and the compensation of city inspectors shall be fixed by ordinance such compensation and allowances for expenses shall be paid by appropriations made from the respective city treasuries" is amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the several boards of county commissioners and the mayors of cities of the second and third class shall respectively appoint one or more competent persons as inspectors of weights and measures in the respective county or city whose salary shall not be less than one thousand dollars per annum to be paid out of the respective revenues of such county or city In addition to the salary provided by law the said county and city inspectors shall be entitled to have and receive the actual expenses incurred by them personally in performing the duties of their office such as transportation hotel livery telephone telegraph and postal charges to be paid by the boards of county commisisoners of their respective counties on bills itemized and properly sworn to Provided however that nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent two or more counties or any county and city from combining the whole or any part of their districts as may be agreed upon by the board of county commisisoners and mayors of cities with one set of standards and one inspector upon the written consent of the chief of the bureau of standards any inspector appointed in pursuance of an agreement for such combination shall subject to the terms of his appointment have the same authority jurisdiction and duties as if he had been appointed by each of the authorities who are parties to the agreement The county and city inspectors of weights and measures as appointed by the respective counties and cities shall hold their office during good behavior and shall not be removed discharged or reduced in pay or position except for inefficiency incapacity conduct unbecoming employes or other just cause and until the said officials shall have been furnished with written statements of the reason for such removal discharge or reduction and shall have been given reasonable time to make written answer thereto Nor shall such removal discharge or reduction be made until the charge or charges shall have been examined into and found true in fact by the appointing power of such county or city at a hearing upon reasonable notice to the person charged at which time he may be represented by counsel and offer testimony or witnesses in his own behalf It shall be unlawful for any sealer or inspector of weights and measures or any of his deputies to perform clerical or other services for the county or city of their respective districts

Section 2 That section two of said act which reads as follows

"Section 2 That all county and city inspectors so appointed shall be supplied at the expense of their respective counties and cities with standard tests of weights and measures in conformity with those established by the Government of the United States or the Bureau of Standards of the State and the laws of this Commonwealth and to ensure the accuracy of these tests they shall be compared with the standard tests to be purchased by the Secretary of Internal Affairs and when so compared and their correctness established they shall be so stamped or marked in such manner as may be established by the rules and regulations hereinbefore referred to to be put in force by said Secretary of Internal Alairs and approved by the Governor of the Commonwealth

The inspector shall take charge of and safely keep the standard Where not otherwise provided by law the inspectors shall have the power within their respective jurisdictions to inspect test try and ascertain if they are correct all weights scales beams measures of every kind instruments or mechanical devices for measurment and the tools appliances or accessories connected with any or all such instruments or measurments used or employed within the city by any proprietor agent lessee or employe in determining the size quantity extent area or measurement of quantity things produce articles for distribution or consumption offered or submitted by any person or persons for sale for hire or award He may for the purpose above mentioned and in the general performance of his duty enter or go into or upon and without formal warrant any stand place building or premises or may stop any vendor peddler junk-dealer coal wagon ice-wagon or any dealer whatsoever for the purposes of making proper tests Whenever the sealer finds a violation of the statute relating to weights and measures he may seize without warrant such weights measures or balances as may be necessary to be used as evidence in case of violation of the law relative to the sealing of weights and measures and they shall be held until otherwise directed by the court" is amended to read as follows

Section 2 That all county and city inspectors so appointed shall be supplied at the expense of their respective counties and cities with standard tests of weights and measures in conformity with those established by the Government of the United States or the Bureau of Standards of the State and the laws of this Commonwealth and to ensure the accuracy of these tests they shall be compared with the standard tests to be purchased by the Secretary of Internal Affairs and when so compared and their correctness established they shall be so stamped or marked in such manner as may be established by the rules and regulations hereinbore referred to be put in force by said Secretary of Internal Affairs and approved by the Governor of the Commonwealth

Each inspector shall report in writing at least once every month to the Chief of the State Bureau of Standards upon blanks furnished by the Chief Such report shall contain (1) The number of tests made since the last preceding report (2) The number of weights measures and balances found by such tests to be correct (3) The number of weights measures and balances found by such tests to be false (4) The number of prosecutions instituted by such inspector since the last preceding report together with the name of the accused the title of the court where prosecution was instituted and the result of such prosecution (5) Such other matters as the Chief may from time to time prescribe.

The inspectors shall take charge of and safely keep the proper standards They shall be furnished by the Chief of the Bureau of Standards of this Commonwealth with full specifications of tolerances and allowances to be used by them in the performance of their duties Each inspector shall have power within his respective jurisdiction to test all instruments and devices used in weighing or measuring anything sold or to be sold and seal the same if found to be correct Such test shall include all appliances connected or used with such intsruments or devices For the purpose of making such test each inspector at any reasonable time and without formal warrant may enter upon any premises and may on any public highway stop any vendor or dealer or the agent or servant of such vendor or dealer or stop any vehicle used in delivering any commodity which is weighed or measured as delivered He may condemn and mark as condemned or may seize any false or illegal instrument or device used or intended to be used in weighing or measuring If he shall seize any such instrument or device he shall retain possession thereof until it shall have been used as evidence in any prosecution under the laws of this Commonwealth relating to weights and measures or to the sale of commodities After the determination of such prosecution the false or illegal instrument or device shall be destroyed unless otherwise directed by the proper court

"Section 3 Whoever himself or by his servant or agent or as the servant or agent of another person is guilty of giving false or insufficient weight or measure shall for the first offense be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars for a second offense by a fine of two hundred dollars and for a subsequent offense by a fine of one hundred dollars and by imprisonment for not less than thirty nor more than ninety days at the discretion of the court

It shall be unlawful for any inspector to use any tests on standards or to attempt to use the same in ascertaining the correctness or accuracy of weights and measures until such comparisons are made and their accuracy established and so stamped or marked and any inspector violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon a conviction therefor shall be fined not exceeding one thousand ($1,000) dollars or undergo imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year or both or either at the discretion of the court" is amended to read as follows

Section 3 Each person who shall directly or indirectly or by his servant or agent or as the servant or agent of another violate any of the provisions of this act or give or offer to give any false weight or measure or use any weighing device after it shall have been condemned and before it shall have been adjusted and sealed or obstruct or attempt to obstruct any inspector in the performance of his duty shall be guilty of a misdemeanor Upon conviction thereof such person shall for the first offense be sentenced to pay a fine not to exceed twenty-five dollars for the second offense shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding fifty dollars and for each subsequent offense such person shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or to undergo an imprisonment in the proper county jail for not more than thirty days or both in the discretion of the court In default of the payment of any fine as aforesaid the person convicted shall be sentenced to serve one day in jail of the proper county for each dollar of the fine and costs

It shall be unlawful for any inspector to use any tests or standards or to attempt to use the same in ascertaining the correctness or accuracy of weights and measures until such comparisons are made and their accuracy established and so stamped or marked and any inspector violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be fined not exceeding one thousand ($1,000) dollars or undergo imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year or both or either at the discretion of the court

Section 4 All acts or parts of acts general local or special inconsistent with any of the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker. I don't wish to find fault with any one but three of the gentlemen sitting here seem to have trouble with their files. Some House Bills seem to be laid in the Senate files and some of the Senate Bills seem to be in the House files, and I simply desire to call the attention of the House officials to this, so that the persons having charge of these matters will try to be a little more careful.

The SPEAKER. The Sergeant-at-Arms will take notice of the statement of the gentleman.

BILL WITHDRAWN.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. North, asks the consent of the House to withdraw House Bill No. 161, which was erroneously reported from the Committee on Appropriations this morning. The Chair hears no objection and it is so ordered.

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

The SPEAKER. On Senate Bill No. 583, entitled:

An Act providing for an examination of the Pennsylvania Oral School for the Deaf at Scranton Lackawanna County Pennsylvania providing for the transfer under certain conditions of the said Oral School for the Deaf to the Commonwealth regulating said school in the event of such transfer and making an appropriation to carry out the purposes of this act the Chair appoints as a Committee of Conference, Messrs. Roney, Lorenzo Smith and Forster.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and at 2.10 P. M. the House adjourned until next Monday evening at eight o'clock.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Legislative Journal.

VOL. 2. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MAY 19, 1913. No. 68.

SENATE.

MONDAY, MAY 19, 1913.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John M. Reynolds) in the Chair.

The Chaplain of the House of Representatives, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

PRAYER.

O, Lord, as Thy servants are assembled for the work of this legislative week we pray that Thou wouldst meet with them, and give them Thy blessing. Thou hast at Thy disposal all that we need, and we humbly and reverently bow before Thee soliciting Thy favor. Thou art the God of power, from Whom comes to us all energy and strength; Thou art the God of wisdom from Whom comes to us all enlightenment and guidance; Thou art the God of justice purity and truth from Whom comes to us all high ideals, all lofty aspirations, all noble resolutions. May we put ourselves in communication with Thee and receive of Thy fulness. May we be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. May we have that wisdom which cometh from above, which is first pure, then peaceable; may we respond to that scripture of whatsoever things are true, honest, just and lovely and of good report, if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think upon these things. Wilt Thou bless Thy servant who presides over the Senate and all whose duty it is to consider the measures submitted to them, and to frame them into laws, and all who contribute in any way to the order and the well being of this body. May all be earnest and good men, loving righteousness, seeking after truth. We ask it with all else needful for us in the name and for the sake of Christ Jesus our Lord. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Juornal of the preceding session.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RECOMMENDING TO CONGRESS THE SPEEDY PASSAGE OF BILLS RELATING TO THE SYSTEM OF RETIREMENT OR SUPERANNUATION OF FEDERAL EMPLOYES.

Mr. DAIX offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 19, 1913.

Whereas. In order to promote and maintain economy and efficiency in the United States Classified Civil Service it seems imperative that a system of retirement or superannuation should prevail; and

Whereas, There have been introduced in the House of Representatives and in the Senate of the United States respectively, bills to create such retirement or superannuation; and

Whereas, The bills introduced in the House of Representatives in Congress, respectively known as H. R. 9242 and Senate 7887, would bring about such enactment of law on a just basis; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby recommends to the Congress of the United States the speedy passage of the above mentiond bills, and urges the Senators and the members of the House of Representatives in Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to give their earnest support to the said bills; and be it further

Resolved That the Secretary of the Commonwealth is hereby instructed to forward, immediately after the adoption of this resolution, a copy of same to the President of the Senate of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives in Congress and to each Senator and Representative in Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 be suspended in order that the resolution just read may be considered at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RELATING TO THE ACQUISITION OF ADDITIONAL LAND FOR THE UNITED STATES ARSENAL AT FRANKFORT.

Mr. NULTY presented the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

In the Senate, May 19, 1913.

Whereas, The United States Arsenal at Frankford, in Philadelphia, occupies a territory much too limited for its experimental work and for the proper location of its magazines for storing ammunition and explosives, and

Whereas, There is immediately adjacent to the Frankford Arsenal an undeveloped tract of land of about twenty acres which is suitable in every way for experimental work and for the storing of ammunition and explosives under safe condtions; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the attention of the Senators and Representatives in Congress from Pennsylvania is hereby invited to the need for the condemnation and purchase of this land, and said Senators and Representatives are hereby respectfully urged to secure the necessary legislation for the procurement of the said tract of land for the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be directed to send to each Senator and Representative in the Congress of the United States from Pennsylvania a certified copy of this resolution.

Mr. NULTY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 be suspended in order that the resolution just read may be considered at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I think, if my memory serves me correctly, the proper way to secure that land by the United States Government would be to have it condemned by the City councils and deeded over to the government. That has been the course in securing a piece of land which they bought on Washington Avenue for the purpose of extending the commissary department, and before this resolution is passed I would like to have some information whether that is the proper course to pursue, if the Senator has no objections.

Mr. NULTY. Mr. President, at the Frankfort Arsenal recently we had a number of accidents. The buildings are in an unsafe, unsound and unsanitary condition, too close to the employes and too close to the inhabitants of the city and we feel that the Members of Congress should take this matter up. I will read for the information of the Senators the data I have on this matter, if it is the pleasure of the Senate, in support of this resolution.

Mr. McNICHOL. I do not want to burden the Senate with this resolution, as it is only for the purpose of facilitating the obtaining of this ground, if we can do it through our own channels, either in the municipality or in the Commonwealth and if he has taken the matter up in that light it will be information for the Senators.

Mr. NULTY. Mr. President, I think it is a question for the National Government to take up. It is a question that belongs to the Federal Government.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 54, as follows:

An Act declaring the liability of railroad companies for loss or damage by fire providing a remedy therefor and relating to evidence thereof

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any railroad company operating a railroad or any portion of a railroad wholly or partially within the State of Pennsylvania shall be liable for all loss or damage by fire originating upon the land or right of way belonging to such railroad company caused by operating such railroad Such railroad company shall be further liable for all loss or damage by fire originating on land adjacent to such land or right of way of said railroad company caused in whole or in part by sparks from an engine passing over the tracks of such railroad to be recovered in an action of trespass in the county wherein the lands on which such loss or damage may occur are situated

Section 2 The existence of fire upon the land or right of way of any railroad company as described in the first section of this act shall be prima facie evidence that such fire was caused by operating such railroad

Section 3 In all actions against any railroad company for the recovery of damages on account of injury to any property real or personal occasioned by fire communicated by any locomotive engine while upon or passing along any railroad the fact that such fire was so communicated shall be taken and deemd as prima faecie evidence to charge with negligence the railroad company which shall at such time have the care and management of such engine and it shall not in any sense be considered as contributory negligence on the part of the owner or occupant of the property injured that such owner or occupant had used the same in the manner or permitted the same to be used or to remain as if said railroad did not exist except in cases of injury to personal property which shall be at the time upon the land or right of way of said railroad company

Section 4 Every company engaged in the maintenance and operation of a railway and who operates said railway by locomotive power may have an insurable interest in any property for which it maey be held responsible under the provisions of this act But such insurable interest shall only apply where the said railway shall have upon its own account procured insurance thereon in its own behalf without cost or expense to the owner of said property

And said bill having been read at length the third time. and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, and Gentlemen of the Senate, This bill before you is no stranger in the State Legislature. It was introduced in the session of 1907 and was also introduced two years ago in the session of 1911. Forty Senators in this Senate at that time voted for the bill and none against it, but when it went over to the House for concurrence it was defeated in the House. There are a majority in this session at the present time who supported this bill two years ago. This bill is a bill which we actually should have had in this State years ago Ohio and Pennsylvania are very much interested in this question of securing protection to our forests along the basin of the Ohio. the Allegheny and the Mononghela. In 1894 Ohio passed an act, an exact duplicate of this act, so they have had this kind of an act for the last nineteen years. The people are very much in favor of an act of this kind and have been trying to get it through the Pennsylvania Legislature, yet through the railroads fighting it, is has been utterly impossible up to the present time to get an act passed in the State Legislature. Now, this act as I said before, is almost an exact duplicate of the Ohio State Act. It shifts the burden of proving where the fire starts upon the right of way upon the railroad company, that is, prima facie evidence that the sparks from that locomotive started that fire. Two years ago I was driving between Smithport and Farmers' Valley, a distance of four miles on a highway and in that distance the Pennsylvania Railroad runs parallel to the highway. It was a very dry day. The forests and everything were dry and the leaves, one of the most dangerous kinds of days for forest fires. I saw a locomotive passing by on the Pennsylvania Railroad throwing sparks in all directions, with just as much indifference as if there were two feet of snow on the ground, paying no attention of the great danger of setting the forest on fire. When I got two or three miles further I saw a fire going across up on a side hill and went upon a piece of property of a man by the name of Larson. He had cut some timber with the intention of paying a mortgage upon his place, but he lost his property. He was able to prove that that fire originated upon the right of way of that railroad but, Mr. President, here is the unfair part of the law as it is to-day, the burden of proof is upon the man who loses his property and all that Mr. Larson was able to prove was that fire originated on the right of way of the railroad, yet as the law is to-day, the railroad said to Mr. Larson "While we admit that the fire started upon our right of way, we leave it to you, you have got to prove that it was a spark from the locomotive that started that fire upon our right of way." Now, gentlemen, you remember that Mr. Larson has nothing to do with that railroad going through his property. The law allows the railroad to condemn the property to put that railroad through that land. He was not responsible for the carelessness of the railroad in throwing sparks in all directions on this dry day, yet as the law is to-day it says that Mr. Larson has the burden of proof he would spend more money than he got out of witness to that fire that day and he had no witnesses to it and even if he had before he got through showing this burden of proof he would spend more money than ge got out of it. This is the unfair part of the law as it is at the present time. Now, Gentlemen, remember that this is not fair, just consider, the total loss, and wonder how long the Pennsylvania State Legislature is going to allow conditions of that kind to exist. And that is not the greatest thing about our forest fire to-day, about the losses. There is a greater loss and that is the loss of our great forests. It means a great thing along the Mononghela and Allegheny rivers, a great deal as a watershed to protect Pittsburgh and that Valley from the great floods. There were over 18,000 square miles of virgin timber before man put his axe to it along the Mononghela river and in that time there wasn't any danger of a flood around Pittsburgh like we have to-day. The Pittsburgh Flood Commission has shown in their report that from 1806 to 1872 when they had those great virgin stretches of forests there were only twenty-five floods above the danger mark in Pittsburgh, that same Commission shows that between 1872 and 1910, twenty-eight years, against sixty-six years that they had fifty-three floods. Now, Mr. President, we can understand how that is when we come to consider the great virgin timber there between 1806 and 1872 and the lesser amount between 1872 and 1910 when man's axe has destroyed so many of the forests and the forest fires have done so much toward it also. Now that same report shows that we have had more virgin forest destroyed by fire than is virgin timber left to-day. That same Flood Commission shows that we have 7700 square miles, forty per cent. of the original virgin timber lands on which we have a re-growth trying to take the place of the virgin timber, and if we can keep it going it will not be long before they will take the place of the virgin timber so far as stopping the floods are concerned. It seems to me we ought to have the act on that account if nothing more. If we have this act we will not have the floods that we have around Pittsburgh as they have had in the past. Ohio, as I said before has passed this same kind of an act, and has done all it could along legislative lines, but they cannot do it all without the help in Pennsylvania. The headquarters of the Ohio river are in Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania should be interested in the forests of her State on this account, because Pennsylvania has thirty-nine and one-half miles of the Ohio River, Pennsylvania has ninety-two miles of the Monongahela River, Pennsylvania has two hundred and sixty-four miles of the Allegheny River and Pennsylvania has the biggest part of the 7700 square miles, forty per cent. of the original virgin timber, a re-growth that is trying to take the place by nature of the virgin timber and which would in case we could keep the forest fires out. William L. Hall, who belongs to the forestry service, made a report after looking over the situation that the proper thing to stop the floods around Pittsburgh was to allow that timber to come up again upon the watershed and the Engineering Committee sent out by that Pittsburgh Flood Commission made the same report.

Gifford Pinchot in a political speech a few years ago mentioned Senator Alexander's forest fire bill. The Williams bill is on the Calendar now. He said next to taxation the forest fire is doing more to destroy our forests than anything else. But while I am a great believer in the Alexander bills I do not believe they will do much good if you do not give them some protection from forest fires. The object of this act is not to make the railroad company pay a great deal of damages; the object is to have it act as a lever to try to get them to give us the proper protection, so that we can stop these great forest fires. They are guilty nine times out of ten, ninety per cent. of the forest fires are started on the rights of way of railroads. Mr. President, I hope every man will vote for this bill, and try to save our forests of Pennsylvania. I believe it is a good act. It is an act in fourteen states. In fourteen states thay have almost this same act shifting the burden of proof and the bill is almost an exact duplicate of the Ohio State law, as I said before. It is a bill that we need very much in this State, much more than we ever did before. Legislation of this kind possibly was not needed as much thirty years ago as it is to-day. In 1880 we only worked one thousand two hundred and seventy-five miles of railroad in the Monongahela and Allegheny Valley basins, but to-day we have four thousand three hundred and forty miles, over three thousand more miles than we had thirty years ago. Now we need protection to-day that we didn't need at that time, and I hope the Senate will pass this bill and send it over to the House for concurrence.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I dislike very much to appear in opposition to a bill which seems upon its face to have as much merit as the bill before the Senate. I have no doubt a condition exists in some sections of the State that ought to have some remedy, but it does not seem to me that it is fair to impose upon any of the interests of this State legislation that will work as much injustice and create as unsatisfactory conditions as the legislation itself is hoped to remedy. Now the trouble with this legislation is, that it reverses the rules of evidence. It imposes upon a railroad company of the State liability for all loss occurring from fire, whether the railroad companies are responsible for the fire or not. If a fire is shown upon the right of way of a railroad company it is prima facie evidence that the fire was started from the sparks of its engine, without any regard as to whether that was the way it was started or not. It imposes that burden upon the railroad companies without any means whatever of contradicting it. In other words, if a fire is started by tramps or other pedestrians along the right of way of a railroad company, and the fire is found upon the right of way it is prima facie evidence that the company is responsible for the fire. Now, as unsatisfactory as present conditions are this bill can certainly not be defended for the reason that the legislation is bound to work as much injustice and open up just as many avenues of fraud as the trouble that it hopes to cure. If some other way could be found to protect the people whose property is destroyed I would be glad to vote for it, but so long as the legislation is in the form it is, that it reverses the rule of evidence and imposes upon the defendant in the suit the burden rather than upon the plaintiff where it rests in every other civil case, I will be obliged to vote against the bill and I do not think the legislation ought to prevail. I might add that it opens up a great opportunity for fraud. A person may start a fire for the very purpose of collecting damages from the railroad company and under the circumstances, the condition that the bill is in at the present time, there would be no defense to the action and no opportunity to dispute the claim.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, in answer to the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Crow, I wish to state, that the burden of proof is now upon the innocent party who loses his property and not upon the railroad company, which nine times out of ten causes the fire. They should be held responsible for their carelessness in throwing sparks in all directions which they could just as well avoid through the dry season. They have no more regard for dry seasons then they have in the winter with two feet of snow on the ground. Now as long as they are careless the burden of proof should not be upon the innocent party who loses his property. We should put the burden of proof upon the railroad company, which is responsible nine times out of ten. I say that the burden of proof ought to be shifted. I think that they would have more protection. A man that has only two thousand dollars and he loses the two thousand dollars of property by a railroad company throwing sparks from an engine and he must prove that the railroad company caused the fire, it will cost him more than two thousand dollars before he gets that damages. He is at the mercy of the railroad and they know it and for that reason they will not give him the property. If this bill becomes a law it will act as a lever and we will get protection and we will have very few forest fires as far as the railroads are concerned. It is not an experiment. It is in effect in fourteen states of the Union today. Ohio has had it for nineteen years. I have stood in the Committee where the railroad attorneys have been there protesting against this act and I have not heard them show a case of injustice in any of the fourteen states. If it did work an injustice and was the bad bill that Senator Crow spoke about they would show it, but that was not brought up because it does not work that way.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1153 as follows:

An Act authorizing and regulating the survey appraisal and patenting of lands in beds of navigable rivers or streams permitted by the Government of the United States to be abandoned and filled as no longer of use for ordinary purposes of navigation

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever to promote sanitation prevent floods improve navigation or for other purposes the Government of the United States by its proper officers or by act of Congress shall authorize the widening straightening or improvement of the main channel of any navigable river or stream under agreement with the owners of any land to be taken for any of the purposes aforesaid and shall permit the abandonment and filling up of other parts of such river or stream which may thereby be no longer useful for the ordinary purposes of navigation the Secretary of Internal Affairs is hereby authorized on behalf of the Commonwealth to survey appraise and patent so much of the bed of such river or stream below low water mark as shall be no longer useful for the ordinary purposes of navigation and shall be so abandoned

Section 2 Any such land shall thereafter upon application be surveyed appraised and patented in the same manner as other vacant or unappropriated land may now by law be surveyed appraised and patented and preference in granting any such patent shall be given to applications of owners of the land abutting the portion of the bed of such river or stream as shall be subject to patent and due allowance shall be made in fixing the price thereof for the value of the land taken from or voluntarily surrendered by the owners for the purpose of widening straightening or improving the main channel of such river or stream as aforesaid

Section 3. In patenting land to abutting land owners as provided in section two of this act the patent or patents may issue in accordance with any agreement entered into by all such land owners providing for an allotment of the land abandoned and subject to patent

Section 4. The evidence that any part of such river or stream has ceased to be useful for the ordinary purposes of navigation and is the subject of warrant survey and patent shall be a certified copy of any act of Congress which may be passed in relation thereto and a copy of any agreement entered into between the United States of America and such owners of the land accompanied by proper plans showing the land to be taken the river or stream as widened straightened or improved and the portion of such river or stream which is to be abandoned which copy of such agreement and which plans shall be certified under the hand and seal of the Secretary of War and filed in the office of the Secretary of Internal Affairs of this Commonwealth

Section 5 The applicant for any patent shall file with the Secretary of Internatl Affairs the application together with an affidavit setting forth the ownership legal or equitable of the land or lands abutting the portion of the river or stream which has ceased to be useful for the ordinary purposes of navigation and is to be abandoned showing as far as possible the legal or equitable title to low water together with a short abstract of such title from the Commonwealth Such affidavit shall also set forth that the applicant has served upon the owners of land or lands abutting the portion of the stream which is to be thus abandoned a notice that this application is to be made at a time certain not less than ten days from the service of such notice a copy of which notice shall be attached to such affidavit If the application is made by a corporation it may be made and the affidavit taken by any principal officer thereof duly authorized thereto After hearing of any application the proper officers of the Land Department of the Commonwealth are authorized and empowered to issue a patent including the land underlying the part of the river so to be abandoned to the owner or owners of the land abutting the part of such river so to be abandoned or to the vendees or assignees of such owner or owners as their interest may be whether such owners vendees or assignees are applicants or not if they appear and show proper cause why such patent should be issued to them but if such owners vendees or assignees do not file an application or do not appear and claim that such patent should be granted to them then such patent shall be issued to any other applicant who may be entitled to the same under the provisions of this statute and the laws of this Commonwealth

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts general local or special in so far as they are inconsistent with this act are repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, this bill has a very familiar title and I don't think the Senate ought to pass it. It is designed to give title to those who apply at the patent office without giving proper compensation. Of course the object is to patent the coal lands under the rivers of the State, principally the western part of Pennsylvania. This bill has been hanging around the Legislature, or one similar to it, for a good many years and the Commonwealth under this bill, would not get proper compensation for the title for the lands. It is doubtlessly drawn in the interest of the abutting land owners, but until put in better shape I do not think it ought to pass.

Section 10 The said court hereby created shall have jurisdiction in all civil actions at law and in equity where the value of the matter or thing in controversy exclusive of interest and costs does not exceed the sum of six hundred dollars ($600.00) except that in actions for damages for personal injuries it shall have jurisdiction where the sum demanded by the plaintiff does not exceed one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500.00) The amount claimed by the plaintiff where the said claim is for a sum certain shall be conclusive as to the jurisdiction of the court in all actions brought for the recovery of money and in actions at law or in equity not involving any sum certain the plaintiff shall file with his statement a certificate as to the amount of the thing or matter in controversy The said court shall also have jurisdiction in any civil cases transferred to it by order of a majority of the judges of any court of common pleas of Philadelphia county

Section 11 The said court hereby created shall have jurisdiction in all criminal actions and suits for penalties except that it shall not have jurisdiction in the trial of indictments for arson burglary forgery kidnapping murder voluntary manslaughter perjury rape robbery treason or misprison of treason or for violation or conspiracy to violate the election or registration laws of this Commonwealth or for criminal libel or for embezzlement by any public officer or any offence involving breach of official duties by any public officer

The jurisdiction of the said municipal court shall be exclusive

(a) In all proceedings brought against any husband or father wherein it is charged that he has without reasonable cause separated himself from his wife or children or from both or has neglected to maintain his wife or children and in all proceedings where any child of full age has neglected or shall neglect to maintain his or her parents not able to work or of sufficient ability to maintain themselves and in all proceedings for the custody of children

(b) In all proceedings concerning dependent delinquent or neglected children as defined by existing laws relating thereto which are hereby made applicable to proceedings in the municipal court

The judges of the said municipal court shall be ex-officio justices of the peace When defendants are bound over for trial in any case indictments may be presented against them before the grand jury in accordance with existing laws which indictments may be tried either in existing courts or in the municipal court as the case may be

Provided however That if it shall be decided by the courts that provisions herein for exclusive jurisdiction in the municipal court or for abolishing preliminary hearings in certain cases are unconstitutional the intent of the Legislature is hereby expressed that said provisions only shall be void and that all othe provisions of this act shall be valid and enforceable

Section 12 All civil actions in said municipal court shall be begun by filing a statement of the plaintiff's claim without the issuance of any formal writ The said statement shall consist of a concise recital of the facts which the plaitiff claims give rise to his cause of action divided into paragraphs consecutively numbered only one avernment of fact so far as possible being included in one paragraph Where any contracts or other writings are material to the validity of the plaintiff's claim he must annex copies of the same in accordance with the practice now obtaining in the courts of common pleas This statement may be filed by the plaintiff or his counsel or may be orally stated to a clerk of the court whose duty it shall be to reduce the same to writing All statements shall be verified by the affidavit of the plaintiff or his duly authorized agent and shall be signed by the plaintiff or his counsel

The said clerk shall thereupon issue a summons under the seal of the court requiring defendant to appear and file an answer to the plaintiff's claim within ten days after service of the statement upon him in default of the filing of an answer within ten days the plaintiff may take judgment against the defendant as of course In order to prevent judgment as aforesaid defendant must file within ten days of the service of the summons and statement upon him as aforesaid an answer which shall consist of a series of numbered paragraphs corresponding to the paragraphs in the plaintiff's statement of his claim and shall contain an admission or denial of each fact averred Provided That if defendant alleges himself to be ignorant as to the facts averred in any paragraphs he may so state and place the plaintiff upon proof of the same as if they had been denied All facts which defendant does not deny or aver himself to be ignorant and demand proof as aforesaid shall be deemed to be admitted The answer may be filed by the defendant or his counsel or may be orally stated to a clerk of the court whose duty it shall be to reduce the same to writing All answers shall be verified by the affidavit of defendant or his duly authorized agent and shall be signed by defendant or his counsel After defendant has filed an answer the case shall be at issue without any formal pleas unless he sets up new matter in separate numbered paragraphs in addition to those answering plaintiff's avernments in which case plaintiff may within five days ansyer the same in the same manner and all new matter so averred by defendant and not denied by plaintiff or of which he does not declare himself to be ignorant and demand proof shall be deemed to be admitted The case shall then be at issue Plaintiff may move for judgment for want of a sufficient answer for all or a portion of his claim

Every statement of claim before it shall be received by the prothonotary shall contain on the back thereof an endorsement signed by plaintiff or his counsel as follows "Jury trial demanded" or "It is agreed that this case be tried by a judge without a jury" If plaintiff demands a jury trial he shall at the time of filing his statements pay to the prothonotary a jury fee of four dollars Every answer where plaintiff has not demanded a jury trial shall contain on the back thereof a similar endorsement and if defendant demands a jury trial he shall at the time of filing his answer pay to the prothonotary a jury fee of four dollars If both parties as aforesaid have filed agreements that the case may be tried by a judge without a jury it shall be so tried under such rules of procedure as the court shall prescribe

When a case is at issue it may be immediately ordered upon the trial list by either party It shall be the duty of the judges of the said court to so arrange their trial list that cases shall be tried as promptly as possible For the purpose of promptly disposing of all motions and rules in connection with its business it shall be the duty of said court to have at least one judge sitting continuously as many hours per day as he may be needed Except as modified by this act or its own rules duly adopted by a majority of the judges the practise and procedure in the Municipal Court shall be the same as the practise and procedure in the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia County

Section 13 It shall be the duty of the president judge of said court to assign sufficient judges to the trial of criminal cases so that all cases exclusively triable in the said court in which prosecutions may be begun therein or which may be brought therein for trial by the district attorney shall be tried and disposed of as soon as possible after indictment found

It shall be the duty of the district attorney of said county to prosecute all cases in which prosecutions have been begun in the municipal court or which have been returned to court by magistrates for trial and which are exclusively triable in the municipal court or which the district attorney elects to try in said court Fees and costs shall be allowed and imposed bv said court in criminal cases as fixed by law in cases arising in the courts of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace in Philadelphia county

In desertion and non-support cases and in juvenile cases there shall be no preliminary hearings but the person accused or children involved shall be immediately brought before the court for trial

Except as modified by this act or by its own rules duly adopted by a majority of the judges the practice and procedure shall be the same in the municipal court in all matters of which it has jurisdiction as in similar matters prosecuted and determined in courts of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace of the county of Philadelphia

Section 14 All parties believing themselves to be aggrieved by the decisions of the said municipal court may remove their cases by appeal or writ of error to the Supreme or Superior Court as the case may be in accordance with existing law and in accordance with the practice and procedure in perfecting appeals from existing courts in Philadelphia county

Section 15 Judgment recovered in the said municipal court shall be a lien upon the property of the defendant in the same manner and to the same extent that judgment recovered in the courts of common pleas is a lien All such judgments shall be indexed in the judgment index of the said county and it is hereby made the duty of the proper officers to index said judgments in the same manner that judgments in the courts of common pleas are now or hereafter may be indexed

Section 16 The said municipal court shall have full power to make rules regulating the practice and procedure therein and the keeping of its records and subject to the provisions of this act shall have all the powers of a court of record possessed by the courts of common pleas and of quarter sessions of the peace and oyer and terminer in the county of Philadelphia

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, May 19th, 1913.

The House met at 8.00 o'clock P. M.
The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain (Rev. J. E. Wright) offered the following prayer:

O God, we thank Thee that we are living at this period in the world's history, when life is so earnest and so interesting, and so full of animation, when the opportunities are so many, and so appealing, and the claims and calls to duty and service are so urgent and so loud. We thank Thee for the triumphs of art, and for the discoveries of science; and for the accumulations of wealth and for the abundant material prosperity everywhere manifested. But we thank Thee especially for the quickening of the moral senses of the people, for the awakening of conscience, for the knowledge of our responsibility to God and our duty to man. We rejoice that Thou hast created of one blood all nations of man who dwell upon the face of the earth, and that there is an increasing consciousness of that teaching of Thy Word. We rejoice that Thou hast given us part and place in the world's great movement toward the betterment of man. May we face our responsibilities seriously. May we give ourselves with all alacrity and earnestness to the work to which we are called. May this week upon which we are now entering be a good week in this legislative session, and may all that is planned and undertaken and accomplished approve itself to Thee, and be for the welfare of the people, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Thursday, May 15th, 1913.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Thursday, May 15th, 1913, when, on motion of Mr. Peachey, the further reading of the Journal was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. Bill No. 451, as follows:

An Act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals and birds killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing a method for the payment of the same by the several counties of the Commonwealth which in turn are to be reimbursed by the Commonwealth and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act a reward or bounty shall be paid by this Commonwealth for the killing within the Commonwealth only of the following noxious animals and birds as follows For each wildcat the sum of four dollars for each gray fox the sum of two dollars for each weasel the sum of two dollars for each hen hawk duck hawk or goshawk or pigeon hawk the sum of fifty cents for each great horned owl the sum of fifty cents and for each porcupine fifty cents

Section 2 It shall be the duty of any person who having killed one of these animals or birds within the Commonwealth and being desirous of securing the reward or bounty named in section one of this act to produce such slain animal or bird or the entire pelt of such animal before any person authorized to administer oaths in the county in which said animal or bird was killed and to make affidavit that he or some member of his family killed the same stating clearly the time of such killing and that the place at which such animal or bird was killed (naming it) was within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Upon the production of such animal or pelt or of such bird and the making of such affidavit the said official shall in the presence of the party making such affidavit and at least one elector of the county in which the claim is made cut off the ears from such animal or pelt or the head of such bird and burn the same and split the skin of the face of the animal from between the eyes through the end of the nose

Section 3 Upon the destruction of such ears or head and the splitting of the skin of the face of such animal the said official shall give to the party making such affidavit a certificate directed to the commissioners of the county in which he has jurisdiction setting forth clearly the fact that the provisions of this act have been complied with naming the kind of animal or bird killed the name of the person killing it the time it was killed and the name of the place within the Commonwealth where it was thus killed Upon the persentation of such certificate in proper form the commissioners of the county shall give an order for the amount named in such certificate to the person presenting the same drawn upon the county treasurer directing the payment of the reward or bounty as provided for in this act and the County Treasurer shall at once upon presentation of said order pay the same from the funds in his hands belonging to said county

Section 4 The county commissioners of the several counties of this Commonwealth shall keep an accurate account of all applications made to them for bounty under the provisions of this act and shall on or about the first of January and the first day of June of each year prepare and forward to the Auditor General of the Commonwealth at Harrisburg an itemized statement to be prepared upon a form supplied by the Auditor General at the cost of the Commonwealth of all the several amounts directed by them to be paid between the aforesaid dates and under the provisions of this act making affidavit thereto and accompanying the same by a sworn statement of the county treasurer setting forth the fact that the several amounts were actually paid by him in compliance with said orders and the Auditor General shall if he finds the before named return in proper form draw a warrant in favor of such county upon the State Treasurer for the amount so claimed and approved which said warrant upon presentation to the State Treasurer shall be paid out of the funds which shall hereafter accumulate in the hands of the State Treasurer from the fifty per centum of the fees paid for hunter's licenses as provided by section twelve of the Act of Assembly approved the seventeenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and thirteen entitled "An Act for the better protection of wild birds and game within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requiring citizens of the United States residing within this State to procure a license before using guns for the purpose of hunting for any wild birds or animals protected by the laws of this Commonwealth and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions and the manner of proceeding to enforce compliance therewith and providing for the disposition of the license fees and the penalties received"

Section 5 No person shall at any time be paid a bounty for the killing of any animal named in this act the skin of which has had the ears cut off or the front of the face split or any bird which has had the head cut off before presentation to the person authorized to take affidavits under the provisions of this act and no person shall at any time collect or attempt to collect a second bounty for the killing of any animal or birds under the provisions of this act or shall attempt to collect such bounty through the presentation of the skin or head of any part thereof of an animal or bird not named in this act or through deception of any character and it shall be unlawful for any person in this Commonwealth to present for the purpose of securing the bounty provided for by this act the skin or head or any part thereof of an animal or bird that has been reared in captivity or the skin or head or any part thereof of any animal or bird killed or captured outside of this Commonwealth Each and every person who shall wilfully or fraudulently collect or attempt to collect any reward or bounty provided for by this act to which he or they are not legally entitled under the provisions of this act or shall aid or abet or assist in any capacity official or otherwise in an attempt to defraud the State through the collection or payment of any reward or bounty provided for by this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall in addition to the penalty that may be imposed for perjury where a false affidavit is made be sentenced to pay to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or more than five hundred dollars or suffer an imprisonment in the common jail of the county for a period of one day in jail for each dollar of fine imposed

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 355, as follows:

An Act prohibiting any officer clerk or employee of any county containing a population of one million five hundred thousand and over from taking any active part in politics political movements or elections or from interfering with elections or from using his office to influence politics political movements or elections and providing penalties for violation thereof

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That no officer or clerk of employee of any containing a population of one million five hundred thousand and over shall be a member of or delegate or alternate to any political convention nor shall he be present at any such convention except on the performance of his official duty No such officer clerk or employee shall serve as a member of or attend the meetings of any committee of any political party or take any active part in political management or in political campaigns or use his office to influence political movements or influence the political acton of any other such officer clerk or employee No such officer clerk or employee shall in any way or manner interfere with the conduct of any election or the preparation therefor at the polling place or with the election officers while counting the vote or returning the ballot boxes books and papers to the place provided by law for that purpose save only for the purpose of making and depositing his ballot as speedily as it reasonably can be done or be within any polling place or within fifty feet thereof except for purposes of ordinary travel or residence during the period of time beginning with one hour preceding the opening of the polls for holding such election and ending with the time when the election officers shall have finished counting the votes and have left the polling place for the purpose of depositing the ballot boxes and papers in the place provided by law for that purpose excepting only police officers of the particular county who may temporarily approach or enter the polling place in order to make any arrest permitted by law or for the purpose of preserving order and in each such case only long enough to accomplish the duties aforesaid after which the said officers shall at once withdraw

Section 2 Any such officer clerk or employee who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than one hundred dollars and either before or after conviction shall be immediately dismissed by the officer vested by law with the authority to dismiss such officer clerk or employee

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill is but a second edition of the reform legislation that was offered, and successfully enacted into law, by the gentleman from Philadelphia, whose name is perpetuated to fame by the Shern Law. That Act prevents the empolyees under the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia from engaging in politics under penalty of his position. This second edition enlarges the scope of the law to include all county officers of that city.

That the Shern Law is meritorious legislation is self-evident. It is meritorious to the public, to the officer-holder, and likewise to the political organization dominating in the City of Philadelphia. Without the Shern Law and its companion law, the Civil Service Law, that party would be crushed by those allied to the administration. We hear many say, however, that while the Shern Law does well to keep out of politics the adverse city employee, to have it include the county officers would be suicidal to the Republican party. This is a short-sighted view. It means the perpetuation of leaders and leaders only, and it means the perpetuation of those leaders so long as the county officers are under the control of the Republican party. But our legislation should not be for the perpetuation of leaders, it should be for the perpetuation of the people's will as expressed in the principles of our party. The elimination of the party worker in public offices by gradual steps, such as this bill, covering as it does but the county officers of one county, is in the right direction. It removes the party worker for office only, and establishes in his place the division, ward, and party leader because of inherent dominating power.

The arriving at such a condition of party righteousness cannot be brought about either in a day or without overcoming the protest of many. The active political party worker is essential to the preservation of party and of government, but that party worker should be actuated not by selfish motives of personal gain, but in the most by party principle. This will be true republican form of government.

Many scoff at ever arriving at such a utopian condition, but we must stop and consider that the world is becoming better day by day, year by year, century by century. The business man, the professional man, the manufacturer, the producer, are to-day at a higher standard, a higher honest, a higher efficiency, than of the past. This applies likewise to political parties. The parties themselves are higher in their aim, cleaner in their means. The political worker and leader of to-day is of a higher calibre and of higher principles than of other days. The murderous thug, the barroom politician only exist to-day in a few localities. The bribe-taking councilman, the corrupt legislator, belong to a disappearing specie, and exposure means ostracism. The boodling corporation, with its corrupting agent, is unheard of to-day in governmental places. This was not so in years of no great extent in the past. And so we are cleaning political methods. This Legislature is doing much in that direction, and this bill is a step in the proper direction. It is one of the links of the great chain of party purity. Even though this bill does not become a law at the present session, it will finally prevail, and the political worker who looks alone to patronage for his compensation, will in the future pass, and the patriotic leader, whether it be of a great nation, a Commonwealth, a city, or even a small voting precent, will take his place.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman, is this bill not part of a plot to put a lot of people out of office that have been efficient office-holders for the last eighteen months? Is not one of the directors of the Blankenburg administration of Philadelphia about to discharge more than a hundred officers for offenses supposed to have been committed in 1911?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman asks several questions at once; if he will ask me one thing at a time, I will try to answer him.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman whether Mr. Cook, the Director of Public Safety in Philadelphia, is not attempting to discharge over a hundred officers who have been very efficient during the last eighteen months.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am not in touch with Mr. Cook.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, my first question is this: Whether or not this bill will not put men out of office?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, my answer is: It only won't put men out of office who are efficient men and it will not only keep efficient men in office, but will prevent those who have political power who desire to dislodge them from exercising that power in an attempt to dislodge them.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman and I want to ask him, if Mr. Cook did not take several hundred out of your own district —Director Cook?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer for Mr. Cook, nor would I want to answer for Mr. Cook.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, he does not appear to understand his own district and does not seem to know whether or not several hundred of those very efficient men who have been in the employ of the city have been put out or what the Director of Public Works is doing to-day. He does not seem to know that a number have had a trial for their political activities in 1911 and prior to 1911.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in answer I will say that Mr. Wiltbank can answer that better, because I believe, at that time, he belonged to the Keystone party.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, that was another time; I am speaking of the present time. Things have changed. I believe that this is the most drastic measure that ever was presented to this House. Why do they not want to make it State-wide? Why if it is good for the County of Philadelphia, is it not good for the other sixty-seven counties of this State? They have gone to work and taken out all the other counties except the County of Philadelphia.

Mr WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Wiltbank, apears to misunderstand the purpose of this bill. It does not apply to the City of Philadelphia at all. It applies to the County of Philadelphia.

Mr WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I say if this is to be cut out—I say that if the other sixty-seven counties are to be cut out and Philadelphia is to be taken over and no other county and all the other counties of the State that that is not fair.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, the point of it is this: The purpose is that we have such a measure in Philadelphia and I feel convinced that there is not ten per cent. of the population in Philadelphia that would consider for a moment the question of repealing that measure. We find that in Philadelphia, where we keep our office-holders out of politics, we have cleaner elections. I personally, believe that it is not right or fair for any party that is in control of the public treasury to make use of it by selecting or employing men in party politics who shall be paid out of the public treasury; that party workers should be paid from the treasury of that party. I believe that men could be employed for public purposes and that they should be expected to do the work in the position for which they are employed only. I don't think that any administration or any elective official should have the right to drive his employes into politics in order to advance his own political ends. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott, remarked about the fact that this was in line with the trend of the times. I quite agree with him in addition to the law which we have in Philadelphia to-day, they have a rule and have had for thirty years in our city that men in the Government service or in the Federal service cannot engage in political activity.

I believe there is not a man in the House who is familiar with the old conditions such as we had in Philadelphia when the Postoffice officials were in politics, the Custom House employes were in politics, that would ever go back to that old situation. In 1906 or 1907, as I recall it, President Roosevelt issued an edict, which took the employes of the Custom House, I know, at least, out of politics, and the employes of the Postoffice, I believe, were out of politics for some time prior to that. I believe that no man who has the interests of the country at heart, no man who has the interests of the city, or his own county at heart, can object to the character of this bill.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, it may be well for the members of this House to understand the origin of the bill which bears my name. In 1905, those of you who are old enough as members of this House and those who knew the political conditions of this State, remember that there was a great upheaval, in the city of Philadelphia, the police officers and employes were responsible politically to a man who had been elected by the regular Republican organization, first as District Attorney and without any political ability of his own selected by the leader of the town to be its mayor, and after occupying the office of mayor of Philadelphia for two years he led an alleged reform battle. Office holders and the police were injected into that fight in such a manner as to cause the people of Philadelphia to rise in their might and request the Governor of the State, Governor Pennypacker, to call an extra session of this Legislature, so that legislation should be passed in an extra session enabling Philadelphia to be permanently rid of these obnoxious conditions. The political activity of police and office holders, and that was the outgrowth, as well, of the uniform primary, personal registration and civil service, which brougth back into power the Republican party, and elected that honest, sterling citizen, Edwin S. Stuart, Governor of Pennsylvania. All of this was accomplished by the Republican party of Pennsylvania and by the regular Republican organization of Philadelphia and not by any reform party that I was connected with, because I have never been connected with any party except the Republican party. And there is where my friend, Mr. Scott, and myself expect to live and expect to die, in the harness of the grand old party. The condition was such after that wonderful reform fight, that this bill was introduced, which bears my name, to eliminate office holders from active participation in political movements and political organizations. Up until that time, gentlemen of the House, any individual who could control and nominate a mayor and elect him in Philadelphia could send to this House forty-one members from Philadelphia to do his bidding. That was the condition that existed under the Bullitt bill up until 1906. It has been said that legislation could not be passed for the balance of this State to take in the county, because the Governor's call only applied to city legislation, and therefore we were restricted to amending the Bullitt bill, and in the amending of the Bullitt bill was the outgrowth of this politcai activity bill. Now, the bill introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Young, proposes to extend the provisions of that act to county officers, and I feel that this great Republican party in Philadelphia and the great Republican organization of the State will support this measure, so as to effectually remove from politics the patronage which my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Scott, so seriously complains of.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I am simply going to explain why I will vote on this bill. It says that no officer, Clerk or employee of any county containing a population of one million, et cetera, shall be a member, or delegate or alternate to any political convention, nor shall he be present at any such convention except in the performance of his official duties. In other words, any person under this bill who holds a political position in Philadelphia, is prohibited from taking part in politics. Now, so far as any law is concerned that would prohibit and prevent a man holding a high political position from exercising an influence over subordinates, I stand just as strong for that proposition as any member in this House, but I hold that any person, because he happens to hold a political position, should not be compelled to surrender voice and his part in the public affairs of his city and of his county. I believe that if I hold a public office, I should still have the right to exercise all the influence and all the power that I choose in public affairs. I do not think any law on the statute books that prohibits a person, because he happens to hold a public office, from taking part in public affairs, is good legislation. So far as the heads using their powers to intimidate those who may serve them, I will go as far as any member in this House in passing it, but it is that feature of the bill that I do not like, and it is for that reason I won't support it.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware misunderstands the construction which has been placed upon this bill, or a similar bill, the act of 1906, by the Supreme Court. It does not deprive any man holding political office from exercising his right of franchise. What the provisions of this bill does is to prevent them from being perniciously active. It says to those office holders or clerks employed by the city, "You shall not be perniciously active in politics; you shall not neglect your duties as officials of the city of Philadelphia so as to go from house to house to solicit votes or use your voice for the purpose of securing others to vote as you would like them to." And if a person employed by a corporation or individual neglects his position or neglects his duties for the sake of being personally active he would be dismissed by his employer. All that the City of Philadelphia says, under the provisions of this bill, to its employes it. "We do not deprive you of the right of franchise, but we do not want you to be politically and perniciously active."

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, if the members will read this bill, they will find that my understanding is exactly correct, that if you hold a position in the city of Philadelphia after the passage of this bill and you assume any political activity, you are punished for it. In other words, you lose your position.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, not being in that class that has any office holders to protect, and not expecting any appointment, I think it would be well to join the eminent gentleman who has spoken tonight upon this measure and call his attention to its beneficial effects. The purpose of this bill, as I understand, is to extend to the county officers a provision that already applies to the city officers, and following the example of some of my friends who have preceded me, I want the House to understand that in order to protect the appointments that they already have, I am going to vote "aye" on this bill.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 904, as follows:

An Act fixing the pay of assessors in the several counties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the pay of assessors in each township of the second class of this Commonwealth shall be three dollars and fifty cents ($3.50) per day for each day actually spent in the performance of their duties

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. KERN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill was agreed to on third reading, be reconsidered.

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KERN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Title—line 1, Strike out the word "counties" and insert the words "townships of the second class."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to .

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE AND SENATE AMENDMENTS CONCURRED IN.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved by Mr. Roney, seconded by Mr. Conrade, that the vote by which the Senate amendments to House Bill No. 580, file folio 8375, entitled:

An Amendment to an act entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the better government of cities of the first class in this Commonwealth' approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five creating a department of wharves docks and ferries (for the improvement regulation and supervision of the construction extension alteration maintenance and use of wharves piers bulkheads docks slips basins ferries harbors and harbor structures in cities of the first class and providing for the making and enforcement of rules and regulations and fixing certain penalties for violation thereof and providing for the acquisition of property by said cities by purchase and by condemnation for certain purposes) approved the eighth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven as amended by an act entitled "An Act to amend the fifteenth section of an act approved the eighth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled 'A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the better government of cities of the first class in this Commonwealth' approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five creating a department of wharves docks and ferries (for the improvement regulation and supervision of the construction extension alteration maintenance and use of wharves piers bulkheads docks slips basins ferries harbors and harbor structures in cities of the first class and) providing for the making and enforcement of rules and regulations and fixing certain penalties for violation thereof and providing for the acquisition of property by said cities by purchase and by condemnation for certain purposes' by fixing the number of the jury at three" approved the twenty-seventh day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven was non-concurred in and a Conference Committee directed to be appointed, be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair withdraws the appointment of the Conference Committee as to this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Senate?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, last Wednesday night when the question as to the concurrence of the House in these amendments came before the House, over cautiousness on my part resulted in my asking the House to non-concur, because this bill was given to me by Director Norris, of the Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries, of Philadelphia, and it was amended in several particulars over in the Senate, and in one particular as regards consequential damages. So, as I say, desiring to have the administration in Philadelphia given just what it desired up here, and as sometimes the motives of the Republican organization men in the House are misunderstood, I was only too willing that the bill should be carefully considered from the administration standpoint. Director Norris came to my office on Friday and explained to me that the consequential damages amendments placed in this bill was only fair in that there are sugar refineries, coopering establishments and other establishments running over three or four piers, so that if you cut through one pier under the amendment provided by this bill you destroy the whole utility of the establishment that is provided for in this bill. It is an unique situation for consequential damages. After taking this matter up with the administration, because of its being a peculiar necessity. I ask that the House concur in the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Senate amendments, which have already been read before the House, are found on file folio 8375.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House House Bill 1153, entitled:

An Act for the prevention of blindness by requiring the reporting of cases of ophthalmia neonatorum (inflamation of the eyes of infants) by physicians mid-wives and others and requiring the reporting of results of treatment of each case of said disease and fixing a penaltv for violation thereof on page 3 of the calendar, bill on final passage recalled from the Governor.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 1153, as follows:

An Act for the prevention of blindness by requiring the reporting of cases of opthalmia neonatorum (inflammation of the eyes of infants) by physicians mid-wives and others and requiring the reporting of results of treatment of each case of said disease and fixing a penalty for violation thereof

Whereas, Statistics show fully thirty (30) per cent. of cases of blindness to be due to inflammation of the eyes appearing a few days after birth and whereas experience has proved that this inflammation can be cured and the eye-sight saved in the majority of cases if the proper treatment be instituted at an early stage of the disease

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That every physician practicing in any portion of this Commonwealth who shall treat or examine any infant suffering from ophthalmia neonatorum (inflammation of the eyes of infants) shall if the said case be located in a township of the first class a borough or a city forthwith make a report in writing to the Health Authorities of said township or borough and if said case shall be located in a township of the second class or a city borough or township of the first class not having a board of health or body acting as such to the State Department of Health upon blanks supplied for that purpose in which report he shall under his or her own signature state the name of the disease and the name age sex color and nativity of the infant suffering therefrom together with the street and house number of the premises in which said infant may be located or otherwise sufficiently designate the same the date of the onset of the disease the name and occupation of the householder in whose family the disease may have occurred together with such other information relating to said case as may be required by said health authorities and the State Department of Health

Section 2 That any mid-wife or nurse or other person having the care of an infant whose eyes become inflamed or swollen or reddened at any time within two weeks after birth shall report the same in writing to the health authorities of the city borough or township of the first class in which the case may be located or if it be located in a township of the second class or a city borough or township of the first class not having a Board of Health or body acting as such the State Department of Health within six hours after the discovery thereof giving the name of the infant the names of the parents or guardians and the street and number of their residence or otherwise sufficiently designate the same together with the fact that such inflammation or swelling or redness exists and shall make a similar report in writing to some regularly qualified practicing physician of the district

Section 3 That it shall be the duty of the said health authorities or the State Department of Health immediately upon receipt of a written report from a mid-wife or a nurse or person other than a practicing physician to notify the parents or guardian or other person having charge of the infant of the danger to the eyes or eye of said infant by reason of any neglect of proper treatment of the same

Section 4 Every physician in this Commonwealth who shall treat any infant's eyes for ophthalmia neonatorum (inflammation of the eyes of an infant) shall within forty-eight hours after said physician ceases treatment of or attendance upon such case of ophthalmia neonatorum report to the Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that said physician has treated a certain case of ophthalmia neonatorum giving full information as required in section one of this act stating that he has ceased treatment of or attendance upon said case and what was condition of infant's eyes when physician ceased treatment of or attendance upon said case of ophthalmia neonatorum

Section 5 Every health officer shall furnish a copy of this act to every person who is known to him to act as a mid-wife or nurse in the city borough or township for which he is health officer and the Commissioner of Health of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall cause a sufficient number of copies of this act to be printed and supplied to the health officers

Section 6 Any physician mid-wife nurse or other person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding before any Justice of the Peace or Alderman of the county wherein such offense was committed be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty or more than one hundred ($100) dollars to be paid to the use of the said county and the costs of prosecution or to be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not less than ten (10) or more than thirty (30) days or both at the discretion of the court

Section 7 "An Act for the prevention of blindness imposing a duty upon all mid-wives nurses or other persons having the care of infants and also upon the health officers and fixing penalties for neglect thereof" approved the twenty-sixth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five be and the same is hereby repealed

Section 18 The answer shall contain a specific admission or denial or explanation of each allegation of the petition set out in numbered paragraphs corresponding with the numbered paragraphs of the petition except that if the defendant be without knowledge or without information sufficient to found a belief he shall so state and demand proof and such statement shall operate as a denial Allegations in the petition except as to damages if not denied shall be deemed to be admitted except as against a person under legal disability such as an infant lunatic or other person non compos mentis and not under the legal care of a guardian or committee party to such cause The answer in admitting any allegation of the petition need not repeat its words but may simply say "admitted"

Section 19 The answer may state as many defenses in the alternative regardless of consistency as the defendant deems essential to his defense

Section 20 When the answer or reply is made by an executor administrator guardian committee or other person acting in the cause in a representative capacity he need only state the facts he admits to be true and that he believes that there is a just and lawful defense to the remainder

Section 21 Unless a set-off or counter-claim be alleged in the answer in which case only shall a reply be required or permitted the cause shall be deemed at issue and any new or affirmative matter in the answer or in the reply shall be deemed to be denied by the adverse party without any further or other pleading No formal joinder of issue shall be required or permitted

Section 22 When a defendant relies on a set-off or counter-claim he must first answer the allegations of the petition and then set out his set-off or counter-claim under the heading "Set-off" or "Counter-claim" The set-off or counter-claim shall be set forth in accordance with the requirements of this act and shall continue the consecutive paragraphing of the answer It shall be no objection to a set-off or counter-claim that it sounds in unliquidated damages or that the proceeding is at law and the set-off or counter-claim arises in equity or vice versa The answer containing any set-off or counter-claim shall conclude with prayers for the relief or redress to which the defendant claims to be entitled one of which prayers shall in all such cases be in substance "That the plaintiff make reply to the set-off and counter-claim (for either of them as the case may be) contained in this answer within fifteen days after service thereof"

Section 23 A set-off or counter-claim shall have the same effect as a cross proceeding so as to enable the court to pronounce a final judgment in the cause both on the original and on the cross proceeding But the court may on motion by the plaintiff reasonably made before trial if in its opinion such set-off or counter-claim cannot be conveniently disposed of in the pending cause refuse permission to the defendant to avail himself therein and order such set-off or counter-claim to be treated as a separate pending cause with or without new pleadings If in any case in which the defendant sets up a counter-claim for which he might have a certificate in his favor the case of the plaintiff is stayed discontinued or dismissed the counter-claim may nevertheless be proceeded with

Section 24 Whenever a set-off or counter-claim is set forth in the answer the plaintiff shall file and serve his response thereto verified by affidavits as hereinafter provided which shall be called his "reply" and which shall be set forth in accordance with the requirements of this act The reply shall be filed within fifteen days after the service of the answer and shall be served within forty-eight hours thereafter The reply shall make response to each allegation of the set-off or counter-claim in paragraphs consecutively numbered to correspond to the pertinent paragraphs of the answer and shall be so far as the same are applicable governed by the requirements of this act relating to the answer

Section 25 Where in any proceeding a set-off or counter-claim is established against the case of the plaintiff the court shall grant such relief or redress either legal or equitable whether such legal proceeding be at law or in equity as shall be just

Section 26 No notice of special matter of defense shall be required or permitted all such matter shall be contained in the pleading of the party relying thereon

Section 27 The petition and the answer with the reply if any shall constitute the issues in the cause and neither party shall be permitted at the trial or hearing to present any claim or defense not in issue as aforesaid

Section 28 Judgment may be entered on motion before the prothonotary or clerk of the court as the case may be for the want of an answer or for the amount specifically admitted by the answer to be due The plaintiff may move for judgment for want of a sufficient answer to the whole or any part of his case When the answer contains a set-off or counter-claim the defendant may move for judgment for want of a reply or for the amount specifically admitted by the reply to be due or for want of a sufficient reply to the whole or any part of the set-off or counter-claim and the court may enter judgement in favor of the plaintiff or the defendant as justice may require with leave to proceed for the balance claimed Such motion for judgment shall all be as of course and shall contain the reasons on which they are based On any such judgment damages shall be assessed in the mode now provided by law

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend Title by striking out in line "3" the word "record" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "Common Pleas."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to on third reading.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1625, entitled:

An Act relating to damages in case of taking of property for use as a public wharf pier or bulkhead

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, this bill was drawn by counsel represening Direcor Norris, of Philadelphia, and some of the wharf owners. It is really one of the sections to bill No. 580, presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Roney, amendments to which have just been concurred in by the House. I therefore ask that the House pass this bill.

On the question recurring

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1.

Carson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. Bill No. 855, entitled:

A Supplement to an act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty seven entitled "An Act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture therof"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, if all the persons in this Commonwealth who like a little liquid refreshments now and then were Americans, there possibly would be no necessity for this measure. But that is not the case. In the western part of our State there is a great alien population, and agents for breweries, distilleries and wholesale liquor establishments go out into those mining districts and solicit from the consumer far more than the consumer really wants to buy. They will go to a house and hire a foreigner as a solicitor to go to the house of a foreigner, and instead of that foreigner buying one keg of beer, he will buy half a dozen. I want to state to the House, without making any further speech on this matter, the way in which this bill came into existence. When Bill No. 6 was defeated at the beginning of this session, a liquor peddling bill, I went to his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, and asked him whether he had anything that he would like to have incorporated in a bill of this character. The next morning the Governor sent this bill as you find it, and as he sent it to me and as it was presented to me by his Secretary, I handed it in without changing a paragraph or a word in it. Mr. Speaker, this measure would hurt no person. It would do a wonderful lot of good to the mining districts of our Commonwealth, and whether you believe in drinking or whether you do not believe in it, if you believe in law and order, and doing the right thing for the alien population of this State of ours, you will vote for this measure. I ask the members of this House to support this proposition.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, in relation to the bill which is now for consideration, Bill No. 855, file folio 7485, I raise the point of order that this bill is similar in its terms to House Bill No. 6, which early in this session was defeated in this House. The provisions of the bill as set out in Bill No. 855 has but one addition, as I recall, which was not set out in Bill No. 6, and that one provision is the collection of the empties, the kegs and cases. Being bills of similar character, Mr. Speaker, I raise the point of order that the House cannot consider the bill at this time, and I ask for a ruling on my point of order.

The SPEAKER. It appears to the Chair that there is a substantial difference in the point to which the gentleman has referred, and the point of order is overruled.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I appeal from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker, I second the appeal.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Rockwell, will kindly take the Chair while the appeal is being disposed of.

MR. ROCKWELL IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to state my grounds in which I base my appeal. Under the provisions of Bill No. 6, which the records of this House will show was defeated early in the session, the bill reads as follows:

An Act for the further regulation and restraint of the sale of vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors and admixtures thereof by those having a wholesale license from any of the several courts of quarter sessions of this Commonwealth

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be unlawful for any brewer distiller rectifier bottler compounder jobber dealer or any other person company or corporation licensed by any of the several courts of quarter sessions of this Commonwealth to sell vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors and admixtures thereof at wholesale to hereafter sell any such liquors to a consumer or consumers at any place other than at the place named in his or its application for license or to employ any one to solicit anywhere in this Commonwealth from consumers orders for or to peddle among or deliver to them any such liquors or to reserve and collect from them empty vessels after the liquor has been consumed therefrom at any place or places in this Commonwealth other than that named in his or its application

Section 2 A consumer in this act shall be taken to mean a person company or corporation not lawfully engaged in the business of selling vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors

Section 3 Any person company or corporation licensed to sell vinous spiritous malt or brewed liquors and admixtures thereof by any of the several courts of quarter sessions or this Commonwealth who shall offend against and violate the provisions of this act shall forfeit his or its license and it shall be the duty of the proper court on proof of such offending and violation to forthwith revoke the same

Section 4 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

House Bill No. 855 reads as follows:

A Supplement to an act approved tht thirteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven entitled "An Act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be unlawful for any person partnership or corporation licensed as a brewer or distiller or for any person partnership or corporation licensed to sell liquors at wholesale to solicit orders by agent for vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors from any person partnership or corporation other than duly licensed wholesalers retailers and bottlers Any licensee that shall violate the provisions of the act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof the license of such licensee shall be revoked

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

Now, Mr. Speaker, I call attention to the fact that when House Bill No. 6 was under consideration in this House, the argument was urged that it was simply a bill providing against peddling. If you take out or eliminate from that bill the collection of the empties, you have an exact, almost the same bill, and while the language may be slightly different, the intentions of the bill now under consideration are the same, namely: to prevent peddling. I quote from the gentleman's lips who spoke just a moment ago and stands as sponsor for this bill, "that the bill was intended to serve the same purpose as the bill which this House defeated and it was again in the present form, and was in its present form at the suggestion of his Excellency the Governor." Without any other record necessary, as I think the records of this House are sufficient, but I will read from page 954, Smull's Hand Book under "Decisions of the House," subhead "Bills," paragraph three:

"Mr. Patterson raised a point of order that Senate Bill No. 187 is not in order, as a similar bill was negatived by the House, viz: House Bill No. 569. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken for the reason that the Senate bill (being identical with the House bill), was favorably reported to the House by the same committee which had previously negatived the House bill, and could well be considered a reconsideration by the House committee of its previous action."

I will also read from the following:

"Negatived by House Committee, on order to consider similar one."

"Mr. Kratz raised the point of order that Senate Bill No. 100, which was reported affirmatively by the Committee on Judiciary Local of the House is practically the same as House Bill No. 84, which was negatived by the Committee on Judiciary General, and under these circumstances could not be considered by the House. The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Walk), decided the point of order not well taken."

Negatived, Similar one cannot be introduced."

"The point of order was raised, whether a bill which was substantially the same as another bill which had been negatived, was out of order. The Speaker submitted the question to the House, and it was decided in the affirmative. (Journal H. R. 1873, p. 624).

Mr. SPEAKER. I call attention that in that case it was a case wherein the House was acting on a bill and it was submitted to the whole House and a point of order was raised on the action of a committee on a bill which was similar. I only wish to put myself upon record and I ask each and every member to vote on this matter fairly and squarely, not only the establishing of the bill at its own hands, but on the suggestion emanating from the sponsor himself, to wit: That the purposes of the bill are identical and the end sought to be obtained in the Bill No. 6, is now being attempted in a slightly different form in Bill No. 855, and I ask the House to support me.

The SPEAKER. The question is shall the ruling of the Chair stand as the decision of the House?

The ruling of the Chair was sustained.

Mr. Alter in the Chair.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

Which was done as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, it was my hope and the hope of many of my colleagues, that this House might, by adequate legislation fully and effectively redeem the pledges that were made to the people by all political parties in the last campaign. Many of us have made a strenuous effort to incorporate into this bill, provisions which would give sufficient power to the Public Service Commission, created by it to make that Commission a powerful and effective force for the protection of the people and the preservation of their rights.

From the day of the introduction of this bill, however, the ruling factor has been the desire for partisan advantage, rather than effective provisions. If the sole desire of the gentleman on the other side of the House, is to place themselves in a position from which they can claim partisan credit, they must also assume some responsibility. The popular agitation of the last year or two has forced you to give something, but upon your shoulders will rest the responsibility for not giving in this bill, the full and adequate relief which the people are demanding and which they are right to expect.

Fortunately the most vicious feature of this bill, namely, the one which robs the people of every locality, of the righ to control their own affairs and to determine the use that may be made of their own streets and highways, undoubtedly offends Section 20. of Article 3 of the Constitution, which prohibits a Commission of a municipal function, and consequently, I believe that it will only offer offense to the people until such time as the Courts may have an opportunity to set it aside.

When this vicious provision is disposed of by the Courts, as it surely will be, we will have left a bill which, though an improvement over a law creating a Railroad Commission, lacks the force and the strength to furnish the relief for which it was intended.

No State has ever undertaken the creation of such a Commission without conferring upon it two powers, both of which are absolutely essential to the effective and successful performance of its duties. One is the power to control issues of stocks and bonds; the other is the power to suspend increases in rates pending its investigations. Without these powers you have seriously handicapped the Commission, by withholding these powers you have failed to furnish the protection to the public that the public demands. The fact remains, however, that public sentiment has forced you to listen to their demands and compelled you to take a step in the right direction, for even so much as you are giving in this bill, the people will be thankful, but your failure to provide full and effective legislation at this time, leaves to the next session of this Assembly, the duty of strengthening the fabric which this bill creates. Many of us will vote for this bill, not because it is what we believe a Public Utilities bill should be, but merely because it is an improvements on what we have to-day.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I should indeed hate to have my name appear upon the record in support of this bill without giving my reasons for voting for it. I say this after a careful study of the provisions of the bill, because of the fact that I believe that it is a Public Utilities Bill in name only. I believe that his Excellency, the Governor has been heart and sole for a measure that would merit the name Utility Bill ever since he was installed into the high office of Governor of this great Commonwealth. I think two years ago, Mr. Speaker, we had introduced and considered in this body a bill which perhaps meant much and I feel and I speak it frankly when I say that we now have a bill which means nothing but a bid to a higher place for somebody. Mr. Speaker, there are concerns in this great Commonwealth and in these United States that manufacture implements of all kinds. There are concerns which manufacture even hand rakes, and in this Utilities Bill you have a hand rake without a single tooth to it; you have a pitchfork without a tang to it. We have fought and fought consistently upon the floor of this House for injecting into this bill some life, at least a breath of life. By some process, which is familiar in our legislative halls, a sufficient amount of influence was brought to bear so that many of our members were blinded and they voted according to the dictates of some one or some power and not according to their own conscientious dictates. We have fought, I say, consistently in relation to this matter. We have faced great odds and we have gone down to defeat, yes, but on a record that leaves colors high. We have made a clean fight and a fight, Mr. Speaker, where, if the members of this House had listened to reason and had been left alone, the result would not be what faces us now under the name of the Utilities Bill. From the time this bill, Mr. Speaker, first entered upon its second reading, the floors and the lobbies of this House, just as to-night, were packed with those same influences which came here to turn their certain tricks and for which they must eventually answer. The sad, sad thought that must accompany this same thought, Mr. Speaker, is the fact that we, as Republicans on this side of the House and you as Democrats on this side of the House, must answer in some measure, notwithstanding the marks and the scars and the blots that have been placed upon our parties. When this House was organized, Mr. Speaker, back yonder in January, it was supposed that this was an absolutely independent House, and one that no master could control; and fie upon that thought. How quickly that day has passed away! Why every power, not only all the powers that exist in this Commonwealth under the lash of the real political master, but all the powers that legislative committees, all the powers that the chief officers of this Commonwealth and all the powers that the subordinates of this Commonwealth could bring to bear, have been brought to bear more than once upon the floor of this House and in their greatest force within the past week, and you know it and I know it and the public knows it. The workings have amounted to what? Your perfected idea now lies in the hands of the Clerk ready for your vote and mine. I vote for this bill not under the lash of any man, and not under the lash of any power in this Commonwealth. I shout defiance in the teeth of those who drafted this bill, of those who have seen fit to pass it through this House in its present form. I vote for this bill, Mr. Speaker, not because I believe there is sufficient merit in the bill to justify any man in casting his vote for it, but simply for the fact that the slaves who have fought on the floor of this House for recognition of the people's rights, who have tried to protect home, and home municipalities, who have tried to protect this great Commonwealth, have gone down to defeat, and all that is left is this mere shell. Yes, I will vote for the bill. I said so early in this session. But Mr. Speaker, I was not one of those who before my election promised anybody that I would vote for anything. No party extorted any promise from me and I had no promises to break, thank God. We have fought here, we have fought against the great political generals, we have fought the battle of the people back home. You have seen fit in your wisdom, and under that guiding hand, and under the lash, you have seen fit to grovel in the dust and wallow in the quagmire. You have given away in this bill, and you cannot deny it, and you went upon record once more to-night, you have given away all the municipal rights that municipalities have. You have given away home, you have given away your freedom, you have given away honor. I, like you, will cast my vote, but this explanation, Mr. Speaker, will make me right upon the record.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll.

Mr. ALWORTH. Mr. Speaker, if in order I would like to say a few words.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection to the interruption of the roll call, the gentleman will be given the opportunity to speak. Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the gentleman from Lackawanna will proceed.

Mr. ALWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I hesitate at this time to rise in the halls of this House to answer the charges that have been hurled in the teeth of nearly every representative in this chamber, and I am surprised that the older members of this House have not felt called upon to resent that insinuation that we representatives of the people of the great State of Pennsylvania are charged by a member of this body as being subservient to certain political officers, that we have been lashed into line for the supporting of a bill which, if we had conscientiously been left to ourselves, to be guided by our independent judgment, would have repudiated. I believe that there are a great majority of the members of this House, who have not been coerced and have not been forced into the support of this bill. True it is that a great many of us have not agreed with the gentleman that preceded me in the practicability of the numerous amendments that he offered to this bill, but I deny that there was any motive, any ulterior motive, or any outside influence that compelled me to repudiate and vote against the amendments that we offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, and I believe gentlemen, in your honesty, and your integrity, and I do not believe that the charges preferred against the members of this House by the gentleman from Allegheny are warranted or justified in any particular.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, since it has been suggested by the gentleman from Lackawanna that some of the older members of the House should have said something on the matter, I simply have this statement to make to the House. I do not believe that the House took the remarks of the gentleman seriously. So far as I am concerned, I was not asked by a single person to support the bill. Those in support of the bill have supported it with just as honest intentions as the gentleman from Allegheny who has differed.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I had no thought to speak upon this bill except to explain my vote, but the remarks compel me.

To vote in support of this bill without explanation means the ratifying of a piece of legislative subserviency, coersion and corporate manipulation. To vote against it without explanation means to aid in its defeat, a re-enactment of the tragedy that befell the utility bill of the session of 1911. When we retrospect the history of this and previous bills leading towards a utilities law, we view a course of deception, false promise and fraudulent pretense of obedience to the people. When the people, chafing under the abuse and insolence of the great carrying companies, became so insistent in their demands for a proper regulatory legislation, they were given the present railroad commission, a body with no power, a mere make-shift, a mere pretense, an empty shell. Awakening to this humbug, they arose two years ago demanding a proper utilities commission. The Governor of this Commonwealth, still smarting under the impugning of his honesty and integrity during a most strenuous campaign, declared for the enactment of such a law. The Attorney-General, with the vigor of ambition to crown his brilliant career at the bar, as prosecuting officer of the great City of Philadelphia, and as leading law officer of Pennsylvania, with the co-operation of the present Speaker of this House, presented to the Legislature of 1911 a powerful utilities bill. Far into the session we reached before this bill was presented. But the Governor, whoes pride had been stung during his campaign, insisted upon its enactment. It was then that the real crushing, cruel force of the money-power was exerted. Throwing caution aside, the mighty officers of the great carrying companies, the great lighting and water companies rushed in person to the fore and literally tore the governor with force from his bill. The true story of that legislation is still in the memory of the people.

When, Mr. Speaker, I find that a member of this House has the courage and strength of character to stand in the body of this House and declare that influence was brought to bear on the vote, and I find that that remark has been contradicted by one gentleman, and characterized by another of older standing as words without weight, because they had no seriousness, it calls upon those of us who fought for the amendment to make answer. I have been in session after session, Mr. Speaker, and I never in my legislative experience saw the executive department of this government use the force that was used to push this bill through this House. The amendment that would either vitalize this bill by its adoption, or leave it almost a nullity without, came for discussion. The representatives of the executive branch of this Commonwealth took a position upon the floor of this House. The full force of the executive branch of this government was emphasized by his presence in opposition to the amendment. More than that, we find the Speaker of this House surrendering his high position in the Chair and occupying his place as a member on the floor, in readiness, during the whole debate upon this amendment, to arise from his seat at the end of the remarks by those favoring the administration, to call upon the acting Speaker to put the previous question, preventing some of us from answering the arguments in opposition to our amendment. This was persisted in though we requested the withdrawal of the call. The Speaker of this great body loaned not only his own power as an individual member, but his prestige as the presiding officer of this great body to oppose the free debate on the most important feature of the bill. I say, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from Allegheny shows his strength as a member, shows his loyalty as a representative of the people when he stands on the floor of this House and protests.

Though we have gone to defeat, Mr. Speaker, our defeat is but temporary. It is nothing as compared to the defeat of the ambition of the administration two years ago, the administration that now stands in ridicule, the administration that shows its weakness by urging the passing of this mere shell. The defeat, Mr. Speaker, that those of us feel the sting of tonight is no defeat to us. Many who voted to defeat us, voted themselves to defeat, many who voted the death knell to our amendment, voted their own death knell. Mr. Speaker, many in high power and in high places who loaned their great strength to defeat our amendment and pass this impotent bill voted themselves to political destruction. Some who have given their great strength in their high position to stifle the people's will, to deprive them of their right, to perpetuate the cruel, crushing, corrupting influence of the money-powers in strength, will themselves feel the rebuking hand of the people.

Though I vote, Mr. Speaker, for this bill, I vote for it because it is a bill that will be corrected in the future. The amendment that was defeated, that would have given real power to the commision, will be up at the next session or the session thereafter, or some session in the future, and it will be placed in the law, correcting the weakness of this bill we pass tonight.

Mr. Speaker, I do not agree with the gentleman from Lackawanna, or the gentleman from Delaware, when they criticise the gentleman from Allegheny, who has shown his manhood, his courage, his strength of character, his loyalty to his people, when he has raised is protest against the force unseen, but crushing, which we have felt in this House.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTES.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to place upon record an explanation of my vote in support of this measure.

I believe that the bill is defective in the following important respects:

In the first place our citizens have suffered so much in the past from issues of fictitious securities by public service companies, which have resulted in imposing unwarranted fixed charges upon these properties, that public opinion is today undoubtedly in favor of strict regulation by the State of such issues, and this can only be done by requiring the corporation to obtain the consent of the Commission before securities are issued. Effective regulation of this matter would require the Commission to pass upon the issues of securities by holding companies also; since in many cases it is the securities put out by the holding company which furnish the basis for extravagant fixed charges upon the underlying properties.

A further defect in the bill is that it does not adequately deal with the relations between the municipalities of the State, and the public service companies. With the exception of railroad and telegraph lines the other public utilities of the state are principally engaged in serving municipalities. The legislative restrictions under which our cities labor today have resulted in creating a popular demand for municipal home rule, and I believe that a measure dealing with matters which so vitally concern our cities should enlarge their powers, rather than restrict them. The provision allowing public service corporations to construct their works through municipalities, without municipal consent, is in my judgment wrong. I believe further, that powers should be given to the municipalities to enable them to control the granting of charters to new corporations, and the leasing, selling or merging of existing public service properties.

The most serious question affecting the municipalities is, however, the restriction against municipal competition, which exists as the bill now stands. This restriction is a very valuable asset to existing companies, and they should be required to stipulate in return therefor, that the municipalities shall never be obliged to pay them for the value of this right which the State is now conferring upon them. If such a provision is not added to the bill then the present provision relating to municipal competition, should be stricken out entirely.

Other serious faults are the failure to add a clause empowering the Commission to suspend the operation of rates, to investigate past issues of securities, and to shift the burden of proof in proceedings before it, when it shall deem it advisable to do so.

The bill has, however, been improved so much since its introduction into this body, that I believe it is now my duty to vote for it. The rate clause has been changed so as to leave the matter of determining what is a proper rate, practically in the discretion of the Commission. The same is also true of the valuation clause. So far as I can see, an attempt has been made to deal adequately with questions of service, including the matter of street railway extensions and transfers. I believe that public opinion will shortly force the amendment of the measure in the particulars I have referred to above, and that until this shall be done, the opportunities for good, which a conscientious and intelligent Commission may accomplish, will outweigh the possibilities of harm which there may be in the operation of the act.

I have, therefore, decided to vote "aye" upon the question of the passage of this bill.

Mr. GRABE. Mr. Speaker, my reasons for voting "No" are as follows:

I do not consider the bill efficient and as the Representative of my constituents do not consider that I should be one to help vote away the rights that rightfully belong to the people.

Mr. HEMMINGER. Mr. Speaker, in my opinion we have in this bill one of the most important questions to decide that has come before this session of the Legislature. The question has been discussed pro and con fir many years and in practically all the States of the Union.

Many States have Public Utilities Laws, and no two of them alike. Each Legislature has passed a law to meet their especial needs and I cannot see any valid reason why Pennsylvania cannot pass a public utility law that will meet her needs.

Is it not a fact that we have more diversied industries than any other Commonwealth in the Union, therefore as fact follows condition it necessarily follows that we need in detail a different law, compared to other States.

I have listened with considerable interest to the arguments of the opposition calling attention that; this law differs from laws of a similar character in other States. I contend that herein the strength of this bill lies having other conditions to deal with manifestly we need a different law.

Have not eminent lawyers studied the laws of the different States and embodied in this law those things that have been found of benefit and omitted what has been found impracticable.

I have confidence in those men believe in their integrity and do not believe that they would for a moment emasculate a public utilities law that would come back to haunt them in their later day.

Rather I believe that they have used their best energies to so frame a law that would be a credit to the State, honor to themselves and bring harmony between the great public and the utility corporations.

The time has come when Pennsylvania must take the initiative and fulfill the great public demand that has been made and pass a fair and honest law that will give a Commission power to act as a breakwater between the public utilities corporation and arrive at an honest and fair conclusion in the great questions that will come before them.

Mr. Speaker, many amendments have been offered when this bill was on second reading. I believe that many of them were offered in good faith, a few of them have been incorporated in this bill and many more of them have been defeated and in my opinion rightfully so, for as I see it the amendments offered would have defeated the real purpose of the bill, viz: that regulation of the public as well as the public utility corporations.

It is not contended that this bill is a perfect one but is a basis or ground work as you may call it to which may be added or substracted as the lamp of experience may show us.

Many of our citizens are suffering from inequalities from telephone charges, passenger, freight and many other public utility charges, and this bill in my opinion will equalize those conditions and go a great way towards creating confidence in the powers of government in the State of Pennsylvania.

In my opinion the contention that the Commission be empowered to practically guarantee stocks and bonds of utility corporations is bad practice and in time would bring disgrace on Legislators of this Assembly bring odium on the Commission and finally cause this great State to blush in shame and possible burden her with a public debt.

Many many are the contingencies that make what is rated as a successful utility today may be rated tomorrow at a loss due to conditions that are beyond human control, viz:

Floods, fire, storm and what not.

What of science and invention what is considered a fine utility proposition may be put third rate scrap in a very short time.

We have cases where States have gone in to the guarantee business and who can point to many successes many have failed. Even nations have attempted the guarantee business and failed.

In my opinion the supervision of the issuance of stocks and bonds under the rules which an honorable commission will adopt is all that any one should expect in a utilities laws.

If the contention of the opposition were conceded the hands of the Commission would be tied and it would follow that the opinions of the Commission would be prejudiced in rendering an opinion where they would be a party to the issue thereof.

I again repeat that the province of this Commission is supervise and not to create conditions.

I admit that there are some defects in the bill but taken as a whole it deserves the conscientious support of all fair minded members of the Legislature.

Mr. GOOD. Mr. Speaker, my reason for voting on Bill No. 183 is as follows:

Firstly, because it does not regulate the issue of stocks and bonds.

Secondly, because it takes away from municipalities, the right to regulate the giving or withholding of franchise.

Thirdly, because I believe the Commission should be elective and not appointive, as the bill provides.

Fourthly, because I am unalterably opposed to government by commission.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The SPEAKER. The hour of ten o'clock having arrived the Chair lays before the House as a special order, Senate Bill No. 772, House Bill No. 1926 from page two of today's calendar.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1926 (Senate No. 772), entitled:

An Act to amend the third section of an act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof approved the thirteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven by regulating the refusal of licenses by the court and by regulating appeals from such refusal

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That an act to amend the third section of an act entitled "An Act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and suirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof" approved the thirteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven which section reads as follows to wit

"Section 3 Such licenses may be granted only by the court of quarter sessions of the proper county and shall be for one year from a date fixed by rule or standing order of said court The said court shall fix by rule or by standing order a time at which application for said licenses shall be heard at which time all persons applying or making objections to applications for licenses may be heard by evidence petition remonstrance or counsel Provided That licenses under previous laws shall not be granted later than June thirtieth of this year" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows to wit

Section 3 Such licenses may be granted only by the court of quarter sessions of the proper county and shall be for one year from a date fixed by rule or standing order of said court The said court shall fix by rule or by standing order a time at which application for said licenses shall be heard at which time all persons applying or making objections to applications for licenses may be heard by evidence petition remonstrance or counsel Provided That the said court shall find the facts upon which a refusal of an applicant who has been granted license for the two years immediately preceding the third or subsequent application of such applicant and file the same of record and specially find whether or not such applicant has willfully and intentionally sold vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors to minors or has violated any law of the Commonwealth in relation to the sale of spirituous vinous malt or brewed liquors Any violations of any law of the Commonwealth in relation to the sale of spirituous vinous malt or brewed liquors by such applicant shall be legal ground for refusing said third or subsequent application of said applicant Such applicant shall have the right of appeal to the Superior court from an order refusing such third or subsequent application and on such appeal the testimony and evidence for and against such application shall be part of the record

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, again we have a Klein bill. Two years ago the House killed a bill sponsored by Senator Kline, which would have permitted peddling of intoxicated liquors in "dry" territory. That bill was so bad that a House which had defeated local option refused to enact it. But bad as that bill was, it was a mild and lenient measure compared to the one before us tonight. This bill is intended to destroy the only safeguard in the Brook's High License Law. To my mind, it is vicious, un-American, unjust and unfair. It is vicious because it would extend the Right of Appeal to the license system. The Right of Appeal is a sacred, constitutional privilege to protect our lives, our property and our sacred honor. It is essential to our liberties and our pursuit of happiness. For it, when properly applied, every free man will always contend. But to extend that precious privilege, to a system that debases, impoverishes and destroys; that causes crime, poverty and insanity is to defeat the very purposes for which we hold it dear. For this reason we hold that this bill is vicious legislation.

It is un-American because it interferes with the just right of the governed by compelling a judge to "find the facts" before refusing license, and when he has found them, if against the saloon keeper, allowing an appeal from his findings. The judges who refuse to grant licenses when strong remonstrances are filed, are elected by the people because the electors want to banish the saloon from their midst. They express their will at the ballot box. It is a wholesome referendum, and occurs only at long intervals. To destroy this safeguard which the bill before us practically does, is to defeat the express will of the people, is un-American and in these days is a very dangerous proceeding.

It is unfair and unjust because it opens a wide door of escape to the saloon keeper who sells to minors. If the remonstrants make out a case ever so strong, and establish by proofs incontrovertible that minors or boys have been supplied with liquor at the bar, all the saloon keeper need do, is to say in defense "I didn't go to do it." This bill plainly says that the Judge "shall specially find whether or not the applicant has willfully and intentionally sold vinous, spiritous, malt or brewed liquor to minors."

Lastly it would destroy the Brook's High License Law which the liquor sellers have been telling us is the best license law ever enacted. If this be so why are they in favor of this bill? Evidently to destroy it and so remove the last barrier to their terrible traffic.

Gentlemen of the House I appeal to you to vote against this bill. It is bad legislation. Let us vote it down.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I stood in this House on previous occasions and listened to word pictures painted by gentlemen addressing this House on liquor questions which involved this great Commonwealth. Irrespective of my own views in the matter I voted against local option and I voted against prohibition, but in doing so, I felt that I echoed the sentiments of the people whom I have the honor to represent—a church going, home loving and law abiding people; a people who jealously guard their own rights and have the highest regard for the rights of others. We didn't favor local option because we didn't feel that that is a remedy for the wrong complained of; we didn't favor prohibition because we feel that the majority should not be punished for the sins of the few. But there is a limit beyond which we will not go and that limit is reached when we are asked to consider the bill now before us for discussion. Mr. Speaker, this bill, to my mind, is a piece of the most vicious legislation which has been before this House this session. When this bill was under discussion, on second reading, considerable argument was advanced concerning the rights of property which the passage of this bill is presumed by those supporting it to protect. It was argued that while the arbitrary action of a license court in revoking a liquor license was exercised property rights were swept away. No more erroneous argument was ever advanced to be-cloud the minds of those of us here having under consideration this matter. The liquor license never was in this Commonwealth, and is not now a property right. It has never been more than a personal privilege and being a personal privilege should come directly under the supervision of the power granting that personal privilege, namely: the license court: It might well be argued that upon the death of a holder of a license in the orphan's court at least a license has a value. It might as well be argued upon the failure in the absence of the licensee a license has value, but that too is an erroneous idea. True, it has a money value but only subject to the approval of the courts and subject to the approval of the granting power transferring that license to a purchaser. Now, Mr. Speaker, if this bill became a law what would be the result? We all know that when the question comes before the court as to whether a license shall be granted or not, the theory is that there are two questions and two questions alone that should dominate the minds of the granting power. One is the fitness of the applicant neighborhood. The court being satisfied that those two conditions exist and meet with the approval of the court, the license is granted. Merely a personal privilege is granted to that licensee. Now then, when can that personal privilege be revoked? Revoked, Mr. Speaker, for a violation of the law; revoked when the licensee does not live up to the rules and regulations of the court or live up to the law pertaining to the conduct of the liquor license; revoked when the licensee sells to minors; revoked when the licensee sells to habitual drunkards; revoked when the licensee sells upon days which the court says it shall not sell; revoked when the licensee permits his place to become a nuisance to the neighborhood by harboring disreputable people. And when is that license revoked? When it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that these things exist, the license court has before it not only the charges laid at the door of the holder of the license, but the conduct and the appearance of the witnesses who appear before the license court on the rule to revoke that license. If this bill should become a law and the right of appeal should be given from the granting power of that personal privilege, what would the appellate court have? Nothing more than the bare testimony. Mr. Speaker, there are other reasons. I say this bill should never become a law. In the proviso of this bill, it provides that a license can be revoked for a sale to minors only when the licensee wilfully and knowingy furnishes liquor to minors. Why, Mr. Speaker, is that particular provision singled out from all the other violations of the liquor law covered by the Brooks high license act? Why should they say that in the sale to minors there should be a willful and knowing sale by the licensee and not say that other violations should be willfull and knowing? What would be the result? All the licensee needs to do—and the burden under the Brooks high license law is upon him—is to come before that granting power and say, "I personally did not sell to the minor; I had no knowledge of it, but those in my employ, against my instructions, made this unlawful sale." Mr. Speaker, there is still another reason to my mind, and that is, why should the power to revoke and the right of appeal from the revocation be given upon the third year of the holding of this personal privilege and not upon the preceding two years? Those of us who know conditions, and I dare say it is true throughout the rest of this great State, known that the vast majority of retail liquor licenses are owned and controlled by the breweries and the liquor industries of this State; that the men in whose names those licenses are granted are merely agents of the breweries and the liquor industries. Mr. Speaker, crime cannot be committed, crime of this character, by an agent; and if the brewery and liquor industry is responsible for placing that particular licensee into this great personal privilege that the law gives him, then they should be responsible for the violations of that law. But if you are going to restrict the right of appeal to the third year in which this license is held, what will be the result? To my mind, the appellate court could construe this statute to mean that you could not revoke for a violation for the two preceding years, but then the liquor power would come in before the third year was reached and they would suggest to their agent who was the holder of that liquor license to make application for transfer to someone else, and so on, evading the law from year to year. Mr. Speaker, I think this is vicious legislation. It has not one bit of merit to sustain it from corner to corner, or any part thereof, and I for one shall record my vote against it.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I am glad that the arguments advanced by my colleague from Philadelphia were not based on sentimental grounds but more on a practical footing, but I am afraid I must take issue with him, so far as this bill is concerned. I trust that the members of this House will not misunderstand my attitude in talking for this bill. I would have talked for this bill if it had been introduced for any interest, be it liquor or otherwise, because I believe it is a right and a trust which is to remain to the holder of any privilege or property right in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I have absolute and unbounded faith in the courts of our Commonwealth and in their individual representatives on the bench, and I say that it is a shame that we shall have any business, be it liquor or otherwise, which is discriminated against, in so far as justice is concerned. Everyone in this House is familiar or should be familiar with the fact that under the laws of this Commonwealth, when we feel aggrieved and not satisfied with the judgment or the determination of the lower courts, any of us has a perfect right to proceed to an upper court for such redress as we might want. It is true even if the judgment be of the smallest kind. It is true even if it be a money judgment, or a judgment on you to do or not do a certain thing. It is true if it concerns any business in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania except the liquor business, and to my mind, gentlemen of the House, such discrimination is neither necessary, nor is it fair. It might be that there are certain individuals in the lquor trade that are not worthy of any appeal, but that, sir, holds equally true of any other business, wherein there might be persons either of immoral standing or of such standing as to make them not necessary to the community at all. Now, Mr. Speaker, this bill is not dangerous legislation. This bill is not nefarious. This bill is not half as bad as my colleague from Philadelphia has pictured it. This bill does not attempt anything but what is fair to a man who is engaged in a business, whom the court determined in its proceedings was a proper individual to hold this privilege, who has possibly invested his all in the business; and then is cited before a court to answer the complaint of certain people, either registered in the neighborhood or some self-constituted law and order societies who bring complaint against him. I have no quarrel with the people who make complaint against liquor dealers. Sometimes we may question their motives. In the long run I will agree that rarely is it that the courts make a mistake, either in the granting of licenses when they are initially asked, or in the revocation of them when it comes to the question of renewing them. But there is a question in my mind, and a serious question, whether any citizen should not have the right to appeal from the decision of any court, to proceed to the higher tribunal constituted not only under the law, but under our Constitution, the fundamental law of our Commonwealth. My friend states that the liquor interests, any by that I presume he means the wholesale brewers—I trust I have not misquoted him—control practically all the saloons licensed throughout the city of Philadelphia. I am sure he said that with reference to the State at any rate. However, when a man gets a liquor license and has it for the space of one year, and at the end of that one year, if there are petitions to revoke that license by a number sufficient to influence any court in the revocation or refusal to renew, I believe that I would give the benefit of the doubt to the court making such a decision. But I say that if a man has held a license for a longer period than one year, and has been there for two years, it is nothing more than fair that a person holding a license who has been recognized by the court as a proper individual or person to hold the license a second time, when that man comes before the court a third time, that individual should be accorded a trifle more consideration than the man who has just gone into business, and there is every reason in fairness to substantiate that claim. When a recognized liquor dealer has put his entire capital and his time for two years into this business to gain his livlihood and recognized by the courts as a proper person, his place has been licensed and has been found to be a public necessity, now there are two questions that ought to be considered by the court. It must have been a public necessity or it never would have been licensed in the first place. And the second consideration is that the man was a proper person to hold that license. Now is it not but fair to this man that when he is confronted before the court with the petition either not to revoke or to revoke, that he has a perfect right to do that which is granted under the Constitution and your statutes to every other individual of the Commonwealth, whether it be a matter of a judgment of $5.33 or over. A man's liquor license is his stock in trade, and when you revoke his license you wipe out a matter of dollars and cents to him. Is the sum of $5.33 or any other arbitrary sum of any more value in actual money than the amount invested in the man's liquor trade? Is it fair for us to do that? It would be farcial to attempt that. Is it fair for us to do this, not to an arbitrary body, not to a body which is about to be constituted under this bill, but to a body which has been recognized by the Constitution of Pennsylvania and a body that was organized under the statutes of this State, either in the Superior or Supreme Court. Is there such a lack of confidence of the members of this House in the State's courts as to say when the lower court has revoked or the court has refused to renew a license, that they shall not appeal to a higher tribunal? It would not be fair for us to say or attempt to assail the fair name of our courts, or to even suggest that any influence brought by any liquor ring in the country or any other ring upon these higher tribunals should cause them to do other than what they thought was fair and right and in accordance with their conscience. I have seen communications addressed to myself, and I dare say a great many of you men have received them, in which it was stated that there were snakes in this bill, and other mistatements. I think this is due to a misunderstanding, because any man that knows anything about this bill, he need not be a lawyer, can read it as he runs. He knows that these statements are untrue. The bill proposes that licenses shall be granted for one year. That is referred to in line 22 on page 2 of the bill where it says that the license shall be granted for one year from a date fixed by rule or standing order of said court and there is nothing in this bill that tends that term, because it ought not to; because when that man comes up for renewal of license his old license has ceased to exist. When there is a refusal of that renewal there is no continuation of the lcense when he makes the appeal. Every lawyer in this House will bear me out in this when he says any appeal acts as a supersedeas. By that I mean that when a man takes an appeal he stands in the same position as when he went into court, when the license could either be revoked or when the renewal of the license would be refused; when the individual could take his appeal, that would not continue his license. His place would have to be shut up until the Superior or Supreme Court would pass upon the lower court's finding, and then he could only open up if they decide that the lower court had not properly decided the matter. But in the meantime his place would not be open and any communication to the contrary, that place would be shut and any man knows that when a license is granted by the Court of Quarter Sessions for one year there is no question that under this act that license could not carry beyond the period for which it was issued.

Now is there anything in this bill which says that the license shall only be revoked or renewal be refused because of a single intentional knowing sale to minors and for no other reason? Why, that it not so. Any man can see that all it says with reference to minors is that after a court has seen fit to either revoke or refuse renewal of a license, that they shall specifically find whether or not such applicant has willfully and intentionally sold vinous, spirituous, malt or brewed liquors to minors. Now this is in addition—it might be that the revocation or the renewal would be based on some other violation of the liquor laws of Pennsylvania, such as selling on Sunday, such as selling to habitual drunkards and the hundred and one minor violations under the Brooks law. But it says that in the event of such refusal, that in addition to any other objections made to the liquor license holder, the court shall specificially find whether or not "knowingly and intentionally sold to minors.'' That provision, Mr. Speaker, is an extra precaution and an extra notice to every man in this Commonwealth that holds a liquor license, that he will be rigidly looked to to enforce that particular portion at least of the Brooks law and does not stand as a protection to the liquor license holder, because—and I think there is no lawyer in the House will not bear me out in that point, because no construction of any court could be that the man is not knowingly and intentionally selling to minors where any agent that he might employ, such as a waiter or a bartender would constantly be selling to minors in large numbers not merely daily, possibly weekly, with the proprietor of the place either there or not, that there is not a court that would not construe that to mean that he was knowingly and intentionally selling to minors. The courts of this Commonwealth have rigidly adhered to that construction of the law. I dare say that where the court has had certain facts presented to it that a liquor dealer was selling to minors, when the testimony showed that may be once or twice during a month or so his bartenders served minors, I think it all fairness to that man that the court has a right to find that he did not do it intentionally and willfully; but never was there a case brought to the attention of any court in this Commonwealth where it was shown by the facts that it was a custom daily, weekly and monthly and a continual custom, that the proprietor of the license was not held responsible and that the court had construed it that he was selling intentionally and knowingly whether he was there in person or whether he was not there, because the courts have construed it to mean that it is the duty of the license holder to be on the premises or not engage the services of such people as would break the Brooks law.

Now we go down further in the bill. Under this paragraph it says: ''Any violations of any law of the Commonwealth in relation to the sale of spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors by such applicant shall be legal ground for refusing said third or subsequent application." Any violation, I do not care what it might be, the only thing that it does, gentleman of the House, this bill gives the same right to the man, who holds a liquor license that he should not be discriminated against, that he is engaged in a legal enterprise, that he is engaged in an enterprise that you license, which is considered legal under your law and which you tax and collect revenue from—surely he is entitled to the same rights and same remedies that any other citizen of the Commonwealth engaged in any other business is entitled to. On the strength of that fact and on the fact that I have unbounded confidence in the fairness of the upper tribunals who would determine whether the lower court has properly found the facts, I certainly will lend my voice and vote in support of this measure and strongly urge every member of this House to do likewise.

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members:

Messrs. Burnett, Metzenbacher, Sassaman, Strause, Kuhns, Donnally, Benson, Rothenberger, Cochran, Geary, J. H. Young, Bittles, Bergey, Steele, Morrow, Musser, Downs, Trach, Conner, Piper, H. B. Dunn, Brosius, Missimer, George A. Baldwin and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the main question be put.

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

Section 2 When any owner of surface land desires to have such land placed in the class established by section one of this act such owner shall notify the "State Forestry Reservation Commission" of his desire in the manner and form to be prescribed by said Commission Said notice shall contain a description of the land its location boundary area and character and shall state as far as practicable the species character and condition of the trees growing thereon and whether they are of natural reproduction or are from seed sown for the purpose or have been set out on said land or all combined and such other information as the Commission may require If upon receipt and consideration of this notice the Commission shall in its discretion deem the conditions such as to warrant action on its part to determine whether such land should rightfully be placed in the class established by section one of this act it shall cause the same to be examined by some person learned in the practice and principles of forestry and a report made thereon and if upon receipt and consideration of such report it decides that such land should be placed in the class established by section one of this act it shall so declare and certify to the commissioners of the county in which said land is located

Section 3 Upon receipt by the county commissioners of such certificate of the Commission it shall be their duty at once to place said surface land in the class established by section one of this act and keep the same therein until the trees growing thereon shall in the judgment of the Commission become sufficiently large and suitable for merchantable forest products or the land be devoted to other purposes provided however that the certificate of the Commission shall not become operative to place said surface land in the class established by section one of this act until the owner of said surface land has agreed in writing with the Commission to care for the trees growing thereon according to the instructive and directions of the Commission up to such time as such trees become suitable for merchantable forest products and if any such owner at any time fails to care for the trees growing on said land as agreed with the Commission and due proof thereof is made the Commission may remove said surface land from the class established by section one of this act In case of such removal either through failure of the owner to care tor the trees or on his expressed desire for removal before the trees shall have been cut at maturity and tax paid thereon the county commissioners shall on notice from the Commission proceed to recover from said owner for the of the county and township by an appropriate action at law if necessary the difference in the amount of tax which would have been paid by the said owner at the rates established for the years for which recovery is sought and the rate provided for auxiliary forest reserves with costs of suit to be recoverable from the time when such land was placed in the class of auxiliary forest reserves And the Commission shall remove said surface land from the class established by section one of this act at any time that the then owner shall in writing notify the Commission that he desires such removal The Commission may in its discretion at the time said surface land is placed in the class established by section one of this act require the owner to file with the Commission his or its bond of such kind and the amount as the Commission shall deem reasonable and sufficient to secure the obligations of such owner under this act

Section 4 Whenever trees growing on said surface land have become suitable for merchantable forest products the Commission shall at the request of the owner or on its own motion make an examination of said land and designate for the owner the kind and number of trees most suitable to be cut if in the judgment of the Commission there be any and the cutting and removal of said trees so designated shall be in accordance with the instructions of the Commission

Section 5 If the owner of said surface land faithfully carried out the instructions of the Commission with regard to the removal and marketing of such mature or other trees as may be designated in the instructions of the said Commission and shall immediately replant other trees of valuable species or so protect the young growth that the said land may immediately become covered with young forest growth and does so with the approval of the Commission then such surface land shall remain in the said class established by section one of this act otherwise the Commission shall notify the county commissioners that the said land is not being maintained in accordance with the written agreement of the owner and the instructions of the Commission in which event the county commissioners shall immediately remove said land from the class established by section one of this act All expenses attendant upon the examination of said surface land by the Commission shall be paid out of moneys appropriated for the maintenance of the Department of Forestry in like manner as other expenses for maintenance of said Department are now paid

Section 6 The owner of the said auxiliary forest reserves shall at all times have the right to remove therefrom trees or portions of trees which may be killed by fire thrown or broken by the wind or injured by other natural causes and shall under the direction of the Commission be privileged to make necessary thinnings or removal of undesirable species of trees in order to improve the condition of the remaining trees and under the same direction may be privileged to remove therefrom such timber from time to time as may be necessary and essential for use upon the neighboring cleared lands of the said owner for general farm purposes

Section 7 Any tract of land while remaining in the class of auxiliary forest reserves as above provided may nevertheless be sold or incumbered by or through the owner thereof but no sale or incumbrance whether voluntary under any statutory or judicial proceeding whatsoever whether of any state or of the United States shall effect a discharge of any obligation imposed under this act and said land shall be removed from said class only in accordance with the provisions hereof

Section 8 That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

BILL OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 1229 (House Bill No. 1367), on third reading, entitled:

An Act empowering county controllers to designate a clerk in his office other than the chief clerk to countersign warrants on the county treasurer when properly drawn during such periods as any said county controller may have so designated such clerk in writing to the county treasurer in counties having over eight hundred thousand inhabitants and less than fourteen hundred thousand inhabitants go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1261, as follows:

An Act to authorize incorporated or unincorporated churches cemeteries or burial associations owning burial grounds located wholly or in part in any city township or borough of this Commonwealth to purchase other grounds and to sell and convey in fee simple such portions of their land not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which may have been reconveyed to them or shall have reverted or become acquired by them under the terms hereof or otherwise and providing for and authorizing the several courts of quarter sessions of the several counties of this Commonwealth upon petition of the managers officers and other persons vested with the management of said burial ground to make orders and decrees for the removal of all bodies interred in such burial grounds or cemeteries belonging to any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association and to provide for the purchase of new lots the cost of the removal of such bodies and compensation to the owners of the lot or lots therein the sale of the ground and disposition of the proceeds derived from such sale

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the outhority of the same That whenever any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association own burial grounds wholly or in part in any city township or borough in this Commonwealth and by reason of the growth thereof as well as for sanitary purposes it is deemed necessary or desireable in the opinion of the said church cemetery or burial association to change the location thereof or if by reason of the opening of streets roads or public passages around or through the same a portion of the property has become angular and partly surrounded by improvements or if by reason of the proximity of adjacent property the interment of the dead may in the interest of public health be prohibited in any part or parts of the ground belonging to any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association aforesaid or from other causes any burial ground belonging to or in charge of any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association has ceased to be used for interments and has become so neglected as to become a public nuisance or that the remains of bodies interred in any such neglected or disused cemetery in any city township or borough interfere with and hinder the improvements extensions and general progressive interest of any city township or borough it shall be lawful for such incorporated or unicorporated church cemetery or burial association and they are hereby authorized and empowered to purchase new and more suitable grounds in the vicinity of such city township or borough of such extent and area as they shall deem expedient or to purchase lots or sections in other properly regulated burial ground or cemetery in the vicinity of such city township or borough for the burial of the dead and to purchase from the holders of lots in their own grounds the said lots whether interments have been made in them or not and provide for the reinterment of bodies that may be buried in any of the lots so purchased by them And the board of managers trustees or other officials in whom is vested the management of the affairs of such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association are also hereby authorized and empowered to contract and agree with the owners of the lots in which interments have been made to remove from said lots the dead to such new locations upon such terms as may or can be mutually agreed upon And in case any bodies have been interred in lots in such cemetery or cemeteries and the owners of the lots in which the interments are made cannot after diligent search by the board of managers trustees or other officials be found such bodies may be removed by the aforesaid managing officials to lots in such grounds so purchased by said incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association or to lots or sections in other properly regulated burial ground or cemetery in the vicinity of such city township or borough and interred therein the expense of such removal and interment enclosures and improvements to be borne by such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association and upon such removal being made the ground from which the bodies are so removed shall be deemed and considered vacated for burial purposes and revert to and become the property of such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association making such removal and be taken and considered the same as if said lot or lots had never been sold by the said church cemetery or burial association for the purpose of interment or any other purpose whatsoever And in case the holders of lots in which no interments have been made cannot after diligent search by the managing officials above mentioned be found then the managing officials may in their discretion assign to said owner parts of the ground so purchased equal in value to the said lots the owners of which cannot be found or assign to such owners lots of equal value in other properly regulated burial ground or cemetery in the vicinity of such city township or borough or the said managing officials may set apart or hold in trust for the owners of said lots who cannot be found a sum of not less than the original price paid for said lots by the owner and shall hold and securely keep the said sum so set apart for the benefit of the said owners and pay to them whenever they may call for the same and thereupon whenever lots of equal value shall have been set apart on the books of said incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association as having been assigned to said owners who cannot be found in the new and more suitable ground so purchased or in a properly regulated burial ground or cemetery in the vicinity of such city township or borough or as soon as the said managaing officials shall set apart a sum equal to the price paid for the said lots the owners of which cannot be found for the benefit of said owners then and in that case the lots heretofore held by said owners shall revert to and become the property of said incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association in whose ground the same are located as if the same had never been sold for the purpose of interment or any other purpose whatsoever and such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association is hereby further authorized and empowered to sell and convey in fee simple and unrestricted as to use all such portions of their land not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which shall have been reconveyed to them or which have reverted to or become acquired by them as hereinbfore authorized and from which all bodies shall have been removed and to make grant and deliver in the customary form a deed or deeds for the same to the purchaser or purchasers free clear and discharged of any use trust or limitation whatsoever

Section 2 Whenever any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association owns ground wholly or in part in any city township or borough in this Commonwealth and by reason of the growth thereof as well as for sanitary purposes it is deemed necessary or desirable in the opinion of the said church cemetery or burial association to change the location thereof or if by reason of the opening of streets roads or public passages around or through the same a portion of the property has become angular and partly surrounded by improvements and by reason of the proximity of adjacent property the interment of the dead may in the interest of public health be prohibited in the ground belonging to any such church cemetery or burial association aforesaid or from other causes any burial ground belonging to or in charge of any such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association has ceased to be used for interments and has become so neglected as to become a public nuisance or that the remains of bodies interred in any such neglected or disused cemetery in any city township or borough interfere with and hinder the improvements extension and general progressive interest of any city township or borough then and in such case the courts of quarter sessions of the several counties of this Commonwealth upon petition of the managers trustees or other officials in whom is vested the management of the affairs of such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association setting forth that by reason of the growth of said city township or borough it has been necessary to change the location thereof or that by reason of the proximity of adjacent property the interment of the dead in said cemetery or burial ground in the interest of public health has been prohibited or from other causes said burial ground has ceased to be used for interments and has become so neglected as to become a public nuisance or that the remains of bodies therein interfere with and hinder the improvements extensions and general progressive interests of any such city township or borough and the public good and after three weeks' advertisement of hearing in open court for the purpose the said court is hereby vested and empowered with full power and authority after a full hearing of the parties therein proofs and allegations to authorize and direct the removal of the remains of all the dead from such cemetery or burial ground to such other suitable ground as said managers trustees or officers may have procured in the vicinity of such city township or borough for the reinterment of the bodies or to such lots or sections in a properly regulated burial ground or cemetery in the vicinity of such city borough or township and to order and decree that the ground of such cemetery be forever vacated for burial purposes

Section 3 After the removal of the bodies as provided for in section two the said court of quarter sessions may upon petition of the said managers trustees or other officers referred to in said section and upon being satisfied that the order of the court has been duly complied with authorize and empower the said managers trustees or other officers in whom is vested the management of such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association to sell said burial ground at public or private sale either as a whole or divided into lots as they may deem most advisable and most likely to realize the most money and to make execute and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers a deed or deeds therefor which deed or deeds shall vest in said purchaser or purchasers a perfect and indefeasible fee simple title free and clear from all claims or interest of said incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association and of all owner or owners of lot or lots in said burial ground the proceeds thereof being substituted in all respects for said ground

Section 4 The proceeds of such sale or sales shall be applied and distributed by said managers trustees or other officers in whom is vested the management of such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association as follows (1) to the payment of the expenses of removing said bodies and the monuments or tombstones erected or maintained in such cemetery including the purchase of new grounds or new lots in a properly regulated burial ground or cemetery in the vicinity of such city township or borough (2) to the compensation or payment to lot owners in said burial ground in which no bodies have been interred and (3) the residue after defraying all necessary expenses incident to the removal of said bodies and interring the same in a careful manner to be held in trust for lot owners who cannot be found after diligent search and for each other uses objects and purposes as said incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association may order direct and appoint

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1281, as follows:

An Act defining the water resources of the Commonwealth providing for the taking of an inventory thereof by the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania vesting in said Commission certain powers and duties providing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry the same into effect

Whereas, Governor Tener in his message to the General Assembly has called attention to the expediency of taking an inventory of the water resources of the Commonwealth in order that legislation may be enacted to provide for their conservation and utilization under proper State control in a manner which will best promote the interests of all of the people of the State; therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the term "water resources" as used in this act includes all rivers streams and underground waters and all bodies of surface water either in whole or in part within this State

Section 2 It shall be the duty of the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania to make a complete inventory of all the water resources of the Commonwealth and collect all pertinent data facts and information in connection therewith and to classify tabulate record and preserve the same and upon the basis thereof to determine the points at which reservoirs may be constructed for the purpose of minimizing floods of storing and conserving water for power and other utilization and distribution of water and water-power of increasing the low water flow of rivers and streams for the purpose of navigation and generally to devise all possible ways and means to conserve and develop the water supply and water resources of the Commonwealth for the use of the people thereof To the end and object aforesaid the said commission shall study consider and determine upon a public policy with regard to the marketing and equitable distribution of the water to be derived from the water resources of the Commonwealth to the restoration development and improvement of transportation by water to the supply of water for domestic and industrial use and to the conservation of water resources by the aid of forestation The Commission shall present a report in writing to the next session of the General Assembly setting forth the result of such inventory together with such recommendations and suggestions for legislation upon the basis thereof as to it may seem expedient and advisable The said Commission is hereby authorized and directed to publish and have printed for general distribution five thousand copies of such report

Section 3 The Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania shall employ such persons expert or otherwise as may be needed for the purpose of making the said inventory and report as aforesaid and for the purpose of carrying on any and all of its work heretofore authorized or that may be hereafter authorized and at such compensation as may be fixed by the said Commission

Section 4 The Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania is hereby authorized and empowered to purchase such supplies and material of any and every kind as may be incidental to or necessary in the prosecution of its work if in its judgment it is necessary in order to expedite and more efficiently carry on its work

Section 5 In the performance of the work hereby authorized the members of the Water Supply Commission and any agent or employee thereof are authorized to enter and re-enter upon any land or premises and may make any survey or measurement or collect any data demed necessary Any person who shall prevent or attempt to prevent any such entry or re-entry or any such work aforesaid or who shall destroy or deface or disturb any mark stake device or apparatus used or intended to be used in carrying on said work shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding before any alderman magistrate or justice of the peace of the county be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars with costs of prosecution or in default thereof shall be sentenced to undergo an imprisonment in the jail of the county for a period not exceding ten days

Section 6 The sum of one hundred fifty thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, I am very much afraid that some of the members of this body may have a wrong idea of the nature of these bills. These bills have been drawn by the Water Commission for the purpose of correcting certain abuses existing at the present, particularly on private streams and privately owned dams. The prime motive which prompted the drawing of these bills were the Austin flood and the Johnstown flood. The next bill, or the bill under consideration at this present moment, is the bill which provides for taking an inventory of every stream and rivulet in the State of Pennsylvania for the purpose of conserving the water resources of the State. These three companion bills are drawn by the Department. I wish to make this as an explanation before the members vote on the particular bill.

And the question recurring,

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. ENDSLEY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1322 (House Bill No. 1604), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend an act entitled "An Act to establish a Department of Agriculture and to define its duties and provide for its proper administration" approved March thirteenth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five as amended by the acts of April fourteenth one thousand nine hundred and three and June seventh on thousand nine hundred and seven by adjusting the salaries of the officers and other persons appointed to service in said Department be recommitted to the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1344; entitled:

An Act to safeguard certain civil rights regardless of race creed color or descent and to impose penalties for violation of this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Franklin, Mr. Hoke.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Franklin, Mr. Hoke, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to know from the Senator what reason he has to ask that this bill be postponed.

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, I ask this because I just noticed it for the first time this morning and have not had time to get the sentiment of my district. I live in a border county and this is an important bill for my county, and I would like to get the sentiment of my district before voting on this bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED FOR THE PRESENT.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume the consideration of Senate Bill No. 841 (House Bill No. 701), on final passage postponed for the present, entitled:

An Act establishing a commission of water works in boroughs and incorporated towns of this Commonwealth providing for the appointment of commissioners of waters works and prescribing their powers and duties

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 841 (House Bill No. 701), entitled:

An Act establishing a commission of water works in boroughs and incorporated towns of this Commonwealth providing for the appointment of commissioners of water works prescribing their powers and duties and providing for the condemnation of real estate within or beyond the territorial limits of said borough or incorporated town

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, the Senators have been exceedingly indulgent with this bill, and it was defeated, I think, under a misapprehension when it was voted down. I have tried to accommodate everybody and as usual when you try to please everybody you please nobody that is in the first instance. In the second instance, I tried to please those who were interested in the bill, and I believe that I have succeeded, and for that reason I have seen most of the members and I expect after they understand this bill they will now vote for it, and I wish to state that it affects municipalities who desire that their water works shall be run according to an economical basis, which has not been done in the past in some of these municipalities. It gives the boroughs the right or incorporated cities the right to ask the court to appoint a commission for a period of three years to run the water works. It only applies to municipal water works and after three years if the councils desire to rescind that action they can notify the court and the water works will be continued to be run by the municipality as its property. I submit it is an alternative bill, nothing compulsory on the part of any municipality to accept it, but any municipality which desires to exercise this right or power can exercise it, and I trust that the members of the Senate will now vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we thank Thee for the return of the morning and for the renewal of the daily blessings. We love to believe that Thou art always about us and that these gifts of the day in which we rejoice are the loving gifts of a Father's hand. Thou art with us in the joy and freshness of the morning, as in the serenity and peacefulness of the evening and in the quiet hours of sleep, and now. before we enter actively on the duties of the day, we pause for a moment to communicate with Thee. We need Thee every hour of every day, for however honest and earnest our desires and purposes, when the excitement of labor comes and we are brought into contact with our fellow men and meet the swift succession of suggestions and emotions which experience brings, we are apt to forget our purposes and to be stirred to restlessness and fretfulness and irritation and anger and evil thinking and evil speaking. We are not sufficient unto ourselves; our sufficiency is in Thee. So we ask that Thou wouldst go with us into the day and guard us and guide us through every hour. May we be earnest and faithful in the work before us; may we have strength to resist the temptations which shall come; may we put watch and guard over word and deed and may all that enters into the day and all that issues out of it be such as that when we retire to rest at the close of it, there shall be no compunctions of conscience and no feelings of regret and Thy name shall have the praise of it forever. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1667, entitled:

An Act requiring the recorder of deeds of the several counties to keep a docket or docket open for inspection by the public showing the entry and filing of instruments with him and to permit abstracts of the same to be made for publication providing a penalty for non compliance

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like the sponsor to state what the purpose of this bill is? What it is to do?

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to require recorderes of deeds to keep their dockets open to the public. In some counties the recorders refuse to give access to the record and this act will only require all records to be kept open for inspection and facilitate the publication of news relating to property transactions and it does not conflict with existing laws, I am informed, and will work no hardship and does not carry any appropriation with it.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, as a matter of inquiry, is it not the general custom for the indices in the various counties to show something of an abstract? That is to say, the location of the property, the date of the deed, the consideration in many cases and the place where the deed is properly filed, and is it not a further fact that all public records are open to public inspection at all times? I am not thoroughly conversant with the custom throughout the entire State, certainly not, but I do not know in a great majority of the counties they have a system of recording deeds which shows those things which will indicate the location of the property, the consideration, and the date of the deed, and the page and volume of the file where it is recorded and that those records are, as a matter of course. and as a matter of fact, open to public inspection. Now it is a privilege, Mr. Speaker, and a privilege that it seems to me is the only thing reached in this bill which makes more records for counties which will require more clerks to do more work, which will not be more beneficial to the public. The only thing that it seems to me that is reached in this bill under its present form, is to show that that matter is open to the public and to the public press. What is it the public's business if Tom Brown buys from John Smith a certain piece of property for a certain consideration whether the entire public knows that or not? The records are there and anybody who is sufficiently interested can go their and examine the records. But why should the public press be allowed at every whip stitch that a piece of property is sold or a mortgage is recorded. why should the public press make publication of that and advertise it to the world? There are only a few people. as a rule, interested in a thing of that kind. I cannot get away from the thought. Mr. Speaker, that the only thing this bill will do is that it will make a few more records and a little more publicity and a little more work. If the newspaper can get hold of it, and sometimes to the discomfiture of the people, with no good results.

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, this bill does not require any extra work. It does make it obligatory for the recorders to allow newspaper correspondents to have access to the records which they already have. There are, as I understand, a few counties in the State that have recorders who refuse to allow the privilege of seeing the records. This is not a common thing, and I see no reason why it should not become a law.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading of H. R. bill No. 1972 (Senate No. 572), entitled:

An Act to validate appointment heretofore made of persons to act as patrolmen and firemen of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill ought not to pass. It is an attempt to validate the appointment of men who were appointed in plain violation of the law governing the civil service rules in cities of the first class. There are five cases now in litigation and this bill proposes to take them out of the hands of the court by means of the act of this Legislature and with it the adjudication of these cases. If these appointments are to be validated, of course the wisdom would be to wait until the Superior Court had declared the law upon the subject, then it would be possible for the Legislature to act in the light of the developments. This is the way the thing would work: ,

> "The original list for the Third District (i. e. the fifth ward) contained only five names. Four other names were added to it which has originally appeared on lists for other Districts. This led to an examination of the three other District lists for the Third District, published during the next two years. All of these lists originally contained but few names. On each of these Third District lists, however, a large number of additional names were inserted from time to time of men whose names had originally appeared on lists for other Districts. The reason for this seems very plain. The Third District lists contained originally, only from two to eleven names, while lists of other districts often contained from twenty to forty names. It was difficult, under the Civil Service law, which requires the appointment, of the highest names, to reach favored applicants whose standing was low on these other longer lists, but by transferring them to the Third District lists they would be found near enough the top of such lists to receive early appointments.'

And so they worked by switching again and again from district to district and making and pretending that they were changing the districts, without doing so, and they succeeded in appointing fourteen hundred men.

When this bill was up for second reading I suggested that if an amendment were inserted in the bill by which it would be made possible for the adjudication to be had, it might be possible to overcome the objections to the bill. It is evident in regard to what the supporters of this bill are trying to do: They are trying to prevent adjudication upon this matter in order that if in time the old organization would again have power in Philadelphia, there would be no law to prevent them from doing the same thing. That they can put in any number of men in the public service who are unfit if by some variation of the law there would be no adjudication. I say this bill ought to be defeated.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, it will be only fair to the gentleman from Philadelphia that you gentlemen ought to know that there is no allegation of any kind against any individual or against anyone of these men who hold these appointments. There is no allegation that they are not fit to hold these positions. They have been appointed as far back as six years ago—from four to six years ago. There is no allegation that they have not served faithfully or that they are not now serving faithfully in their various positions or that they have ever during all this time abused their positions or disobeyed the rules and regulations. They do not in any way give the right of the opponents of this bill to vote against it because of personal inefficiency, because of the character of the men who hold these offices. I simply want to say to you, in addition, that Director Porter and Councils will do anything in their power for these men, finding that these men have been placed properly and what I want to say to you in conclusion on behalf of the vast majority of the Philadelphia delegation in this House, that it would be totally unfair to have anything hanging over the heads of these men. If you oppose this bill and defeat it, it is liable to jeopardize their rights which they have held through the six years and none of them less than four years. The amendment which the gentleman from Philadelphia attempted to introduce last week, was not practical. There is no allegation on the part of the opponents of this bill that any one of these officers appointments were declared to be illegal. Their appointment was legal. In justice to the men who have been appointed by the city of Philadelphia and their families, we ask you to support this bill.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman who has just proceeded me, Mr. Speiser, is in error to this extent: there is an allegation against every one of these men. They are not as good men as would have been there, had the men higher on the civil service list been appointed under the proper legal method instead of under the illegal method which was used to appoint these men. Some of them are under size and others are not as skilled as they ought to be as is proved by their location far down on the civil service list. They ar not as tall and they are not as good men as could have been pressed into the service, had this scheme not been practiced. They attempted to change residences in order to take them through by this scheme. I say there is an allegation against every one because they are not as good men as could have been secured, if the thing had been legally carried through and because they are undersize.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott, to my mind, seems to wish to leave the impression that the officers appointed under the district rules, are many of them undersize according to the regulations of the department. There is no such thing at the present time. The officers who have proven unfit and who were undersize; and the men who have not demonstrated the fact that they are good officers, have been discharged under this present administration. What is the fairness involved in this proposition? Here are police officers and fire men who gave up their work—their other work—and under the regulations fixed by the Civil Service Commission took their examinations and passed and were appointed. These officers did not make up the district lists; the district lists were made up under color of the authority of the Civil Service Commission. So we hold against these men by reason of their being pushed into office and have demonstrated their fitness for the work—are we to hold these men who have given up their other employment and who are depending for their sustenance on their salaries, are we to hold against them? What happens to them by the misdirection or owing to the technical error on the part of the Civil Service Commission? I say that all the men who are asking for validation under this bill are really efficient police officers and really efficient firemen or, otherwise, the present efficient director of Public Safety of Philadelphia would not keep them on the force. No objection would have been raised to this bill if the amendment proposed last Thursday would have been carried through by the House. That amendment excluded from the provisions of this bill the present five cases now in litigation. I say, Mr. Speaker, that if we are going to invalidate one case of these fourteen hundred you have got to invalidate all. You can not make flesh of fourteen hundred and fish of five. The validation of these appointments is only a matter of fairness to the men who have been appointed under color of authority by the legal civil service commission.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say a word on the condition which prevailed at the time when most of these men were appointed—at least the condition that we were told that prevailed. I remember distinctly when many of these men were appointed: it was at a time when business was in such condition that men were hard to get.

In order to get enough men to fill the various offices in the Police Department, it was necessary to let down a little the requirements for height. This was done and many good men apopinted. I know personally many officers in Philadelphia who are efficient and just as good men as could have been obtained, who are perhaps an inch to an inch and a half short of the required height, and of my own knowledge I know that they are just as efficient as those who are six to eight inches over the height. I see no objection to this bill in all fairness.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I call for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate, with the information that th eHouse has passed the same without amendment.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as not voting on Senate Bill No. 572. I represent certain litigants who would be affected by this bill.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Senate Bill No. 297, file folio 2143, on page 2 of today's calendar, bill on third reading postponed this morning, for the purpose of amendment.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1935 (Senate Bill No. 297), entitled:

An Act authorizing any city that has been or shall be granted the consent of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to construct and maintain a dam in any navigable river or stream to purchase acquire enter upon take use and appropriate private property within or without its territorial limits for that purpose and providing the manner in which damages sustained shall be determined and collected

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 1, line 7; amend by striking out "corporte" and inserting the word "corporate."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. KAISER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 1076, file folio 8065, on page 14 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 1076, entitled:

An Act amending section one of an act entitled "An Act dividing the cities of this State into three classes with respect to their population and designating the mode of ascertaining and changing the classification thereof in accordance therewith" approved June twenty-fifth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five by dividing cities of the State into four classes with respect to their population and providing that the laws relating to cities of the second class shall apply to cities of the second and third class as herein provied

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kaiser.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KAISER. Yes, sir.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, what essential differences are there between the cities of Scranton and Pittsburgh which require this further subdivision of cities,—further classification?

Mr. KAISER. Mr. Speaker, it is a difference of population.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, is that the only difference?

Mr. KAISER. Mr. Speaker, there are 129,000 in Scranton and very nearly 600,000 in Pittsburgh.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, is that the only difference that the gentleman from Allegheny can think of?

Mr. KAISER. Mr. Speaker, there may be other reasons, but I did not draw this bill up. The bill was drawn up by some of the attorneys of Pittsburgh, and probably Mr. Allen or Mr. Stein or some of the other attorneys could answer that question better than I could.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the House to the fact that this is a bill which classifies the cities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in four classes instead of three. I do not know just how this bill appears on the calendar in this place; it seems to me that this bill was defeated on second reading about a month ago if my memory serves me correctly.

I want to say at various times attempts have been made to classify the cities further than that classification provided in the Act of 1875, namely, the classification into three divisions. They have been classified into five classes and into seven and in turn those classifications have been declared unconstitutional because there was not any essential difference based purely upon population. It is quite apparent that the purpose of this act is simply to cut off Pittsburgh from Scranton and throw all the rest of the cities of Pennsylvania into cities of the fourth class and the result of that is going to be this: That every session representatives from Philadelphia are coming in here and they are going to submit a lot of legislation and ask us to vote for it because it applies only to Philadelphia. Another class of representatives will come here and say to us, they want legislation and say they want to get it and it will not work hardship on anybody else because it applies only to Scranton. Another class will come in—we have a great deal here which applies only to Pittsburgh—and they will say that it applies to Pittsburgh only, and the rest of Pennsylvania, the fourth class cities and the townships and boroughs won't have any time to legislate at all. In other words, the evil which was meant to be corrected by the Constitution of 1874 coming back again. We are classifying too much. We are classifying purely for the purpose of getting special legislation. It is admitted, it is apparent on the face that this classification is simply for the purpose of cutting off Pittsburgh from Scranton in order that they may get through legislation which Scranton may perhaps object to and which the rest of the House may object to because it affects other than the City of Pittsburgh only. I say that the rest of the cities of Pennsylvania, a great class, those under one hundred thousand population, the class to which I belong, the third class cities, I say that they object to this classification.

I believe that there is a further objection to this bill and it is this, that it says with respect to laws applying to cities of the third class, after the passage of this Act all laws now on the books shall apply to cities of the fourth class. What about the laws now on the calendars and now introduced in the two houses which have not yet passed? What about commission form of government? What if this bill goes through and is signed before the commission form of government is signed, which applies only to cities of the third class. This bill says that all laws now on the books applying to third class cities shall apply to fourth class and it does not say anything about the bills now introduced by the representatives from the third class cities and which they are anxious to have written upon the books and which if passed would not apply to them at all under the language of this act.

I ask you to defeat this bill because it is unconstitutional, because you are going back to the condition existing before the Act of 1875, and lastly because of justice to the rest of Pennsylvania which has some standing in the Legislature.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of my very good colleague from Lehigh who has just proceeded me and for the information of the lay member of the House as well as the lawyers. I will say that this bill has been drafted by the Law Department of the City of Pittsburgh. It has been given very careful consideration and I may say upon the honor and reputation of all the able lawyers who compose that Department of Pittsburgh that the bill is constitutional. Besides if there were any doubt on it, the Judiciary General Committee has passed upon it and not even Dick Baldwin, the defender of the Constitution, or even my friend Jones have a word of objection to it, so that, gentleman, with that recommendation, I am satisfied and you gentlemen will agree with me that the bill is constitutional.

Now in answering the further objection of what will become of all the laws that we are now passing for third class cities, I call the attention of the gentleman from Lehigh and you men of the House to the last section 2, page 3, which says—I direct the special attention of my friend Miller to this—that the Act shall take effect the first of January, 1914, and this section was inserted to meet the very contingencies that my colleague has just referred to, and that is, that all bills and all acts now passing shall apply to fourth class cities as herein provided in place of third class cities as they now stand.

Now gentlemen, just a word as to the need of this bill, The City of Pittsburgh, by legislative yoke is joined to the City of Scranton. Now that was a peculiar and, as we believe, an unfortunate match. Both Pittsburgh and Scranton are tied in the same class and both of us would like to separate from each other. Pittsburgh, having great respect for Scranton, does not want to travel in her class and Scranton agrees with us that they ought not to be in our class. Now all this does is create another class of population. Cities of one million will remain in the first class and the cities of a half million, like Pittsburgh, will become the second class. Now gentlemen I am asking you to vote for this bill because it affects two cities, Pittsburgh and Scranton, with a population of almost seven hundred thousand. Now you gentlemen will remember that all the third class cities of the State have only a population of a little over eight hundred thousand, so that we are not asking any special legislation or any laws in the interest of a handful of men. I repeat, that the two cities now in the second class almost equal to all the third class cities combined.

Now, my friends, the City of Pittsburgh, is just in the midst of a great period of reconstruction. We are now making improvements that will cost millions of dollars, that will mean development for generations yet to come. We find that we are hampered because we are joined with Scranton and Scranton is of the same opinion, and all we ask you gentlemen is that the City of Pittsburgh, like the City of Philadelphia, shall be given the opportunity of home rule. We at home know what improvements we want; we know what our line of policy is to be and we know what laws are best needed for our local development. Scranton also knows the same and they too, have their local problems to work out; but unofrtunately the class of legislation suited to Pittsburgh will not suit the local problems of Scranton and all we ask of you gentlemen is to separate us, cut this imaginary knot which ties us together so that each city can work out its own salvation along its own lines. There can be no objection to that and the only objection is that of a sentimental nature. People do not want to be classified away down in the class. They seem to think that if they are left in the fourth class cities it might imply something against the standing or reputation or importance of the community; but let me ask you in all fairness, don't let a foolish or sentimental objection interfere with a much needed progressive development; don't permit the foolish idea that if you lower these cities only in the scale of classification you interfere with or affect their local rights. After all it is not the number of people who determine the character of the community, but it is rather the character of the men who live in it and the character of people living in it and the class of government given to the locality. That is what determines its class rather than the people who live in its confines and therefore I ask my good friends in the House and my friends from Philadelphia and all my friends who live in the boroughs and townships and all our friends who live in the third class cities, to look upon this bill upon its merits and vote for it because it is necessary and let us work out our own local problems in a true home rule style.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, if the laws of Pittsburgh and the laws that govern Scranton were compulsory, then I would be in favor of this bill, but the laws of Pittsburgh and the laws of Scranton are optional as a rule. The majority of those laws have a minimum and maximum wage. That is, some of the positions held in the City of Pittsburgh we will say pay nine thousand dollars for the maximum while the minimum would be twenty-five hundred dollars. Scranton is able to meet the minimum wage and I think that this bill should not pass for that reason. Mr. Stein has also told us that the sentimental side is what will be one objection to the passage of this bill. I will admit that the sentimental side will keep me from voting for this bill. In the first place, we have twenty-four third class cities in the State of Pennsylvania. In comparison with Pittsburgh's six hundred thousand and Scranton with its population of one hundred and twenty-nine thousand there is of course a great variance and a great difference. But I can say that Scranton is equal to meet the demands placed upon it by the City of Pittsburgh. while the third class cities will be put back to the fourth class. Now it does not seem right that the members here who belong to third class cities and who will take the pride of a man in his city should be asked to vote for this bill. Now we have his home or the pride of a man in his city should be asked to vote for this bill. Now we have perhaps a bill introduced in this House to make first class cities. There will have to be three million population. There is not a man from Philadelphia City who would vote for that bill. If, for instance, a bill was introduced to place cities of the second class up to one million, there is not a man from Pittsburgh who would vote for that bill, and yet they will come before this body and ask us to vote to place third class cities back in the fourth class purely and simply because Scranton wants to get rid of Pittsburgh and Pittsburgh wants to get rid of Scranton.

I say these laws mostly, nine-tenths of them, are optional and whether or not Scranton wants to comply with the laws of Pittsburgh is up to the councils and people of Scranton, and therefore I say that sentiment and the pride of a man in his city is such that you should not compel him in a third class city to place himself in a fourth class city, and I think the members should vote to kill this bill.

Mr. MILLER. I listened to the former gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stein, and he affirmed what the sponsor of the bill had stated, that the only difference is a difference of population and the desire of this classification is simply that Pittsburgh wants to get things that Scranton objects to and Scranton may desire legislation that Pittsburgh objects to.

I did not raise the question of the constitutionality of the bill in order to avoid two roll calls, but when you come to vote upon this bill I want you to remember that attempts of this sort have been tried before. The classification of five was made years ago. Then there was a classification of seven and the classification of seven in Ayres' Appeal, 122 Penna. 265, was declared unconstitutional and the Court used this language: It says that there should be some peculiar difference which justifies a classification. The Court uses this language: "The underlying principle of all the cases is that classification with a view to legislating for either class separately is essentially unconstitutional unless a necessity therefore exists, a necessity springing from manifest peculiarities, clearly distinguishing those of one class from each of the other classes and imperatively demanding legislation for each class separately that would be useless and detrimental to the others."

The only manifest peculiarity, the only difference pointed out here is a difference of population. It does not show that there is a demand and that peculiar legislation should apply to Pittsburgh that should not likewise apply to Scranton; and as the gentleman from Allegheny remarked, who preceded me, these laws are very largely optional with each city, having in mind the principle of home rule. That is, that each city can choose to apply them if they wish to and there will be no hardship in continuing the classification of the cities as they have been since 1875; and I trust that you gentlemen will vote against this bill.

Mr. ALWORTH. Mr. Speaker, as has been stated by the gentleman from Allegheny, this bill relates particularly and practically to the Cities of Pittsburgh and Scranton. Every member of this House knows that a city of 500,000 people has conditions which require laws and which require legislation that is not applicable to a city of 130,000. As the gentleman from Lehigh has just stated, I believe that this law is constitutional for the very reason which he has indicated. There are peculiarities about the City of Scranton, its location and its variety of industries, that are peculiarly different from those of Pittsburgh, and we have conditions that cannot be met by legislation that is practicable for a city of 500,000 people. Mr. Speaker, the people of Scranton desire this legislation, that they may be divorced from the City of Pittsburgh and get legislation that is suitable for the City of Scranton that would be impracticable for the City of Pittsburgh. I hope that you will see the prasticability of this bill and that you will support it.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I trust that the gentlemen of the House will pardon my occupying their time a second time, but in answer to the citation of my friend from Lehigh to a decision of the Supreme Court in 199 Pennsylvania, in which this classification is upheld by the Supreme Court, I will quote just a few words of the decision:

The very object of classification is to provide different system of government for cities differently situated in regard to their municipal needs. It was recognized that cities varying greatly in population will probably vary so greatly in the amount, importance and complexion of their municipal business, as to require different officers and different systems of administration. Classification therefore is based on difference of municipal affairs, and so long as it relates to and deals with such affairs, the questions of where the lines shall be drawn, and what differences of system shall be prescribed for differences of situation, are wholly legislative. What is a distinction without a difference is largely matter of opinion. No argument, for example, could be more plausible than that there is no real difference in municipal needs, between a city of 99,000 and one of 100,000 population. It is a sufficient answer that the line must be drawn somewhere, and the Legislature must determine where. So long as it is drawn with reference to municipal and not to irrelevant or wholly local matters, the courts have no authority to interfere.

My friend from McKeesport seems to think that these laws pertaining to second class cities are optional. I can excuse him for that opinion, because I know that he is a doctor and not a lawyer, but I wish to say for his information that such laws are mandatory, as you gentlemen of the House know. He also seems to think that this is a quarrel for salaries, that in every case when the laws are passed the salaries are fixed at a maximum and a minimum. That is true in some cases, but that is the smallest thing that we consider. In many ways there is a difference between Pittsburgh and Scranton. Pittsburgh is a large steel manufacturing center, with its local problems that require careful study and wise and prudent administration. Scranton is much smaller and has a different class of population to be governed. Only last week the Governor signed a bill applying to cities of the second class which by the way is the very first bill of its kind in the United States, and that bill permits the partial exemption of real estate from taxation. Scranton did not want that bill because Scranton does not have the same problems as Pittsburgh and we had trouble in getting Scranton to come along on that bill. Under this bill there is a partial immunity or exemption by which we can do away with large vacant estates that exist in Pittsburgh. There is also a partial exemption of machinery and manufacturing plants, and again Scranton has not such questions to meet. Then there is the moral welfare of our city. As you gentlemen know, in all large cities, such as Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, we have the great question of the moral welfare of our people, the question of the underworld. Scranton does not have these things, because of the smaller population, and yet we are compelled, because we are yoked in the same class, to wait until the needs of the other city require it. There are perhaps twenty different matters of the greatest importance, a difference in the industries and a difference in the population, and a difference in the social conditions. Pittsburgh is a manufacturing center, while Scranton has its large agricultural interests which Pittsburgh does not have. All that we ask of you men is to separate us, and put us in the proper class. The only effect that it will have on cities of the third class is that they will be known as cities of the fourth class. This will have no bad effect on those cities, and the entire Commonwealth will be benefited by the change.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have listened with a great deal of pleasure to my friend from Allegheny, Mr. Stein, in his explanation of the benefits to be derived from this measure, as applying to Scranton and Pittsburgh. But I have failed to hear him say one word as to the benefits to be derived from this measure by cities of the third class. The citizens of cities of the third class are as interested in the welfare and progress of their cities as are the citizens of cities of the second class. Take the City of Harrisburg for instance, which I have the honor to represent. Harrisburg has already spent millions of dollars in improvements, and every day is making desperate efforts to increase the population of the city. Why? Because we are proud of the city and want to progress, and we are making a desperate effort to become a city of the second class. We do not propose to retrograde, but we do propose to progress. I am sorry that I have to differ with the gentleman from Allegheny, but I feel that I must vote against this bill.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman desires to know what good this bill will do to cities of the third class, I would like to ask him what harm it will do, to classify them as cities of the fourth class instead of cities of the third class?

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say to the gentleman from Allegheny that we do not know what harm it is going to do to us. I cannot see where it is going to be of any benefit, and it certainly will not benefit the City of Harrisburg, which is a city of the third class.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, this is merely a bill for cities of the third class. Under it the laws that govern cities of the third class will remain the same, without any change whatever, in the governing of cities of the fourth class.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that the sentiment alone is sufficient to compel us to vote against this bill.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the arguments used by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stein, in defense of this bill, ought to appeal to every member of this House. We in this session know that bill after bill has come up affecting Philadelphia, and we know the reason of that. Those who are conversant with the situation in cities of the second class and cities of the third class as they now stand in this Commonwealth, and cities of the first class, will quite agree that conditions regulating the needs in those cities differ. It is well that Philadelphia is in a class of its own, when we stop to think of the rivers and harbors that are terminal points of Trans-Atlantic traffic. So that when we come to legislate in matters of that kind, and it is stated on the floor of the House that the measure affects Philadelphia alone, we leave it to the Philadelphia Representatives to say whether or not such a bill is needed to further their advancement. When we come to a second class city bill, as affecting the conditions of those cities, the members of this House have two delegations to listen to, two delegations that are more widley separated from a standpoint of population than are the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Scranton, with its 130,000 people, and Pittsburgh with its 534,000 people, differ more widely as far as population is concerned than Pittsburgh with its 534,000 and Philadelphia with its population of over a million. The conditions existing in Philadelphia and in Pittsburgh would not justify those two municipalities being in the same classification. In Philadelphia, you have the river front and harbors to meet together with the lowlands. In Pittsburgh you have the hills to contend with and grades to eliminate, and what not? In one place it is tearing down and in another place it is a building up to meet the physical conditions. It has been suggested that no change can be made under the rules as laid down by the courts unless it is shown that the conditions warrant it. What have you in the City of Scranton that corresponds with the physical conditions in the City of Pittsburgh? Those of you who know, know that we ought to have this divorcement. Conditions are entirely different, physically and logically, and has been stated, socially and morally. The larger the cities, the more nearly they correspond in population, of course, and the more nearly similar you find social conditions. Further than that, Mr. Speaker, the only argument that has been brought against this bill has been the argument used by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steele, who says that he is prompted by sentimental reasons alone. I believe that the members of this House as a rule are not so narrow in their views as that, and are a little wider between the eyes, and will not be led astray by such an argument. In answer to the gentleman from Dauphin, I will say that it does not affect any of the laws now governing cities of the third class, with the exception that those cities, if this bill becomes a law, will be known as cities of the fourth class. Would it have any effect upon these cities if there were a provision in the bill that cities of a population of 100,000 were to be called first class cities and those of 100,000 to 500,000 second class cities and those of 500,000 to a million third class cities, and above a million fourth class cities and so on? While same laws which stand upon the statute books to-day still cling to them. It would not change conditions. A rose called by any other name would still be a rose, and so it is with the cities. The status of a third class city does not in the least go back by being called a fourth class city—not in the least.

They say if these classifications went on what would the rural member of this House expect in relation to further legislation. Like many of you who are members of this House, I represent a rural district. I have had more rural legislation than any other kind of legislation and notwithstanding the fact that there have been sentimentalists in and about the City of Pittsburgh who thought because of their classification being third now, it might be fourth under the provisions of this bill, my interest, like theirs, although they may deny it, is in the welfare of that great center around which we are gathered. The outside don't make the center but the centre makes the outside. I ask in reply to the suggestion in relation to legislation that might be offered here, what have the rural districts in this House and preceding Houses received? When you have stood upon the floor of this House and there was something said that this effects only boroughs and townships, and then we were asked for support and then we city members gave that support. Have you at any time seen the narrow-minded suggestion which was made upon the floor of this House this morning to sway the judgment of the members and regulate their votes, and I speak as a rural member. I speak as a compliment to those gentlemen who represent the large centers of population in this great Commonwealth and I only confer the proper compliment when I say that when we have asked, we have received. I take it that there is no member of this House who merely on account of the sentimentalism that may spring in his breast will face these conditions and on account of that sentimentality say you cannot have it. We are here for the purpose of regulating all of the political institutions in this great Commonwealth—be they first class cities or second class cities or third class cities or boroughs or townships, I care not what. We have listened time and time again to the voices that have been raised upon the floor of this House showing these facts when a certain classification which effected not me and not you: that didn't affect our constituents, were under consideration, and what did we do? We said "Aye" for the asking and said "ye shall receive." There is not a man on the floor of this House but knows the great difference now existing in the limitations of populations and the conditions which necessarily arise in adjusting communities, which are growing up, and they know what the difference is between the center of population limited by one hundred thousand population and one million population, and the object is to agree to meet the condition. Not only that, there is not a man on the floor of this House who is acquainted with the topography surrounding a few cities now asking divorcement, but that knows it ought to be brought about. I tell you every member of this House whether in the present classification or in the third or fourth classes or whether in a borough or in a township will support the bill unless, like the gentleman from Allegheny, he be so narrow in his views as to allow the sentiment to stare him in the face and in that case, will put himself upon record accordingly.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I trust that each one of the members of this House will consider this bill wisely before they vote upon it. There has been a good deal said here regarding this classification and regarding sentiments in so far as the third class cities are concerned. I represent a third class city and a city that has been trying to improve its conditions; a city that has been trying to grow in order that it might become a second class city soon. What guarantee have we that if we start and establish this precedent of changing the classification in this manner that two years from now cities of the size of Harrisburg and Reading, who have not quite got into the other class, might come into this House and say that they thought with their population of eighty or eighty-five thousand people they should be divorced from the other third class cities of forty to forty-five thousand and thus come into another class. I say to you Mr. Speaker, that sentiment in so far as that is concerned should control the members representing third class cities here to-day. Mr. Speaker, I don't think the framers of this bill if they wanted to divorce Pittsburgh from Scranton, for Pittsburgh is such a growing community and will soon be able possibly to go into a first class city classification, and I don't think reducing the number of the population would warrant a first class city in order that in a few years Pittsburgh might be able to become a first class city and thus rectify the trouble they now have. The City of Pittsburgh has said that their judges should get as much money as Philadelphia. They think that they have a good deal of interest that seems to be allied with that of Philadelphia. I would have suggested that they should have made a bill that would have placed them in the first class and not try to reduce the rest of us so that we should have to go on and on and try to build up our communities and when we arrive at the one hundred thousand mark, find that we are still not in first class cities and will have to go on fighting for another class. I trust that you will defeat this measure.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, in considering this bill we should consider that the City of Pittsburgh has an assessed valuation of seven hundred million dollars, as against ninety-six million dollars in the City of Scranton. The City of Pittsburgh has on its payroll of their city ten thousand people who are employed by the city; the City of Scranton have but eight hundred people on the payroll of the city. These are the conditions we have to contend with. The City of Pittsburgh has presented to this body for consideration about fifty bills. We in Scranton are progressive, but we are not fast enought to keep up with Pittsburgh and I think the gentlemen who represents third class cities should drop the sentiment part of it and come right down to actual business. We are in the wrong class with Pittsburgh and we are satisfied to be a third class city. It is only a question of time when the gentleman from Delaware will realize that there is no harm in dropping back to one of the other class cities. I realize that there is a vast difference between the population of Pittsburgh and Scranton and I hope that you will vote unanimously for this bill.

Mr. SHERN in the Chair.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1920 (Senate Bill No. 828), entitled:

> An Act to amend an act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to provide in cities of the first class for delivery tickets in the sale of anthracite coal and to authorize the designation of weighing scales and for the proper inspection thereof for weighing coal delivered to purchasers who receive the same by cart wagons or other conveyance and to compel the seller thereof to allow said coal to be weighed to provide for certificates of weight and the effect thereof as evidence to the weight of coal passing such scales and to punish for refusal of seller to allow coal weighed and to punish fraudulent weighing at such scales and to provide for the keeping of docket records thereof by magistrates or justices of the peace"

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate, with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1918 (Senate Bill No. 762), entitled:

> An Act relating to the competency of experts and to the rules of evidence in questions of simulated altered or disputed handwriting declaring and defining some of the existing rules of law upon these subjects and also extending some of the provisions of the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Section 2, line 5, by striking out the words "to the satisfaction of the judge."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be made in accordance wit the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate, with the information that the House has passed the same with amendment, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to call up Senate Bill No. 212, on page 8, of today's calendar. The reason I ask the House to call that bill at this time is this: There is now waiting upon the Governor's desk the Hess bill to make the infliction of the death penalty by electricity. This bill is a bill also pertaining to the death penalty, and in order to become a law must be signed before the other bill. I therefor ask unanimous consent to call up the bill at this time.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1893 (Senate Bill No. 212), entitled:

An Act to amend section seventy-five of the act entitled "An Act to consolidate revise and amend the penal laws of this Commonwealth" approved the thirty-first day of March Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill merely gives the jury in passing upon first degree cases, the right to say whether the death penalty shall be imposed or the life penalty shall be imposed. I think there is no objection to the bill and I trust the House will pass it.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

Rockwell,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1955 (Senate No. 155), entitled:

An Act providing for the discharge from prisons of persons after they have been confined for six months for non-compliance with any order of the court of quarter sessions for the desertion and non-support of their wives or children or both

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I think we will make a mistake if we enact this bill into a law. The bill provides that in any case of desertion, where a husband has deserted his wife and children and has been committed to the goal by the court of quarter sessions, that after he has been there for six months that he can be discharged without any discretion of the quarter sessions judge. The present law is this: If a husband deserts his wife and children, after a proper hearing, an order is made that he shall pay a certain amount, and default of paying that amount he is committed to the county goal. The time when he shall be discharged is under the entire discretion of the quarter sessions judge. As this bill was originally drafted, as you will no doubt remember, the time limit was placed at two years. It was so amended, as it now stands, to make it six months, thus if I desert my wife and still have plenty of property, and an order is made to compel me to pay so much a week for her support, I can say that I won't pay it and be committed to goal. I can lie there six months, and, under this bill, be discharged without any discretion of the judge and go scot free. It seems to me that this is a backward step.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROCKWELL. I will.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if it is not provided that in case where a man has been discharged at the end of six months, and still refuses to make payment, that he can again be arrested?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I think possibly he could. But, Mr. Speaker, I have one instance in my own practice where a man was arrested for non-support and he had some property secreted where we could not get hold of it. He said I won't pay my wife one cent and will lie in goal until I rot. After being there for six months he made an application for discharge which the court refused. He made another application which was refused and was kept there for about a year and a half until he came to his senses and came down with his money. Under this bill, he could have been discharged at the end of six months. It seems to me that this is a backward step in our criminal jurisdiction and practice, and the bill should not be enacted into a law.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROCKWELL. I will.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman if, when he speaks of the criminal going scot free, whether it was the result of the engagement of the services of that eminent counsel from Philadelphia?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, in my remarks I had reference to neither John R. K. Scott, nor S. B. Scott.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative, and the bill falls.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1652, file folio 8103, entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the more effectual protection of the public health in the several municipalities of this Commonwealth" approved the eighteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five providing that all principal or other persons in charge of schools are hereby required to refuse admission of any child to the school or schools under their charge or supervision except upon a certificate signed by a physician legally qualified to practice medicine setting forth that such child has been successfully vaccinated or that it has previously had smallpox whenever and for a period of twenty-one days after the health authorities of the city borough township or municipality within which such school or schools are located or the State Commissioner of Health shall have given written or printed notice to the said principals or other persons in charge of schools as aforesaid that smallpox (variola or varioloid) exists within dangerous proximity to such school or schools said notice to contain the name and location of the person or persons afflicted with the disease and said notice to be renewable so long as smallpox (variola or varioloid) continues to exist within dangerous proximity to such school or schools and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act was recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation be now reconsidered.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire whether the Chairman of that Committee is present.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richards.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, what is the request?

The SPEAKER. There is a motion before the House to reconsider House Bill No. 1652.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Delaware, I wish to say that this is one of the anti-vaccination bills referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation. The Committee first reported all the bills with a negative recommendation. At the request of the sponsor of one of the bills, the gentleman from Northumberland, the Committee then reconsidered their action and reported the bill to the House as committed. I understand that on last Thursday the House recommitted this bill to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation. I know nothing about that however.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richards permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Chairman of the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation to give us an explanation of the bill and why it should remain in Committee?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I didn't know at all until just a few moments ago that it was back in the committee. It was recommitted to the Committee last Thursday while the Chairman was not present; for what purpose I don't know.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know the reason why the bill should remain in Committee and if there is no reason or otherwise, it should be brought back and put on the calendar?

Mr. AMBLER. Mr. Speaker, during my absence on last Thursday, this bill was on second reading and some one moved to recommit it to the Committee. I feel that I would like to have this bill come out on the floor and have a hearing.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill was recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. AMBLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 430, House Bill No. 1813, file folio 2557 of the Senate, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the nineteenth day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine entitled "An Act to regulate the practice of osteopathy in the State of Pennsylvania to provide for the establishment of a State Board of Osteopathy Examiners to provide for the examining and licensing of osteopathys in this State and to provide penalties for the violation of this act" as amended by an act approved the eleventh day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleventh entitled "An Ast to amend sections nine and ten of an act entitled 'An Act to regulate the practice of osteopathy in the State of Pennsylvania to provide for the establishment of a State Board of Osteopathic Examiners to define the powers and duties of said Board of Osteopathic Examiners to provide for the examing and licensing of osteopaths in this State and to provide penalties for the violation of this act' approved the nineteenth day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine by providing a final date for the registration of certain practitioners of osteopathy by defining what constitutes a reputable school or college of osteopathy within the meaning of this act and by vesting in the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners authority to determine the reputability of osteopathic schools or colleges and the right to determine reciprocal relations between States" was defeated be reconsidered.

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. AMBLER. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of reconsidering this vote is to have this bill recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation in order that these objectionable amendments may be taken out. That is the only purpose of reconsidering this vote.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state that last Monday night this bill was considered and I opposed it very vigorously because it permitted the registered osteopaths to place on a card the fact of license. There was one small clause in the bill to which there was objection by the Osteopathy Society of Philadelphia. Because of that clause, I opposed it and the bill was stricken from the calendar because it was opposed for the same reason by the House. My understanding now is that this society is perfectly willing that this bill should be passed providing the objectionable clause is stricken from the bill. My understanding of the status of this bill at the present time is this: That those persons who are now interested in having this bill recommitted desire to have the objectionable features of the bill stricken out and then have it considered by this House without that feature embodied in it. I have no objection to that whatever. I, therefore, ask the members of the House to vote for the recommitment of the bill to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, there seems to be a misunderstanding in relation to this bill. I made some remarks upon it when it was up for consideration the other day, opposing it. I have been consulted this morning in relation to this by the Osteopathic interests and they asked me to oppose any motion to reconsider the bill. I don't feel that we ought to do this. I don't know what the amendment is going to be but the bill is dead and I think we ought to let it stay buried.

The SPEAKER. On the motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill was dropped from the calendar, a division is called for and 52 gentlemen voting in the affirmative and 63 in the negative,

The motion to reconsider falls.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 1048 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the resolution.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

The resolution was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly

RECESS.

Mr. FRANK GRAY. Mr. Speaker, I call for the order of the day.

The SPEAKER. The hour of one o'clock having arrived the House will take a recess until three o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 3 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The private secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented the following communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows:

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. NEEL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. NEEL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. NEEL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Also by striking out all of line 1, Section 1, and inserting in lieu thereof the words: "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, by striking out the words "may lawfully" in line 6, and insert in lieu thereof "is hereby authorized to."

Also by adding the following section on page 2:

"Section 3. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed, provided, however, that this act shall not be construed to conflict in any way with any of the powers, duties or privileges of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, or its agents."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 642.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 16, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 642, entitled:

"An Act to authorize the Board of Commissioners of every township of the first class to establish lights upon State highways and turnpike roads in such townships."

This bill would give the right to commissioners of townships of the first class, whenever and wherever they may deem it expedient, to enter upon any State highway now under the exclusive control of the State Highway Department, to place thereon gas pipes, poles and wires without the consent of, or subject to any regulation by, the State Highway Department, and is therefore objectionable.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law the Governor's objections to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Governor's message be laid upon the table.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Also the following:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1321.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 16, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1321, entitled:

"An Act providing that whenever hereafter in any civil cause in any court of this Commonwealth the verdict of a jury is set aside or the judgment of the court reversed and a new trial ordered the reason or reasons for the order of court shall be stated of record and if such reason or reasons be only that the damages awarded by the verdict are excessive or inadequate or the court erred in its instructions as to the measure of damages the new trial shall be restricted to the question of the damages and the verdict shall stand good in all other respects."

One of the essential features of the existing and long established trial by jury is that, under the instructions of the trial judge as to the law applicable to the facts, the same jury shall try and determine from the evidence before them not merely one or more but all the issues and questions of fact in each particular case. In my judgment, experience has demonstrated that this fundamental principal is wise, and the one best adapted to the administration of justice in all cases at law. The provisions of this bill would radically change it, and, after careful consideration of their practical opperation in any cases of great importance, from the standpoint of public policy, I am convinced that, wholly apart from any question of constitutionality, this bill should not be approved.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law the Governor's objections to the contrary notwithstnding?

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Governor's message be laid upon the table.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Also the following:

APPROVAL OF CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 14, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed Concurrent Resolution from the Senate and House of Representatives, recalling from the Governor for the purpose of amendment House Bill No. 1465, entitled, "An Act to amend section one of an act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and seven, entitled, 'An Act to authorize county commissioners for the purpose of encouraging agriculture and the holding of county agricultural exhibitions to pay annually one thousand dollars to the incorporated agricultural association paying premiums on agricultural exhibits holding an annual exhibition in the county providing for the filing of sworn statements by the claimants with the county commissioners relative to said exhibition and providing for the repayment to the county by State of the sum so paid as amended."

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. BODY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. BODY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BODY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend House Bill No. 1465, file folio 6973, page 3, Section 1, by striking out the word "being" in line 61 and inserting in lieu thereof the word "paying."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

An Act to exempt certain buildings from the provisions relating to fire towers and outside fire escapes of the following acts of Assembly the act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine entitled "An Act to provide for the better security of life and limb in cases of fire in hotels and other buildings" as amended by an act approved the third day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five entitled "An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the better security of life and limb in cases of fire in hotels and other buildings approved eleventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine'" and as furthre amended by an act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven entitled "An Act to amend section one of an act approved the third day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five entitled 'An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the better security of life and limb in cases of fire in hotels and other buildings'" approved the eleventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine extending the provisions thereof to buildings used in while or in part for offices not of fire proof construction" also the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five entitled "A suplement to an act entitled 'An Act amending section one of article three of an act entitled "An Act for the better government of cities of the first class in this Commonwealth" approved the first day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five regulating the construction maintenance and inspection of buildings approved the eighth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three regulating the construction alteration and ventilation of tenement houses and providing for the safety of the inhabitants thereof and providing penalties for the violation of the same" also the act approved the twenty-fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred three entitled an act to further regulate the construction maintenance and inspection of buildings and party walls in cities of the first class.

With information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 1, line 10 by striking out the words "Division of Tenement House Inspection" and insert in lieu thereof the following: "Department of Health and Charities."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Senate?

Mr. Speaker, I just want to say that the amendment inserted in this bill by the Senate was to correct an error in the bill. I think it is a proper amendment and I therefore would ask the House to concur.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 527, file folio 8947, on page 7 of to-day's calendar. entitled:

An Act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs of all kinds and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words "drug" and "poison" and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 483 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. BROSIUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Resovled (if the Senate concur) that House Bill No. 483, entitled,

An Act to amend an act approved the thirteenth day of April one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four entitled "An Act imposing additional taxes for State purposes and to abolish the revenue board" as amended by an act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An act amending section four of an act entitled 'An Act imposing additional taxes for State purpose and to abolish the revenue board' approved the thirtieth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four by requiring the treasurer of each school district and chief officer of each incorporated district to make report under oath to the Auditor General of the amount of scrip bonds or certificates of indebtedness outstanding in their respective districts."

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

The resolution was adopted.

SENATE MESSAGES.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, May 19, 1913.

Whereas, In order to promote and maintain economy and efficiency in the United States Classified Civil Service it seems imperative that a system of retirement or superannuation should prevail; and

Whereas, There have been introduced in the House of Representaitves and in the Senate of the United States respectively bills to create such retirement or superannuation; and

Whereas, The bills introduced in the House of Representatives in Congress, respectively known as H. R. 5139 and Senate 7887, would bring about such enactment of law on a just basis; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby recommends to the Congress of the United States the speedy passage of the above mentioned bills, and urges the Senators and the members of the House of Representatives in Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to give their earnest support to the said bills: and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth is hereby instructed to forward, immediately after the adoption of this resolution, a copy of same to the President of the Senate of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives in Congress and to each Senator and Representative in Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will lie over under the rules.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

In the Senate, May 19, 1913.

Whereas, The United States Arsenal at Frankford, in Philadelphia, occupies a territory much too limited for its experimental work and for the proper location of its magazines for storing ammunition and explosives; and

Whereas, There is immediately adjacent to the Frankford Arsenal an undeveloped tract of land of about twenty acres which is suitable in every way for experimental work and for the storing of ammunition and explosives under safe conditions; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the attention of the Senators and Representatives in Congress from Pennsylvania is hereby invited to the need for the condemnation and purchase of this land, and said Senators and Representatives are hereby respectfully urged to secure the necessary legislation for the procurement of the said tract of land for the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be directed to send to each Senator and Representative in the Congress of the United States from Pennsylvania a certified copy of this resolution.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will lie over under the rules.

SENATE MESSAGE.

SENATE NON-CURS IN AMENDMENTS.

An Act to amend section 502 of an act approved May eighteenth one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled an act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws, general, special or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith so as to avoid the repeal of Section one of the act approved March twenty-fourth one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to promote the more certain and equal assessment of taxes in Philadelphia' approved the fourteenth day of March Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five relative to assessments on agricultural and farm land and the suburban portions of said city."

Mr. KUHN, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, re-reported with a negative recommendation, House Bill No. 951, entitled:

An Act providing that no advertisements required to be published in any newspaper or periodical by any city of the first class or county co-terminus with any city of the first class or any official body thereof shall be published in any language other than English or in any publication published in any language other than English and repealing all acts inconsistent therewith.

Mr. STRAUSS, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, re-reported with a negative recommendation, House Bill No. 241, entitled:

An Act providing for the appointment by the Governor of a Commission to determine what portions of the constitution of this Commonwealth need revision to gather literature statistics and other information and to make a report embodying its recommendations and the result of its inquiries defining the power and duty of such commission providing for its organization and for the filling of vacancies in its membership fixing its compensation and making an appropriation for its compensation and expenses

Mr. LANIUS, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, re-reported with a negative recommendation, House Bill No. 957, entitled:

An Act requiring midwives in cities of the first class to be licensed authorizing the adoption and promulgation of rules and regulations therefor and for the examination of midwives in said cities for the revocation of such licenses and for the conduct of the business or profession of midwifery making the violation of the provisions of the act or of such rules and regulations a misdemeanor prescribing the punishment for such violations and repealing all laws or parts of laws that are or may be inconsistent therewith.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1254, entitled:

An Act making it a misdemeanor to solicit procure or induce a person to perform any act of adultery fornication buggery sodomy or any other unlawful unnatnral sexual intercourse providing for the taking of finger prints of defendants convicted thereunder and of the admission of the records thereof in evidence be placed upon the calendar, notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee on Judiciary Special on May 14th.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the bill that is now moved to be placed upon the calendar was negatived by the Judiciary Special Committee when the sponsor of the bill was attending the committee. In looking over the bill, we could see nothing in the bill that was not provided for in the laws upon the statute books, but the bill has been prepared by the Vice Commission that is now in session, or has been in session in Philadelphia, and it seems that the desire of the bill is to cover a form of crime that is not covered by the statutes, inasmuch as it makes solicitation on the streets by street walkers a crime. It has been held by the courts that mere solicitation is not a crime, and if it is not accompanied by disorder there is no means of punishing them. This bill seems to be for the purpose of making such offenses a crime; therefore, I would request the House to place the bill upon the calendar.

On the question recurring,

Sixty-two gentleman, or more than the number required by the rule, having voted in the affirmative,

The motion was agreed to and the bill placed upon the calendar.

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 1723, page 14 of to-day's calendar, Bills on Final Passage Postponed.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 1723 as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to establish a public schools system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section fourteen hundred and six of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" which reads as follows

"Section 1406 The board of school directors of any school district in this Commonwealth may on account of the small number of pupils in attendance or the condition of the then existing school building or for the purpose of better gradation and classification or for economical or other reasons close and consolidate any one or more of the public schools in its district and upon such school or schools being so closed the pupils who belong to the same shall be assigned to other schools Provided That in any district of the fourth class pupils who belong to any such closed school and reside one and a half miles or more from the school to which they are assigned shall be furnished proper transportation at the expense of the district to and from the school to which they are assigned" is herby amended to read as follows

Section 1406 The board of school directors of any school district in this Commonwealth may on account of the small number of pupils in attendance or the condition of the then existing school building or for the purpose of better gradation and classification or for economical or other reasons close and consolidate any one or more of the public schools in its district and upon such school or schools being so closed the pupils who belong to the same shall be assigned to other schools Provided That in any district of the fourth class pupils who belong to any such closed school and reside one and a half miles or more from the school to which they are assigned shall be furnished proper transportation at the expense of the district to and from the school to which they are assigned And provided further That where under the provision of this section a school has been discontinued for any cause the word shall be construed to mean must

Section 2 But no Board of School Directors shall convey or cause to be conveyed from their homes to any school any children who are not of compulsory school age Provided however that nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prohibit any Board of School Directors from conveying said children if the Board of School Directors so elect

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is almost in line with section 1406 of the School Code. The fact that gives rise to this bill is this: Several of our learned courts have put a different version on the word "shall." The School Code says these pupils who belong to the same "shall be assigned to other schools and shall be furnished proper transportation." Now one of the learned judges of our State has decided that word "shall" in this case may mean "may" and he has given his decision in accordance with that. Other judges say that in this section and in this section alone must this word "shall" be interpreted to mean "must." The intent of the bill before the House is that where under the provision of this section a school has been discontinued for any cause, the word "shall' be construed to mean "must." That is all; simply to avoid the difference of opinion in the various counties. The Centre County Court has decided that the word "shall" means "may." Some other court has decided that that very word "shall" in that one section means "must," and the intention of the law itself, if you look at the law as indexed you will find that these laws tell us that that word means "must."

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1992 (Senate No. 952), entitled:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to authorize county commissioners for the purpose of encouraging agriculture and the holding of county agricultural exhibitions to pay annually one thousand dollars to the incorporated agricultural association paying premiums on agricultural exhibits holding an exhibition in the county providing for the filing of sworn statement by the claimant or claimants with the county commissioners relative to said exhibition and providing for the repayment to the county by the State of the sum so paid" approved the thirteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, this bill amends the twelfth section of the act of 1907 applying to agricultural societies and giving them State aid. The old act provides that societies paying a certain amount in premiums may receive a thousand dollars from the State providing the premium is paid to the exhibitors in that county. The intent is mainly here that where two counties lie contigous on petition of one hundred citizens of the county having a fair that that county may be joined with the other county and that by the mere fact that it is being joined to the other county shall receive two thousand dollars, having no regard as to the amount of premiums paid and the people in the counties adjoining make no provisions at all that the premiums paid by the society shall equal two thousand dollars. It seems to me the purpose of this act is plainly merely to pay two thousand dollars into a county which may have another county lying contigous without regard as to what the population of that county may be. It may be a county having from eight to nine thousand population and the other county, no matter what the size of the fair may be, comes in and they receive two thousand dollars.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, under the present law the State appropriates one thousand dollars to each county with one or more agricultural societies to reimburse the society for the premiums paid on agricultural exhibits in that county. This bill is intended, so I am informed by the sponsor who introduced it in the Senate to encourage agriculture in counties with no fair association by permitting a certain number of citizens to petition the counties commissioners to annex them to a county having one or more fairs and to reimburse that fair association to the amount of the premium on exhibits from the adjoining county. That is the whole purpose of the bill.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House I will call your attention of page four beginning at line 87, we have the whole purpose of the bill, which I will read,

"So that the county in which such agricultural exhibition is held shall receive two thousand dollars instead or one thousand dollars now provided by law."

It does not provide any where that that two thousand dollars shall be the amount to buy two thousand dollars in premiums.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, under the act providing for the payment by the State to the separate counties the fair associations are limited in the amount they are to receive to the amount paid in premiums in the county in which they are exhibiting. The purpose of this act is only to promote an exhibit in an adjoining county and that the fair association be reimbursed to the amount of the premiums paid. It does not make a distinct appropriation to one or more fairs of two thousand dollars; that is not the intention.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Whereupon a division was called for and 59 gentlemen voting in the affirmative and 47 in the negative.

It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

A division was called for, 77 voting in the affirmative and 36 in the negative,

And the motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1994 (Senate Bill No. 993), entitled:

An Act regulating the sale or exchange of defective or diseased horses and mules and providing a penalty for violation of this act

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. G. A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides that if any person sell or exchange a horse with the heaves or being what is commonly known as a ''roarer'' or a ''cribber'' and does not acquaint the purchaser of the nature, that he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Now, Mr. Speaker, this bill interferes with the rights which have been enjoyed by the horse trader from the foundation of this government, and it ought to be defeated. Mr. Speaker, the horse trader or owner of a horse who sells a horse and misrepresents him can be prosecuted under existing law. This bill is to be classed as foolish and unnecessary legislation and ought to be defeated for that reason.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL.

Mr. G. K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this is another Oleo bill. A few days ago we spent an hour and a half discussing the question thoroughly, and that bill was a much better bill than this one. This bill drops the license from the wholesaler on down, and if that is done here in Pennsylvania we will lose all control of the oleomargarine business. Since this question has been thoroughly discussed, to save time, I move that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. DONNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1977 (Senate No. 1063), entitled:

An Act amending the second section of an act approved the thirteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled "An Act to authorize county commissioners for the purpose of encouraging agriculture and the holding of county agricultural exhibitions to pay annually one thousand dollars to the incorporated agricultural association paying premiums on agricultural exhibits holding an annual exhibition in the county providing for the filing of sworn statement by the claimant or claimants with the county commissioners relative to said exhibition and providing for the repayment to the county by the state of the sum so naid" by changing the date for filing by the association with the county commissioners the statement required from November fifteenth to December tenth in each year

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—2.

Carson,
Conner,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1227, entitled:

An Act to establish as a "State highway" a certain section of public road beginning at the point of intersection of Route Number one hundred and ninety-eight with the Fox Chase and Huntingdon turnpike road at Bethayres thence over said turnpike road to the Welsh road thence over the said Welsh road through Bustleton to the Bristol road or Frankford avenue in Holmesburg Philadelphia county

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, this bill was one that I had prepared for the extending of a highway route in the northeastern part of the City and Conuty of Philadelphia. The bill which the members of the House just defeated was the enabling act whereby that could be extended to the farmers in my district. When I was elected first as a member of the legislature I came from the farming district of Philadelphia county and I promised them when I came to do all I possibly could in order to get them an outlet whereby they could deliver their products from their district over a good road into the City proper for the purpose of selling their products to the workingmen of my district and thus help to reduce the high cost of living. I endeavored as long as I have been here and tried to have that enabling act prepared. The act was prepared by the Attorney General and Assistant under the advice and after consultation with the Highway Bureau and I thought everything was honorable and fair. Everything was clear that thereby this extending of the smaller route might be a benefit to certain farmers in Philadelphia County. Every bill that came before this body in the interest of the farmers, whom I thought were a deserving class of people, I voted for and every bill that increased their revenues thereby giving them money for State Highways, I voted for. Even only a few days ago when the bill which the gentleman from Butler presented, levying a tax of one mill on the bonds of our great corporations in this Commonwealth was before us and a large majority of the members in my particular county were opposed to it yet I and my friend voted for it and it was carrier to a successful conclusion and passed this House with only two votes, with my vote and my friend's vote against the wishes of the members and their constituents of my county, thinking it would be a benefit to the farmers of this great Commonwealth and I and my friend voted to pass that bill, and it only passed with but one majority giving the people in townships and in the boroughs an additional sum of one and one-half millions for good roads. When the license fees amounting to more than one million eight hundred thousand dollars remained within the State Treasury whereby there would be no use for it, when the amending act came in this House appropriating one million eight hundred thousand dollars to the State Highway Department for good roads, you will find my vote on record for it, and every measure that I, coming from the farmers of my district, thought was a benefit to the farmers of the State, I cheerfully and honestly voted for it. Unfortunately those farmers in the city and county of Philadelphia are in the City. Two townships which I have there are included in the City. Unfortunately for those farmers you as farmers have deprived them of extending the route only three miles, from the country districts to the highways of Philadelphia for the purpose of delivering their products. My friends, the only great city, the next county of this State to ours is Allegheny County of the West and I have here before me where the amount in the last three years for State Highways in Allegheny county alone has been over four hundred and fifty thousand dollars, the City of Philadelphia or the County of Philadelphia, the only county excluded out of this Sproul Highway Act, not receiving one penny in the last five or six years from the State. I only appealed to you in the interest of the Highway so that this small route might be extended to the farmers of my district, but unfortunately my appeal to you was lost, possibly in the estimation of selfishness that it might cost a few dollars that would go to the Highways of my county for the benefit of those particular farmers. I say that it is unfortunate that that occurred. I did the best I could. I did everything I could for the farmers of Pennsylvania, thinking that they were the sole producers of the soil and the builders of this great Commonwealth. But it is different with the farmers of the State outside of my county, what they think of the farmers of Philadelphia County. Therefore this bill is of no avail at the present time.

BILL STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

I therefore move that it be stricken from the list.

Mr. E. E. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1567, entitled:

An Act to repeal an act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and one entitled "An Act providing that no company hereafter formed for the purpose of construction and operation of a passenger railway either elevated or underground or partly elevated or partly underground with incidental surface rights shall be incorporated except where the same shall be located upon streets in thickly populated regions and until the necessity for such railways shall have been passed upon by a board consisting of the Governor the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the Attorney General after notice"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, this bill is the result of the Dual Office Holding Committee's investigations. It is simply to repeal the Act of June 20th, 1901, which created a Board to pass upon the necessity of constructing elevated and passenger railways. We subpoeaned the Secretary of this Board and he testified that he did no work and that they had no meeting for a long time and that no charters had been issued by the Board for a number of years and it was therefore unanimously agreed by the Committee that this honorable body appointed that this Act be repealed and I sincerely hope that it will be the unanimous desire of the House to repeal the Act of 1901.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Good,
Hemminger,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1533, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Governor to appoint a commission to devise a plan or plans for the government of the cities of the third class of this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. LENKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The Speaker announced that the "noes" appeared to have it,

Whereupon,

A division was called for, and 14 gentlemen voting in the affirmative and 93 in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, to my mind this is a very useless and expensive piece of legislation. It provides that the Governor shall appoint eleven persons who shall make an investigation for two years to determine what is the best form of government for cities of the third class. These eleven men would receive a salary of fifteen dollars a day, and would be in session, as I understand the phraseology of the bill for two years. The various forms of third class city governments have been under discussion for years, and there is no necessity for a commission of this character. We have already on the calendar the Clark bill, dealing with the various forms of government which will be up for consideration in the course of a few days. In view of the fact that the passage of this bill would entail an absolutely worthless and useless expenditure of money, I move you that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 8 That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same hereby are repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I feel that in fairness to myself and in fairness to the people interested in this bill that some explanation of it should be made. There is another bill on the calendar, Mr. Speaker, for which I am sponsor, to which there has been offered some objection. Most of you members received a circular against this bill in this morning's mail. That bill, however, is Bill No. 527, while this Bill is No. 532. From the titles of the bills, from the fact that they are so similar, to many of you it might seem to be the same bill. This bill before you is a bill to regulate the indiscriminate sale of some of the most dangerous narcotic drugs that we have, namely, opium, morphine, heroin, and codeine. It provides for a provision for the proper enforcement of this bill, and also an appropriation of twelve thousand five hundred dollars, or twenty-five thousand dollars for the two years for its enforcement. I do hope that the members of this House will not be mistaken in thinking that this is the bill against which they have received the protests and I trust that the House will support the measure.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind located at Pittsburgh Pennsylvania

Whereas There are in the State of Pennsylvania several thousand adult blind men and women without pecuniary resources and

Whereas All but a very small percentage of these may be made wholly or partly self-supporting and

Whereas The Pennsylvania Association for the Blind by means of a special workshop and by securing employment for the blind at home and among the seeing providing instruction for those without vocation has been successful in enabling nearly one hundred blind adults to become their own breadwinners and

Whereas The Pennsylvania Association for the Blind a chartered organization to do a State-wide work has extended its field from Pittsburgh where it originated and has another center in Scranton and co-operates in behalf of adults with the field workers of the Pennsylvania Institution for Instruction of the Blind in Philadelphia and has reached with industrial assistance blind adults in six counties outside of Allegheny Lackawanna and Philadelphia counties and has undertaken to secure relief through the regular channels for the destitute blind unable to support themselves and

Whereas Maintenance and extension of this work throughout the Commonwealth and of a campaign to prevent unnecessary blindness of which there is much depends upon the availability of funds to meet the expenses and

Whereas The extension of this work over the State has already been begun with an appropriation granted by the last Legislature to the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind under the name of "The Industrial Home for Adult Blind Citizens of the City of Pittsburgh" therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of ten thousand ($10,000) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen for the following purposes namely

NAYS—1.

Blair, W. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1726, as follows:

An Act authorizing the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania to study the conditions prepare recommendations and make certain improvements of Sandy Creek in Crawford Mercer and Venango counties and of Sandy Lake outlet and making an appropriation therefor

Whereas The borough of Sandy Lake Mercer county and lands adjacent thereto are seriously damaged and the health of the community jeopardized and impaired by reason of frequently recurring overflows of Sandy Creek and Sandy Lake Outlet and

Whereas Said commission has determined that these conditions can be improved by changes in the channel of said streams therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania is hereby authorized and directed to make a thorough examination of the present utilization and best future development and use of Sandy Creek and to determine upon plans for carrying the same into effect with particular reference to the improvement of flood and sanitary conditions at Sandy Lake borough and surrounding territory

Section 2 Upon the completion of said examination the said commission is hereby directed to prepare plans and a report and submit the same to the Governor of the Commonwealth and if he approves of the same to proceed with said improvement in accordance with the approved plan

Section 3 No moneys shall be expended for construction work or contracts for the same entered into under the provisions of this act unless and until releases have been obtained from the owners of property abutting on or lying in the channels of Sandy Creek and Sandy Lake Outlet relieving the State from all claims for damage which may be said to result from any work done under this act and also permitting of the entrance upon said lands for the purposes of examination and construction by the representatives and employees of or contractors for the commission

Section 4 The sum of twelve thousand five hundred dollars ($12,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated for the purpose of making said examination preparing plans and report and constructing the work recommended therein said appropriation to be paid by the State Treasurer on warrants of the Auditor General on requisition of the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania Provided however That no part of the money hereby appropriated shall become available until satisfactory evidence be furnished the Auditor General that the county or counties municipality or municipalities immediately affected or benefited by said improvement shall furnish sufficient money to complete the project

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I find that there is quite some little opposition to this bill since it carries an appropriation, and I would ask the sponsor of the bill to explain it to the House.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, the object of this bill is to give relief to a very unsatisfactory condition that exists to-day in Sandy Lake. The stream has become filled up by the wash from the hills. Formerly it was from thirty to forty feet wide, but it has filled up to such an extent that it is now not over from seven to eight feet wide. The business portion of the town, and a great many of the residences suffer greatly from the floods. Whenever there is a rain, the water is raised upon the main street of the town, and backed into the cellars and stores, and the town is in a very unsanitary condition. Also the cesspools have overflowed, and the municipal authorities are not able to take care of these conditions themselves.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1763, as follows:

An Act relating to electric cars and requiring the operators thereof to turn out the search-light when approaching other vehicles et cetera and prescribing the penalties for violations

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for the motorman or operator of any electric trolley car to fail to turn out the search-light upon said car when meeting or approaching a vehicle or any kind of animal or animals of draft or burden being led ridden or driven upon the highway when the direction of the track over which the car is proceeding is parallel to that of the highway and the rays or beams of the said head-light or search-light are dazling to the eyes of other users of the highway approaching said car from an opposite direction to that in which it is proceeding

Section 2 Any one guilty of violating the provisions of this act shall be subject to a fine of not les sthan five dollars ($5) nor more than ten dollars ($10) to be collected by process of summary conviction before any magistrate or justice of the peace as like fines are now by law collected

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, as the sponsor of this bill is not present, I move that its further consideration be postponed for the present.

Mr. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

NAYS—1.

Kuhns, E.G.M.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1622, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the holding by any person of two or more positions of profit under this Commonwealth prohibiting appointment contrary to this act and providing penalties

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

BILL STRICKEN FROM THE CALENDAR.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I rise for the purpose of moving to strike this bill from the calendar. This bill was introduced together with several other bills prior to March 17th and I was compelled to do so under the rules of this House which prevented the introduction of bills after that date unless unanimous consent of the House was obtained. I was suffering under no hallucination when I introduced this bill, neither did I think that this bill would bring about a utopian condition of the affairs in this Commonwealth. To bring about the desired result I will later on ask the unanimous consent of the House to introduce a concurrent resolution providing for the appointment of a commission of three experts to serve, with salary to go into the number and efficiency of all the employes in the Commonwealth and make some equitable distribution of the salaries and labor and report to the next session of the Legislature. I therefore move that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1899 (Senate No. 550), entitled:

An Act regulating the use of motor boats and providing a penalty

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the members of the House to the fact that the wording of the bill as it appears on the calendar means nothing. The bill provides "it shall be unlawful to operate a motor boat without a muffler or adequate device to decrease the noise in emitted by the exhaust in such a manner as to become a nuisance to any of the citizens of the Commonwealth." In other words, the bill provides that when the noise is decreased that the nuisance is created. As it is manifest that the sponsor for the bill would not want it passed in its present shape,

BILL POSTPONED.

I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 467, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation for the payment of the expense of publication of amendment to the Constitution in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of one hundred and seventy thousand dollars ($170,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the payment of the expense already incurred for the publication in the various newspapers of this Commonwealth of the several amendments to the Constitution of this Commonwealth in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—2.

Peachey,
Post.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1973 (Senate No. 826), as follows:

An Act to amend section twelve of an act entitled "An Act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditures thereof abolising the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of court fixing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions" approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the twelfth section of an act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditures thereof abolishing the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of court fixing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions" which reads as follows

"Section 12 It shall not be lawful for any township supervisor to be interested either directly or indirectly in any work done except as provided for in this act any purchase made or contract relating to roads and bridges nor to furnish any materials therefor Any person knowingly violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months both or either at the discretion of the court" is hereby amended so as to read

Section 12 It shall not be lawful for any township supervisor to be interested either directly or indirectly in any work done except as provided for in this act any purchase made or contract relating to roads and bridges nor to furnish any material therefor except stone gravel and earth when most convenient to supply the demand and those at a price to be fixed by the township auditors Any person knowingly violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dolllars or to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months both or either at the discretion of the court

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this is amending section 12 of the Jones Road Act, which prohibits the township supervisor from selling anything to the township. This amends the act so that he can sell stone, gravel or earth when most convenient to supply the demand and these articles only at a price fixed by the township auditors.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Kuhns, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Lehigh if this is not to benefit some special supervisor?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, not at all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, will not this create more jobs, more expense to the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, well, if it would, the money would all stay in the Commonwealth.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1902 (Senate Bill No. 815), entitled:

An Act providing for the making valid of the charters of certain corporations heretofore incorporated for the purpose of supplying heat light and power by means of electricity to the public upon the filing of certain certificates with the Secretary of the Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is simply amending the Act of 1874, enlarging the territory for corporations that are furnishing heat, light and power by electricity. Under the act as it stands they can simply furnish heat, light and power by electricity in the territory provided in their charters. This bill simply provides the means to enlarge the territory.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1.

Alter,
Speaker.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1305, as follows:

An Act providing for and requiring in certain cases the recording of the original maps or plans or the making and recording of duplicate maps or plans of tracts of land laid out and subdivided into lots where the owner of any such tract of land has died without recording the same and the engineer making such map or plan is still alive and providing for the collection of the costs of such proceeding from such decedent's estate

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That where any tract or piece of land has been or may hereafter be laid out and subdivided into lots and a map or plan thereof made by an engineer and any of said lots have been sold and deeds therefor delivered reciting descriptions according to said map or plan and where the owner of such tract or piece of land has died without recording such map or plan in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county wherein such tract or piece of land is situate and the engineer making the map or plan of such lots is still alive it shall be lawful for the owner of any such lot or lots his or her heirs devisees assigns or legal representatives to present a petition to the court of common pleas of the proper county setting forth that a map or plan of such lots was made that the same has not been recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds the interest of the petitioner in such lot or lots that the owner of said tract or piece of land which was subdivided and laid out into lots is dead and that the engineer who made said map or plan is still alive said petition shall be accompanied by an affidavit showing that notice of the intention to present said petition to said court was served upon as heir or legal representative of the decedent at least ten days previous thereto

Section 2 Upon the presentation of any such petition the court may direct said original map or plan to be recorded at the expense of the petitioner or petitioners or if the court is satisfied that such map or plan has been lost or destroyed or cannot be found after diligent search it may direct the engineer who made the original map or plan of such lots to prepare a duplicate of such map or plan from his field notes and records and to file the same in said court verified by affidavit which affidavit shall set forth that the same is a true counterpart in every particular of the original map or plan

Section 3 Whenever said duplicate map or plan shall be filed by the engineer as provided in section two of this act the said court of common pleas being satisfied that the same is a true and exact duplicate of the original map or plan shall enter a decree directing that such duplicate map or plan be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds together with the decree of such court and when such duplicate map or plan has been recorded the same may be offered in any action as evidence to show the true boundary lines of the streets lanes alleys and lots laid out or subdivided on such map or plan of said tract or piece of land

Section 4 In any such proceeding the court of common pleas shall fix a reasonable compensation for the engineer which together with all other costs of such proceeding shall in the first instance be paid by the petitioner The costs of any such proceeding shall be a valid claim against the estate of the decedent and shall be collected as other claims against decedents' estates

Section 5 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that I really do not understand and I do not know whether the members of the House do. I wish the sponsor of this bill would explain.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, this bill simply provides for making and recording duplicates where the original plot has been lost. It was under consideration very carefully in the Committee an every safeguard has been thrown around it. It is a good bill and I hope it will pass.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 955, as follows:

An Act authorizing cities of the first class to make contracts for removal of garbage for a period not exceeding five years providing for annual appropriations for payments for successive years prescribing the extent to which such contracts shall be included in statements and estimates of current liabilities and current income in tax levies and in determining the legality of warrants on the city treasurer and repealing inconsistent acts

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That cities of the first class are hereby authorized and empowered to make contracts for the removal of garbage for any period not exceeding five years

Section 2 The period for which any such contract is to run shall be plainly stated in the advertisement for bids and shall be given the same publicity as is required of other terms of the contract

Section 3 Such contracts shall not be executed or become binding on any city of the first class unless the councils of said city shall have first made an appropriation properly applicable thereto and sufficient to cover the payment for the first year under said contract

Section 4 The councils of any city of the first class which has entered into such a contract for more than one year shall thereafter appropriate annually the amount due thereunder each year respectively

Section 5 In all statements or estimates of the current liabilities and current income of any city of the first class which has entered into such a contract for more than one year required by law to be made by the controller or any other official or official body of such city for the then current or any succeeding year in all tax levies required by law to be based on such statements or estimates and in determining the legality of warrants on the city treasurer it shall not be necessary to include the amount payable under such contract or the amount receivable thereunder by the city of such contract yields a profit to the city except the amounts then actually due by or to the city and the amouns payable or receivable for the year or other period covered by such statement estimate tax levy or warrant

In all such statements or estimates including amounts payable or receivable under such contracts there shall be an explanatory note stating what amounts payable and what amounts receivable under such contracts are included in the statement or estimate and for what perior or periods

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts so far as inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this is a bill which I introduced at the request of Mayor Blankenburg. It is a bill for the purpose of permitting the City of Philadelphia to grant a contract for the collection of garbage for a period of not more than five years. The Mayor in writing a letter to me on the subject, among other things, says:

"My Dear Mr. Scott:—The passage of the bill permitting the City of Philadelphia to enter into contracts for the removal and disposal of garbage for a term not exceeding five years is a proposition, the feasibility of which no business man would debate for a minute.

"As you know, up to and including 1911, we have been paying in excess of $500,000 a year on this contract. The present administration has been successful in reducing this item of expense to the city to $229,000 a year. On one-year contracts, which are now provided for by the city charter, the contractor must necessarily figure a very large part of his plant as an item of expense.

"On a five-year contract this would be spread over a term of years and we have every reason to believe that under such a five-year contract the expense of removal and disposal of garbage would amount to very little and under certain conditions of the market for grease and other by-products it might easily become a source of revenue to the city.

"After having given the matter very considerable attention, I can see absolutely no counter argument, and I trust that the Legislature will not stand in the way of making it possible for the city to handle this feature of its work in a business-like manner. Should this legislation pass it might easily mean that through it the city might save approximately $1,000,000 under the first such contract entered into. Surely this is worth going after.

"Yours sincerely,

"RUDOLPH BLANKENBURG,
"Mayor."

Now, Mr. Speaker, this bill is for the purpose of giving the city of the first class the power to enter into a contract for a longer period than is now permissible under the law.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I presume it is rather out of place for a representative from an entirely different section of the State to make any statement on a bill of this kind. It has been the custom of most of the members of this Assembly this session that when any bill is up pertaining to Philadelphia to say, "Well, it is a Philadelphia bill, and if they want it, let them have it," but there have been so many gentlemen at my desk and so many speaking to me on the floor of the House, that I have become imbued with the idea that it is disastrous legislation. It seems to me that to tie up any city, whether it be Philadelphia or a city of the second or third class, with an unlimited contract for a period of five years, is not a desirable act. The Mayor of Philadelphia, as I understand it, goes out of office in two years, and his term of office is four years, and he cannot succeed himself, and to give out these contracts at this time might meet with the great disapproval of the people or with any other administration coming into the city at a future time. In my own city I would not be in favor of a bill of this kind, and I think before voting on this measure, the House ought to give it due consideration, not because it is a Philadelphia bill, but if they are convinced that it is wrong for the mayor to be allowed to tie up the city to a garbage contract for a period of five years, then they should vote the bill down. I have no personal interest in the matter.

but I have been accosted so much by the gentlemen of this House on this bill that I make this explanation.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say a word, and wish the House to take notice of what the gentleman from Erie has stated. This bill should have serious consideration. You should consider this one point, that in cities where they are allowed to make contracts for the removal of garbage covering a period of from five to ten years, the removal of garbage in that way is without expense to the city. It can be made a matter of revenue instead of expense. Now, if it is your thought that the City of Philadelphia should not be relieved of an unnecessary expense, defeat this bill, but if you want to give them a chance to save a half a million or a million of dollars, pass the bill.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I am very much obliged to the gentleman from Erie for his solicitation for the City of Philadelphia, but I do not think there is anyone there who feels as apprehensive as he does. We believe that we can make a garbage contract a paying investmnt. Up until two years ago the garbage contract in Philadelphia cost something over five hundred thousand dollars. A year ago it cost $270,000.00, and this year about $230,000. We believe emphatically that we could enter into a contract of more than one year for the removal of the garbage, and that it would not only cost us nothing, but could be made a paying investment. That is the reason that we have asked this Legislature for authority to enter into a contract for a period of five years.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, it must be evident to any one who thinks upon the question that anybody bidding for the contract to remove the garbage and destroy it, must erect an expensive plant, and anybody who erects an expensive plant for a one year contract, must include the cost of the plant in the profits of the first year, and must charge the city for the same. Therefore, the price of the garbage removal to a city that has one year contracts, is the cost of the service plus the cost of the plant. If you get a contractor who stands in politically with the administration, he may be able to take it on a one year contract, because he knows that he will be able to get it year after year, and year after year he charges the city that high price and has no competition, because nobody else, without that pull, can afford to expend that much money. If, however, you give the city an opportunity to make five year contracts, there will be competition because any man can take it for five years, and therefore, will dare to make his competing bid, and the city will have the advantage of it. This is purely a matter of economy and this bill ought to pass in the best interests of the City of Philadelphia.

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill is now upon second reading. It is a repealer that has been offered by myself to repeal the bill that has been popularly known as the Mellon Divorce Bill. It is a bill to repeal a law that was passed last session. The bill of last session was reported from the Judiciary Special Committee, of which I was Chairman. It was reported after there had been referred to the Judiciary Special Committee a similar divorce bill that this session has reported to the Judiciary General Committee and which came from the Judiciary General Committee with a negative recommendation. That is the uniform divorce law. That bill was in the Judiciary Special Committee last session. It met with great opposition, both from the bench and from the bar. At that time a gentleman from Philadelphia, representing the reform party, was strong in his opposition to the uniform divorce law, and from that opposition there grew the bill which has been styled the Mellon Divorce Law. I introduced this repealer without any thought of supporting the repealer. I filed my reasons early in the session for the introducing of the repealer. I filed my reasons stating that I intended to vote against the repealer, because I believed that the law of last session was meritorious legislation, but that I introduced the repealer so that those members of the House who were returned this session and who voted for the bill last session might have an opportunity either to vote for or against the repealer and thereby either sanction or non-sanction their vote of last session. I felt, Mr. Speaker, that the unjust criticism of this bill heaped as it was upon the sponsor was most unfair. It was done by the press; it was done by the public. Some who never read the bill; many who did not know even the contents of the bill, have condemned a law which to my mind was and is advanced legislation. Now, let us see, gentlemen, what was the law prior to 1911 and what is the law of 1911? The act of 1815 allowed in all divorce cases the granting of what is known as an issue, and that issue could be tried by two means: One by a jury and the other by a master appointed by the court. Under the act of 1899 the master had the power of hearing the facts and reporting to the courts the finding of facts, the finding of law, and the suggestions as to the decree. The Act of 1815 is as follows:

> "An issue shall be formed, and the same shall be tried accordingly, but when neither of the parties require an issue to be so formed, the court may enquire and decide upon the case in the presence of the parties; or if either of them will not attend, then ex-parte, by the examination of witnesses on interrogatories, exhibits, or other legal proof, had either before or at the hearing."

Now that was the law prior to 1911, with the addition of the act of 1899, which gave the examiner the power of a master to report not only the facts but to report the law. Now the Act of 1911 did this, and I am reading you the words which are the amendment:

> "May take a rule upon the opposite party, to be allowed by a judge of the court of common pleas, to show cause why the issues of fact set forth in the said rule shall not be tried by a jury, which said rule shall be served upon the opposite party or his or her counsel. Upon the return of said rule, and after hearing, the court may discharge it or make it absolute, or frame issues itself, and only the issues as ordered by the court shall be tried accordingly; but such rule shall not be made absolute when, in the opinion of the court, a trial by a jury cannot be had without prejudice to public morals. When neither of the parties takes a rule as aforesaid, or when after hearing the rule is discharged, the court may proceed to hear the cause; or may, upon motion of either party, appoint a master to take the testimony and return the same to the court."

Now the difference, Mr. Speaker, is this: under the act of 1815 a trial by jury could be demanded; under the act of 1811 you filed your rule to the court and asked the court to grant a jury trial. The court had the right to refuse when a public hearing was contrary to public morals. There is nothing in the Act of 1911 which deprives any person of their right to a trial by jury. There is nothing in the Act of 1911 that can be used for depriving anyone of their rights. You have heard through the press that it was a bill for the purpose of depriving a woman of a hearing to protect her honor. That is an absolute falsehood. If this bill is a corrupt law, then every court in this Commonwealth must be corrupt to make it a corrupt law, because this law gives the litigants the power to appeal to the court for a trial by jury and the court is limited in its right, except when in the opinion of the court the holding of a public hearing would be for the corruption of public morals. Now, Mr. Speaker, the right of trial by jury did not belong to the ecclesiastical courts. It is not the old common law; the right of trial by jury was given by statute. The right of trial by jury in this case is still perpetuated by the statute. At the time that bill was drawn and presented to the House, there was then before this body what was known as the judicial pension bill. There can be under our Constitution no pension bill, so that bill was drafted so that those judges who had served for a period of 25 years, and in the Supreme Court a period of 21 years, who had reached the age of seventy, could be retired as special masters; and it was advocated by those who suggested this bill that where there would be a question of fact to determine, it would be referred to a special master, and that eventually the courts would so grow in the course of this Commonwealth that the retired judge would be looked upon as a part of the court and as a special master. And while that could not arise in one year, or two years, or possibly ten years, that the tendency of the times in this Commonwealth, the tendency of the legislation in this Commonwealth by the bill that was known in the papers as the "tramp judge" bill, and which allowed the judge of the small district to come to the large cities and broaden in his own views, would eventually make the common pleas of Pennsylvania one great common pleas court. And they were to issue rules to make all the rules of the common pleas court uniform. And that was done, Mr. Speaker, and as you well know, in the discussion in this House of last session on those bills, to advance our court system so as to bring us as near as possible to the concrete form of the English courts. It was thought by those who were advancing that, that by the making of special masters of retired judges, he would be a man of standing, that he would be a man of learning, who would pass upon special cases as a divorce master. This act was drawn with the same spirit and the same thought at that time. It was drawn in part by one of the common pleas judges and was suggested by reform organization members on this floor. It has incorporated in it the thoughts of practicing attorneys in the Philadelphia bar. It was a bill that was offered to the Judiciary Special Committee and brought out and passed this House without a protest, and there was not a word of protest until it was discovered through the newspapers that it could be used for the purpose of exploiting a special case that was being fought in Allegheny County. We never even heard of such a name as Mellon; not one soul that had a part in this bill, either in the Judiciary Special Committee or on the floor of this House. Mr .Speaker, this bill has appeared before the Bar Association of Pennsylvania. It was discussed openly and it was commended openly. It has been discussed in nearly every court in this Commonwealth, if not every one. I have yet to hear the voice of one man learned in the law which condemns this law as being unjust. It does this: Instead of robbing any woman of her honor, it saves to the offspring of the unfortunate man or woman who must be brought into the divorce courts; it saves the offspring of those unfortunates from being besmirched by the sins of their parents. Why, Mr. Speaker, one of the gentlemen who suggested a portion of this bill referred to a case heard in the western part of this Commonwealth where the filth of it was spread broadcast throughout this whole country through the papers.

There is not one word in this bill that deprives any one of their rights. Why, Mr. Speaker, this very bill that has been called the "Mellon Bill," when the application was made in the case before a just judge in Allegheny County, when they presented their claim for a trial before a master, that judge, exercising his right as a judge, allowed the trial by jury. To claim that this law is unjust or that it can be used to deprive any one of their rights, can be a basis of corruption, must include the corruption of the court sitting, and Mr. Speaker, when we have reached the position of admitting that our courts are corrupt, then we have reached the position of admitting that our government is without any foundation whatever.

Now the only other provision that is in this law is the power to take testimony beyond the jurisdiction of the court by special master and that portion drew out of a case that was tried in the city of Philadelphia. A woman was upon trial of a criminal nature. A witness lived in a neighboring State. There was no power to bring that defendant's witness into the State. There was no law that gave that defendant the right to take testimony of that witness outside the State and last session or the session before there was passed an Act of Assembly that allowed, in cases of that character, the appointing of a special officer to take the testimony beyond the court and that Act suggested the very thing that is in this bill. And I see tonight, Mr. Speaker, as I turn on the right,—the thought comes up in my mind—the ex-member of Philadelphia who sat here in this House, an independent, who is here possibly on some business, who never knew this bill was coming up, who never knew my expression, who himself was a party in suggesting some of the portions that I have referred to as being the portions that have advanced the honest truthful legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I have offered this repealer for two purposes: I thought first it was but just to my fellow members with whom I served here in the last session. I thought it was my duty to present this repealer that if they felt that they had voted for a law that they ought not to have voted for that they could now vote for the repealer, and go back to their constituents and say they have undone the wrong they had done, but if they felt that they had voted for a proper law the last session they can then vote against this repealer and vindicate this position. That was my first reason.

My second reason, Mr. Speaker, was I felt I had the right myself to create the opportunity which I might embrace now standing before this House, standing before this Commonwealth, of standing before all the people and saying that this was honest legislation and defying a soul to say that there was a motive that actuated either myself as Chairman of the Judiciary Special Committee, as a member of that Committee, or as a member of this body in passing the bill, that I feel proud of having bearing my name as the sponsor of it.

I will vote against this bill now on second reading because I am opposed to the repealer that I have introduced myself.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, for the enactment of the 1911 law which the bill now under consideration is intended to repeal, the Executive of our State and the members of the Legislature were criticized through the press, denounced from the pulpit and censured by hundreds of civic clubs throughout the State. As a member of the 1911 Legislature I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scott for insisting that the repealer be given life by having the same placed on the calendar where the merits of the 1911 act might be discussed by the members of the House of the legal profession who have observed its operation during the past two years. If the characters of the 1911 law is such as justifies the criticism those responsible for its enactment have been subjected to then I have no complaint to make, and if the criticism was for political purposes then a great wrong has been done its sponsor and supporters in being subjected to the public criticism that has been dealt and to them and our critics should now be fair enough to at least say that they gave the long a wrong interpretation that it is not as vicious a measure as they allowed, it to be.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I think we can well afford at this stage of the proceedings to forget everything about the past of this bill. It is utterly immaterial whether there was or there was not any motives back of the act other than what appear on its face. We are faced with a proper and abstract question whether the bill ought or ought not to be repealed. To my mind the Act ought to be repealed. As the sponsor of that bill in this House has said, the chief purposes of the bill is to allow the court, that is to say, the judge to decide whether or not a jury trial shall be granted. The previous law was that each party to the divorce suit had the right to demand a trial by jury. While they were encouraged to have a master so as to keep the proceedings less public, yet each party had a right, if she or he desired, to have that trial by jury and I do not think that right ought ever to have been taken away, and I think that we ought now to restore it by repealing the Act of 1911.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

MOTION TO STRIKE BILL FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I do not feel as though I ought to vote on this motion.

REASONS FOR VOTE ON HOUSE BILL 263.

Mr. BLELOCH. I do not believe in secrecy in suits for divorce, but I feel that the greater amount of publicity this subject of litigaiion is given the greater the benefit will be that will redowned to the general good. Therefore, an act which tends to restrict or limit the public hearing of such an issue or to enlarge the determination of such cases by hearings before masters does no conform to my idea of the administration of justice in such cases.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be transcribed for third reading.

BILL SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 1047,

An Act to amend the third and fourth sections of an act entitled "An Act establishing in each county a board of viewers prescribing their duties providing for their appointment as viewers road juries juries of view and commissioners to view land and providing for the charges upon the respective counties in the matter of salaries costs and expenses thereof" approved the twenty-third day of Jane Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven fixing the per diem compensation and mileage of the said board of viewers and providing for the payment thereof by the proper county and increasing the powers of viewers regarding the administration of oaths

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to and at 10:05 P. M. the House adjourned until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Session 1913 120th of the General Assembly

VOL. 2. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 21, 1913. No. 70.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, May 21, 1913.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. D. P. Gerberich) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Rev. M. D. Lichliter offered the following prayer:

Our Father and our God, we are the workmanship of Thy hands and the objects of Thy tender care; indeed Thy goodness and Thy mercy have followed us all the days of our lives. With this new day come to us all new responsibilities. Help us, Lord, that we may have grace to meet them. Be merciful unto those members of the Senate who are confined to their homes through illness. May the peace of God abide in their hearts, and may it please Thee to restore them to health and strength. Hear us in this, our prayer, pardon us of our sins, and save us ultimately through Christ. Amen.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. DAIX, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. SHEATZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SHEATZ read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1436, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Hayes Mechanics' Home, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. McNICHOLS, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 396, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Western State Penitentiary.

Also, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 43, entitled:

Also, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1415 (House Bill No. 1614), entitled:

An Act authorizing the attachment of wages or salary upon judgments obtained for necessaries, limiting the amount of exemption to be claimed and providing for the payment of the costs.

STATEMENTS IN REFERENCE TO BILLS IN COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I desire to report from the Committee on Elections, for the information of the Senators, that the bills before that committee will be given consideration and reported from committee on Monday night.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I had intended to make a motion this morning to have the Committee on Elections discharged from the further consideration of certain bills, but since the Senator from Philadelphia has assured us that on next Monday night these bills will be reported from that committee. I will defer action and await what the committee does.

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, I served notice on the Senate last week that I would make a motion this week to discharge the Committee on Elections on a certain election bill, but in view of the fact that the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol, Chairman of the Elections Committee has announced that these bills will be reported out on Monday night, I will not make that motion to-day.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Beidleman, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, my question of personal privilege is concerning an attack contained in the Harrisburg Patriot this morning intended to strike at my integrity and honesty as a member of this Senate. In the Patriot this morning there is contained an article which is headed "Peanut Politics. Beidleman's Defi to the Mineworkers." Ordinarily, Mr. President, I would pay no attention to an atack of this kind because I believe that the larger majority in my Senatorial District do not believe that the Patriot could tell the truth if it wanted to. But, Mr. President, instead of this being an effort on my part to play the game of "peanut politics," the very purpose for which this article was written was the game of politics as played by the owner of this sheet, which is printed and published in the City of Harrisburg in which I live. And this gentleman poses as the re-organizer of Democratic politics within the State of Pennsylvania and his name is Vance C. McCormick. Mr. President, this man I have known for many years. He entered into the game of politics in the City of Harrisburg some time in the later part of 1898 and down until 1900. In 1901 it was, I think 1901, that he became a candidate for the office of Mayor in the city of which I live, and since that time he has taken occasion to abuse every man who sees fit to differ from him in any way and it makes no differences whether he is a member of the Republican Party or a member of the Democratic Party or to what party he belongs. If a man is said in any way to differ from him then he is dishonest and is not entitled to credence and belief in the district in which he lives, and I want to advise the members of the Senate just who he is and what he is because, Mr. President, in the early part of this session he took occasion to assail at least ten members of the Senate who sit on the Democratic side and he has taken occasion to abuse every member of this Senate who happen to sit on this side of the Senate if he in any way differed from what he believed was his own idea as to public questions. Let us analyze it, Mr. President. When he became a candidate for the office of Mayor he had a meeting in the office of a certain prominent Democratic politician, and I have in my possession copies of the affidavits which were made to support every contention that I am now asserting on the floor of this Senate, he went to that man's office for the purpose of ascertaining how many purchaseable votes there were in this city in order that the financial arrangements might be made to buy up the voters of this district and later on he attended a meeting in his own office on Market Street in this city, which meeting was called for the purpose of raising a corruption fund to buy up the election of Vance C. McCormick as Mayor of the City of Harrisburg, and when the question of the purchase of votes was taken up he then played the hypocrite because he suggested to the man who is now occupying the office of the Mayor of this City, that in order that he might not be a party to the raising of the corruption fund, they should proceed into the next room, but when they went into the next room he was careful that he would let the door open in order that he might hear everything that was going on and that he did hear is but evidenced by his own statement. On the question of how much money there was to be raised, somebody questioned the advisability of purchasing votes in the City of Harrisburg, and one man of this conference rose up and said "Why two years ago when I was elected to council in the fourth ward a certain Republican politician there attempted to buy votes and almost defeated me." And then Mr. McCormick, the reformer of politics in Pennsylvania, appeared at the open door and said "I can testify to the truth of that myself." There was raised in that meeting that night a sum which netted $32,000, which was carried to the Mayor's office a few days before the election and at the Mayor's office they had so much money there to buy up the election of Vance C. McCormick that they couldn't use it all and the day following the election two men carried it back in a waste paper basket to the Dauphin Deposit Trust Company of which he was one of the Trustees and which bank kept its doors open the whole day long on that election day so that if the $32,000 were not sufficient a clerk was there to hand out more money to corrupt the people of the City of Harrisburg. And let me call the attention further of the Senate to how far this man will go. After he became the Mayor of Harrisburg he bought up the Harrisburg Patriot for the purpose of advancing his own political cause. And what does he do? He poses as the friend of labor, yet analyze it. Shortly after he became the Mayor, after his purchase of the Patriot he had a strike down in his office and he was not satisfied to take Union labor whose cause he now attempts to espouse, but he went down to the City of Philadelphia and imported a number of scabs for the purpose of conducting his newspaper. What more? Is he the friend of labor? Early in my last campaign some man working in that office came to me and described the conditions in his composing room, escaping gas, fumes off metal, sewer rats running around the room, very poor ventilation, very hot in the summer and so cold in the winter that they had to heat the room with oil stoves, and Mr. President, I believe that a certain boy that I didn't even know who they believed had conveyed information to me, was in five days after the election at which I was elected a member of the Senate discharged because he was accused of carying stuff out of the office that they didn't think the people should know anything about. And what more? He publishes in his paper a list of assessments of properties in the City of Harrisburg and he does it in order that the people might draw the inference that the men who are in public office are not honest in the assessments that they make for the purpose of assessing the properties for the collection of taxes.

And I took occasion to look at a number of acres of ground that he bought almost in the heart of the City, where in order that the public might not know what it cost the consideration in the deed was one dollar and other valuation consideration, but some years afterwards, about five years afterwards, a proceeding was started by the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company for the condemnation of certain of that land, and when Mr. McCormick was made a witness and placed under oath he testified that that land had cost two thousand dollars an acre. He said the value of it was from ten to fifteen thousand dollars an acre, and giving him the benefit of every doubt, giving him the benefit of the highest assessment made against any of his property in that location, in the very year when he sold the property—almost five acres of it—at the rate of ten thousand dollars an acre he was assessed forty-two hundred dollars an acre. Where is his consistency? Where is his honesty? Where has he any right to criticise the members of this Senate as not performing their duty? And then, furthermore, Mr. President, on the members of his family actually confiscated property which should be covered by the waters of the Susquehanna River, by filling up with cinders from their mills in the lower part of the City a number of acres which they now claim, and if it was worth ten thousand dollars an acre at the place where he sold to the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company, then, Mr. President, along the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company it is worth at least twice that much per acre. Then what? Why he sets himself up to criticise the members of this Senate and by whom? He knows it as well as I do that the man who is employed to make these attacks, the man who writes these editorials, scurrilous as they are, was actually convicted for stealing money from the Government of the United States, and sentenced to serve a term of five years in the penitentiary at Stillwater, Minnesota. And this man, who having a full knowledge of that, sits there and writes day in and day out, and condemns the members of this Senate for attempting to express an opinion on public questions, is the man who some years ago was convicted and after he left that penitentiary at Stillwater, went down to the City of Philadelphia and was actually horsewhipped by a woman on the streets of that City for publicly insulting her. Mr. President, with this information, brought to the members of this Senate, I want to say that the man who criticises this Senate, the man who criticises my position on this Mine Dockage Bill as not being sincere, is not telling the truth, for in the early part of my campaign I said to the miners of the upper part of the County that I have the honor to represent that, I believed the way in which the Company docked them was not right, and that if I was elected as a member of the Senate I would do everything within my power to bring about the adoption of a law which would correct that condition. And, Mr. President, I have been sincere in that. In order that they might think that I could not win the affections of the miners of the upper part of this County, they themselves set up that I should offer a resolution in this Senate to discharge the Committee on Mines and Mining from further consideration of this bill. Mr. President, I was a member of the House and sat in the House during three sessions. I have been a member of this Senate and I have always had confidence that the men elected to the Senate or House and appointed on Committees would give bills which would be referred to them, careful, honest and conscientious consideration, and I have the first time to vote, Mr. President, and I hope I never will in any legislative body of which I am a member vote to discharge a committee from consideration of this bill or any other bill. And when these men yesterday set up to come here and play the game of politics and endeavor to tie my hands I said that I would not for them or any other person move to discharge the Senate committee from the further consideration of a bill. I have confidence in the members of this Senate. I believe in their integrity and in their honesty, and, Mr. President, I know there is not a member of this Senate who if the members of the Senate will go to him and say to him that there are good reasons why a bill should be reported out, but that will see that the bill will come upon the floor of this Senate, and I simply want to say that I have always done and always will do what I believe is for the best interests of the workingmen of this county and this State, and I have bene sincerely for this bill and I will do everything I can to bring its enactment into a law, but to ask, Mr. President, that the Committee on Mines and Mining be discharged from the further consideration of the bill, this is one thing I will never do.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

BILL OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 865 (House Bill No. 803), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of an act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and one entitled "An Act providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage and prescribing certain rules regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing house drainage and cesspools in cities of the second class and imposing fines penalties and forfeitures for violation thereof" as heretofore amended and authorizing and requiring second and third class cities to provide for the appointment and payment of plumbing inspectors go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 870 (House Bill No. 210), entitled:

An Act to amend title and sections three and four and five and six and nine and eleven of an act entitled "An Act relating to the right to practice medicine and surgery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and providing a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure as a bureau of the Department of Public Instruction and means and methods whereby the right to practice medicine and surgery and any of its minor branches may be obtained and exemptions therefrom and providing for an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act and providing for revocation and suspension of licenses given by said bureau and providing penalties for violation thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1233 (House Bill No. 937), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to establish a Bureau of Housing for the sanitary inspection and control of tenement boarding and lodging houses defining its powers and duties and providing certain penalties be recommitted to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, This bill in my estimation, interferes with the Bureau of Health, or Department of Health, in the City of Philadelphia and all other cities. I think I would like to have an opportunity of consulting with the department before this bill is voted on.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1246 (House No. 1719), entitled:

An Act amending article eleven of an act entitled "An Act for the government of cities of the second class" approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one changing the provisions relating to the Sinking Fund Commission

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. President. I desire to inform the Senate that this bill, Senate Bill No. 1246 (House Bill No. 1719), affects the very vitals of the finances of the City of Pittsburgh, and I am pleased to have the members who desire refer to the file folio 6521. As I said, this bill affects the very vitals of the City of Pittsburgh, and is vicious in every particular, inasmuch as it strikes down the old time safe and sane system of conducting the sinking fund of our city. On May 17th the Gazette-Times of Pittsburgh published an interview as coming from the Honorable George W. Guthrie, and I desire to read into the record this gentleman's remarks concerning this legislation. We all know Mr. Guthrie well. Most of us know that he was Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh at one time and is a well known expert on municipal finances, and with your indulgence I will read the article. He called it "a most vicious piece of legislation."

This is the characterization bestowed by former Mayor George W. Guthrie upon Mayor William A. Magee's bill, now pending in the Legislature, changing that part of the city's charter which treats of the Sinking Fund Commission and its dtuies. The bill has passed the House, has been reported out by the Senate Municipal Affairs Committee, and I may add is now on our Calendar.

Mr. Guthrie knows something about sinking fund legislation. When Attorney W. B. Rodgers drew up the present city charter in 1901 he asked Mr. Guthrie to draft the article pertaining to the sinking funds of the city.

Mr. Guthrie has represented bond holders on more than one occasion, particularly once when the former City of Allegheny was about to do with its securities in the sinking fund some of the things which Mayor Magee's bill would allow the Pittsburgh Sinking Fund Commissioners to do, if this bill were enacted into law. Mr. Guthrie got an injunction.

The bill is vicious according to Mr. Guthrie, because it is unconstitutional, violating the contract with the bondholders; because it deprives the Mayor of the city and the Controller of all the supervision which they now have over the sinking funds; because it allows the Sinking Fund Commissioners to "speculate" in the securities of the sinking funds, making the Sinking Fund Commission into a firm of brokers or bankers, having such practically unlimited control over the investments of the sinking funds that they could make worthless investments, something absolutely impossible under the present law.

Mr. Guthrie's purpose in drawing the present sinking fund legislation so as to provide Sinking Fund Commissioners was to have men on watch to see that the law regulating the sinking funds was complied with. Beyond that there is nothing for them to do. The law tells them the kind of securities in which they can invest the moneys of the sinking fund; it directs the City Council how to provide for the interest on bonds issued and the payment of the principal at maturity. It was hoped by this legislation that after compliance with the law for a comparatively short period, the making of accumulations could be dispensed with, there would be no need for Sinking Fund Commsisioners and the annual appropriations directed by the act would pay off maturing bonds. This would be the result in a few years, Mr. Guthrie says, if the law was adhered to.

Bonds sold since the Charter Act went into effect have been issued for thirty years. The present law requires the city to set aside every year one-thirtieth of the amount of each bond issued and the annual interest. The interest derived from the one-thirtieth appropriated each year in a sinking fund invested and reinvested, as this money is, causes an accumulation in the sinking fund which would enable the city to pay bonds in about twenty years, ten years earlier than the contract calls for.

That this would be the effect was well known to Mr. Guthrie and to Controller E. S. Morrow, whom he consulted in drawing the legislation, but it had a purpose. The earnings were to go into a general sinking fund, for reasons explained by Mr. Guthrie. He said:

"The proposed act reverses the entire procedure heretofore followed in the handling of the sinking funds. It provides that the appropriations for the sinking funds shall be transferred to the Sinking Fund Commissioners and be subject to their control. Under the present law the money remains in the hand of the City Treasurer until it is used for the purpose of which it is appropriated, and when it is called for it is paid out only on warrants by the Mayor and counutersigned by the Controller.

The new act puts an end to control by the Mayor and the Controller, and the funds are to be paid over to the Commissioners for investment by them. It makes radical changes in the uses that can be made of the money. Under the present law the sinking fund money can be invested only in bonds of the city, of the State of Pennsylvania and of the United States. If it is invested in the bonds of the city it remains thus invested until those bonds mature. Bonds of the State and of the United States are as good as cash.

Under the present law any bond purchased is stamped as belonging to the sinking fund. If it is a city bond it can never be sold. If it is a bond of the State or the United States, it can be sold only when required for the purposes of the sinking fund. No speculation in securities can be carried on.

This new law authorizes the sinking funds to be transferred to the Commissioners, to be invested in bonds of the City of Pittsburgh, United States, State of Pennsylvania, or any county, school district or municipality of this Commonwealth or—and underscore this, please—in any bonds in which savings banks of Pennsylvania are authorized to invest their deposits. The bonds so purchased may be sold or exchanged at the market rate by the Commissioners whenever they think proper to do so, and at not less than par "without the consent of council." It authorizes the Commission to be a speculative banking firm.

The Commission could, if this bill becomes law, invest in the bonds of traction companies, land companies, building companies, or railroads. Had this been the law a few years ago, the Sinking Fund Commission could have invested the sinking moneys in Wabash Terminal Bonds.

The new act permits a speculative business. The money may be there when needed, and then again it may not be there. The Commissioners have no criminal or financial responsibility. Any bad investment they might make would be legal and the Mayor and Controller would have no power to interpose a check. The Controller would not even know what the Sinking Fund Commissioners were doing, for they are not required to have his countersign attached to the warrants withdrawing the money for investment.

It is a most improvident bit of business. I am not criticizing the present Commissioners, but we don't know when the body will change. The commission is a continuing body of men, and this bill creates a policy for the government of the finances of the city to live after the Mayor, the present Sinking Fund Commissioners and all of us are dead and gone.

Mr. Guthrie touched on one phase of the question, very important just now when the city cannot go ahead with any assessment street work because Controller Morrow holds that the councilmanic debt limit is exceeded, that council has no borrowing power. Mr. Guthrie said:

"Under the law as it now stands, when the Commission buys a bond of the city, that bond, so far as the debt limit is concerned, is retired, although the bond continues and the city appropriates the interest payable on it. In determining the constitutional debt limit, that bond is deducted from the total because it can never be sold. The city owns it. But this new act authorizes the Commissioners to sell such a bond so that it always be an outstanding liability of the city, until it is paid off, and it cannot be deducted from the city's gross debt."

Mr. Guthrie quoted the State Constitution's provision that "before" any municipality may incur any indebtedness it shall provide for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest thereon and the principal thereof within thirty years. The Supreme Court, he said, had declared this to mean before any bond issue may be made, a municipality must levy an annual tax sufficient of itself to provide by maturity of the bonds for the interest and the principal.

Since the State Constitution went into effect, when this city issued bonds it levied the tax required by the Constitution and appropriated the money for the sinking funds and each bond issued contained the statement that this had been done, also a statement filed with the Clerk of Courts recited that the law had been complied with.

"This act changes it all," said Mr. Guthrie. "It provides that, when the Sinking Fund Commissioners think that the amount in the sinking funds, with the interest which they expect to have to pay will be sufficient to provide for the payment of the debt and interest, then no further need be levied, until conditions change, and then only so much need be levied as will make up the deficit. The purpose of this provision is plain. It is to reach the so-called surplus in the sinking funds, now amounting to about one million seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars."

Mr. Guthrie explained how he and Mr. Morrow knew that the present sinking fund law would produce the so-called surplus. That surplus was to go into a general sinking fund. Actually, the two men held, no money held to pay for bonds when they should arrive at maturity could be called a surplus until those bonds were paid.

About sixty years ago the city sold bonds to aid railroad projects. These bonds never have been paid. They have been refunded three times. There is no adequate sinking funds whose accumulations would retire them. A so-called private sinking fund that was provided for them is not sufficient to pay them off, but the surplus now accumulated in the sinking funds would in a short time suffice to get rid of them.

"If this new bill is passed," said Mr. Guthrie, "the so-called surplus in the sinking funds would be destroyed, and when the railroad compromised bonds mature there will not be sufficient money on hand to retire them."

Last year it was understood that it was Mayor Magee's intention to refund the railroad compromise bonds, thus continuing the 60-year-old debt for another twenty or thirty years by not paying them off, the one million seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars surplus would be available for sinking fund and interest payments that otherwise would have had to be provided for by an annual tax levy.

In this way the tax levy could be reduced by the sum necessary to provide the ordinary sinking fund payments, or, if the tax levy were not reduced, the money heretofore raised for sinking funds and interest purposes could be used for general municipal purposes or to finance improvements advocated by the Mayor.

"This act is bad," said Mr. Guthrie, "because it violates the contract with the bondholders, written in every bond, namely, that a tax has been levied sufficient to pay the interest and the principal at maturity. The Constitution of the United States prohibits the impairment by any State of contracts. It is a violation of our own State Constitution, which requires that when a bond is issued a tax must be levied.

"The whole thing is vicious. The fact that it authorizes the Commission to speculate with the sinking funds is alone enough to condemn it."

Mr. Guthrie became aware only through a chance meeting with Controller Morrow that the bill was pending in the Legislature. He called upon Governor John K. Tener in Harrisburg and asked him to veto the bill, in case it should be passed by the Legislature.

"While in Harrisburg I talked with several men who had voted for the bill when it passed the House," Mr. Guthrie said. "To my surprise they called it 'Mr. Morrow's bill.' They said they thought it must be all right or a man like Mr. Morrow would not be for it. They were misinformed.

"Mr. Morrow is as much opposed to the bill as I am and as everybody else is who is against legislation that is unconstitutional, that would violate a solemn contract made by the city, that might tend to make the Sinking Fund Commission a set of speculators in sinking fund money and that eventually would injure the city's credit."

I have now placed what I believe the facts before this body and it is for you to determine what the result will be, and I sincerely trust the bill will be defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. MOORE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. President, I sincerely trust that this motion will not prevail. This, as I have stated, is an extremely serious matter to the City of Pittsburgh. The facts, as I have related them, are now fresh in the minds of members of this body. Next week or two weeks, perhaps, they will probably have forgotten a great deal about it. I think this bill should either fall or pass at this time.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President, I make this motion because the Senator from Pittsburgh, Mr. Hunter, will realize if he looks around that we have too many vacant seats and too many vacant desks for any bill to be under consideration.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I trust that the Senate will postpone this bill. I agree with the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Hunter, that this is a bad bill because any bondholder who invests his money should have the guaranty of sinking fund regulations, and this Senate should hesitate to interfere in any way, shape or form with those financial regulations, but out of courtesy to the Senator from Pittsburgh, Mr. Magee, I think we owe it to him to have this bill postponed for further explanation on his part.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 1279.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 1279, entitled:

A supplement to a nact entitled "An Act creating the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania defining its duties fixing the scope of its authority and powers and making an appropriation for the payment of the salaries and expenses connected therewith" approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred five and providing penalties for violations of this act was defeated on final passage be reconsidered.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I voted no.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President, I voted no.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1257 (House Bill No. 1732), as follows:

An Act relating to applications for charters of corporations of the first class and regulating the change of location of the place of business of such corporations and providing a penalty for violating the provisions thereof

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KLINE, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1354 (House Bill No. 1065), entitled:

An Act providing for the location construction operation and maintenance by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of a canal or waterway from the junction of the Ohio and Beaver Rivers in Pennsylvania to Lake Erie at or near the mouth of Indian Creek in the State of Ohio with all appurtenances necessary or convenient for the purpose and for the utilization of the water power developed or created in the construction and operation thereof providing for the payment of the cost of construction of said canal or waterway and appurtenances out of funds to be contributed by certain counties in the States of Pennsylvania Ohio and West Virginia or any of them and by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and other public authorities providing for the creation of a Canal Board to have charge of said work prescribing and defining the powers and duties of said board and the conditions under which the said work shall be carried on providing for the payment of damages sustained by reason of the appropriation of property and rights in the exercise of the right of eminent domain herein conferred providing for the reimbursement in the manner provided in this act of said counties contributing to the payment of the cost of constructing said canal or waterway and appurtenances imposing certain duties upon the Auditor General and State Treasurer authorizing the said canal board to make certain rules and regulations for the use of said canal and making violations thereof misdemeanors and providing penalties therefor and making an appropriation for carrying out certain provisions of this act

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, Senate Bill 1384 (House Bill 1065), just reported by me, is a duplicate of the original as passed by the House of Representatives and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, May 21st, 1913.

The House met at 10:00 o'clock, A. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we thank Thee for this delightful spring rain, so greatly needed and so helpful to vegetation. Thou art always thinking for us and we give to Thee our thanks. And now, as Thou hast commanded, that no man should be idle, but that every man should do the work committed to his hands, wilt Thou graciously go with Thy servants who are entering again upon their daily work. We rejoice in the dignity and the privilege and the healthfulness of work, and we thank Thee that it is assigned to us. We would not forget that primal law under which all the work of our world has been done since the dawning of history, "By the sweat of thy brow shalt thou eat thy bread." There is something of seriousness in the work which is assigned us, something which makes drafts upon our endurance and energy and strength. It is not the easy things that are the best things, but the hard things, the things which cost us something, and yet we rejoice to know that our work is worth all this exertion, that it affects large classes of people and important interests all over this Commonwealth; that men will do their work under better conditions if we are faithful in doing our work here; that there will be cleaner cities and more safety in society, and happier homes and better schools and less of criminality and lawlessness, and not nearly so much of suffering. Let us put a conscience into our work therefore; let us not be content with sluggish and half-hearted work, but do with our might what our hands find to do; and Thy name shall have the praise of it for ever more. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when on motion of Mr. William F. Blair, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1072.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 16, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1072, entitled:

"An Act enlarging the powers of cities of this Commonwealth over the public streets and highways therein and authorizing the construction of overhead and underground structures therein for the convenience of the traveling public."

In so far as the provisions of this bill are necessary to empower cities to provide comfort houses, waiting conveniences and to provide for temporary market purposes and the like, for the comfort and convenience of the traveling public, the same has my approval. The provisions of the bill, however, go further, and confer upon all cities the power "to erect or permit the erection of structures both above and below the grade or level of streets for the purpose, as indicated in the title, for the conveniences and comfort of the traveling public." This would seem to give all cities the power to erect or permit the erection of subways and elevated railway structures in a manner regulated only by the ordinances of the cities, without any limitation, restriction or regulation imposed by the statutes of the Commonwealth.

In my judgment the provisions of the bill, in this latter aspect, are unwise, and, as they are material provisions, the bill, for the reasons stated, is not approved.

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. LETZKUS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Governor's veto be laid on the table.

Mr. KEEPORT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to ordler,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H,. R. bill No. 1693, as follows:

An Act prohibiting corporations co-partnerships or companies conducting a cemetery from excluding persons duly authorized by lot holders in said cemeteries to enter said cemeteries to do gardening work and decorations on lots therein and providing a penalty for violation of said act by officers managers agents or employes of said corporations co-partnerships or companies

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That on and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any corporation co-partnership or company engaged in conducting a cemetery to exclude from the said cemetery any person or persons lawfully authorized by any lotholder in the cemetery conducted by said corporation co-partnership or company to enter the said cemetery and to perform such gardening work and decoration in and about the said lot as said person may be duly authorized to perform by said lotholder provided that said person so doing the work shall comply with the general regulations of the said corporation co-partnership or company with respect to said gardening work and decorations

Section 2 Any corporation co-partnership or company or any superintendent officer manager agent of employee of said corporation co-partnership or company violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of misdemeanor and subject to a fine not to exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) for each and every offense Provided however That the provisions of this bill shall not apply to cemeteries conducted on the lawn plan

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is aware of the fact that this is a bill to which there is considerable opposition. The sponsor has not yet arrived and perhaps it would be well to postpone the bill for the present.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House preceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2003, entitled:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1861 (Senate No. 646), entitled:

A joint resolution proposing an amendment to section eight of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to explain in a very few words the purpose of this amendment. In 1911 this House passed an amendment to the Constitution which purported to raise the borrowing capacity of the City of Philadelphia when the money raised was invested in improvements that would return sufficient in the way of dividends to pay the interest upon the bonds and the sinking fund charges. When the city came to make use of that constitutional provision, it was found that the provision was so drawn as to make it impossible to issue valid bonds under it. For that reason this new amendment has been carefully prepared and is now submitted to the House to accomplish precisely the same purpose that this House endorsed in 1909 and again in 1911. I think there should be no opposition to the bill. Of course, it applies only to Philadelphia County.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2004 (Senate No. 597), entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and one entitled "An Act to prohibit the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine butterine and other similar products when colored in imitation of yellow butter to provide for license fees to be paid by manufacturers wholesale and retail dealers and by proprietors of hotels restaurants dining-rooms and boarding-houses for the manufacture or sale of oleomargarine butterine or other similar products not colored in imitation of yellow butter and to regulate the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine butterine or other similar products not colored in imitation of yellow butter and prevent and punish fraud and deception in such manufacture and sale as an imitation butter and to prescribe penalties and punishment for violations of this act and the means and method of procedure for its enforcement and regulate certain matters of evidence in such procedure

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state to the House that this is a bill that I think both agricultural interests and the oleomargarine interests will support. It simply fixes a scientific measurement for color, so that hereafter whenever there is any controversy in court over the question of whether or not oleomargarine is colored in imitation of butter the word "yellow" has a definite meaning, and it will end a great deal of the trouble that has existed in the past and I think every member of the House stands for that kind of legislation.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether this bill permits the use of any amount of artificial coloring matter?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that I will state that if there is anybody wants to make a product to take the place of butter and will not attempt to imitate the agricultural yellow, he can use any color he wants under the provisions of this bill. This bill simply states what yellow is scientifically. Every member of the House knows, I think, as well as myself, that one of the great difficulties in a controversy between the pure butter people and the imitation is over the question of what is yellow? Now I cannot for a moment conceive of any opposition on the part of anybody except to desire some definite measurement so that there will be no controversy afterwards.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman another question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, sure.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, the bill provides for seventy per cent. white, does it not?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides, as I am sure I understand it, just exactly what I have stated to the House.

Mr. RICHARDS. Never mind about that—

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I will state to the House it is the Act of 1901 with the exception of the italics on page 4 of the bill, which explain themselves.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, what I desire to ask the gentleman is this: How are you going to determine whether this butter is seventy per cent. white or whether it is thirty per cent. white? By what method and what evidence will the Dairy and Food Commissioner prosecute?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, for the benefit of the gentleman from Allegheny, I will read it, and each member of the House can read it:

"When it has a tint or shade containing more than one and six-tenths degrees of yellow or of yellow and red collectively, but with an excess of yellow over red in the terms of the Lovibond Tintometer scale or its equivalent."

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, well then will all the retailers be compelled to keep one of those instruments in their store?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that is a question for the House to consider at all. The truth of the matter is, and the gentleman knows it very well, and he need not try to beg the proposition—the truth of the matter is that the oleomargarine people are on this proposition as they have been in all their other legislation; in other words, desire to imitate another producer's article. Now here when we undertake to fix a standard by a scientific measurement, now they want to know whether the grocer needs an instrument to make the measurement. The gentleman knows and every member of the House knows that when there is a controversy between the Department and anybody as to whether or not the party has violated the oleomargarine law, that we have much difficulty in deciding what yellow is. Now certainly anybody that wants an honest result realizes the importance of having a scale to measure the matter in it. Now here are the scales provided. It does not involve the local grocer or it is not a question of whether he keeps an instrument or the solutions to test out this color. It is not an argument for the House to decide at all. We realize that if there is not a controversy in court this proposition does not amount to anything; but when there is a contest in court the word "yellow" being an indefinite term it is important to the oleomargarine people and to the pure butter people that the word be defined and we forever settle that proposition of what yellow is. This is what the bill does. It fixes what yellow is, and surely every man that wants to sell an honest article, does not want that doubt to exist.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, it is not the oleomargarine people that are asking these questions, on anybody interested in the manufacture of oleomargarine. It is one of the representatives from Allegheny County, and I only wanted to know from the gentleman from Delaware how the retail dealers in butter would know whether or not that butter contained more than seventy per cent. white or less than seventy per cent. white; but the gentleman refuses to answer directly and I am worried at his long, lengthy explanations, so I will submit to the gentleman from Delaware and say I will vote "aye" on the bill.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—1.

Roney,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 2012 (Senate No. 783), entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a few remarks upon this matter. At the last session of the Legislature, when the School Coed was passed in the House, it was sent over to the Senate committee with a provision in it that made it mandatory upon the part of the coal companies to collect the occupation tax of the aliens. When that got into the Education Committee of the Senate, that feature of it was taken out, which practically made it null and void. I just want to read a sentence from one of several letters which I have received: "You will realize what this means to the district in which I am the secretary. There is twenty per cent. of our occupation tax that is not collected, making at least $1,500.00 that we lose." The secretary in another township states that they lose about $2,500 by reason of the provision being taken out by the Education Committee of the Senate. This simply puts it back in as we had it at the last session, making it mandatory upon the part of the companies to collect this tax. I hope that the House will give its unanimous consent to the putting in of this amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—1.

Jones, J. R.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2011 (Senate Bill No. 280), entitled:

An Act for the protection of the public health by providing that persons firms or corporations who are operating or conducting hotels restaurants common carriers and other public eating places in this Commonwealth shall not employ or keep in their employ as cooks waiters kitchen help chamber maids or other house servants any person or persons who are suffering from or who are carriers of a communicable disease and further providing that no dishes pots pans finger bowls linens or other kitchen or dining room utensils shall be used /or towels furnished in wash rooms maintained in any hotel restaurant common carrier or public eating place except as provided in this act and providing a penalty for violation thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, my attention was just called to this bill and in reading it, it seems to me that if anybody in the House can explain the features of it, we ought to have some explanation. It is so drastic that it looks to me as though it would put most hotel keepers out of business. It proves that every person running a hotel, restaurant or eating place cannot employ anybody that has any kind of communicable disease. It would mean that every employee would have to furnish a certificate from a physician setting forth that they were free from all kinds of diseases in every shape and every manner. Possibly it is good legislation, but it seems to me that it is going rather far.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, if the title of the bill be indicative of what the bill contains, it goes even further than that, because it says "or who are carriers of communicable diseases." However, hale, hearty, healthy and strong we may be, however cleanly in person and whatnot, we are all carriers of communicable disease, and if the title, as I said a moment ago, be suggestive even of the extent to which the bill goes, it would certainly put out of business any caterer, because of the fact that he would be absolutely prohibited from having any help. I shall vote against the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following motion:

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved by Mr. Wildman, seconded by Mr. Aron, that the vote by which House Bill No. 668, file folio 7679, entitled:
An Act to provide for the return by the State Treasurer to the several counties from which the same are received for their own use of three-fourths of certain taxes received or collected by county trasurers or other officers and paid into the State Treasury was defeated on Thursday, May 15th, be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. BURNETT. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the indulgence of the House for just a few moments. When this measure was taken up on last Thursday afternoon, late in the afternoon, quite a large number of members were not present at that time and the vote at that time was 93 in favor of this bill and 28 against it. I would like to have the House consent now to take the matter up again. It is a bill asking for the return of three-fourths of the mercantile license tax to the counties for their own use. I wish the matter would be reconsidered and taken up at this time.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I think while we are voting all this money back into the county, I would suggest that we amend it so that all the State Taxes go back into the county, and then we would not be bothered with appropriation bills. Of course, if the House does not care to amend it, I won't object.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. BURNETT. Mr. Speaker, I call for a verification of the roll.

This was done as follows:

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the motion as follows:

Moved that House Bill No. 1671, entitled:
An Act prohibiting the giving furnishing or issuing of free passes or free tickets other than to officers and employees of the company and providing a penalty prohibiting the issuing of free passes or tickets by traction companies to any one but officials and employees be placed on the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee on Railways.

Mr. CURRIER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what date that bill was reported from.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, the five days time has not elapsed. You will understand that last Friday we didn't have any session.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Martin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, Yes, sir.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire from the gentleman whether or not there is a provision in this bill that is not covered by the Public Utilities bill that has just been passed?

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I don't think there is. This bill prohibits the issuing of passes to any except individual employees of the company. I would like to ask the gentleman whether he knows if that would be in the Public Utilities Bill?

The SPEAKER. There is nothing before the House. The bill is still in Committee.

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a motion at this time.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the motion as follows:

Moved that House Bill No. 1459, file folio 7705, entitled:

An Act fixing the number compensation mileage and duties of the officers and employes of the General Assembly and providing for their election or appointment and maner of filing vacancies be placed upon the calendar notwithstanding the fact that the same was dropped therefrom by reason of not having been called from the postponed calendar within five days from the date of such postponement.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House, I want to say that this is the bill that was prepared by the Committee that undertook the investigation of the House employees. This bill, in the rush of business incident to the Public Utilities Bill, was overlooked during the five days and was dropped from the calendar. It is not the bill of any individual; it is a committee bill, in fact, and it is a bill that is very important to this House. I believe it should come properly before the House. It was only dropped because of the fact that the Public Utilities bill, on second reading, interfered and delayed matters so as to prevent the calling up of this bill in its regular order. I would ask the House to put it back on the calendar in order that it may come properly before the House.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I don't believe that this House can afford to allow this bill to go by without voting upon it one way or the other. It has been learned by the Committee that was appointed by the Speaker that there is quite a number of positions in and about this House that are absolutely useless and others that are filled by individuals that are not qualified to fill them. That is, however, no reflection upon the gentlemen at all but the positions are not in accord with their line of work, and, consequently, a bill has been drawn up that will make the employees of this House a great deal more efficient and, I understand, will save to the State forty-five thousand dollars a year and result in better work. I think we ought to vote upon this measure.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that we have got to suspend our rules before we can vote on this measure. We cannot vote upon this measure unless we take a vote to suspend the rules.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, in order to relieve the gentleman from Philadelphia of any suspense, I move that we suspend the rule for the purpose of this motion: That this bill be placed upon the calendar notwithstanding the fact that the same was dropped therefrom for the reason that it was not called from the postponed calendar within five days from the date of such postponement.

Mr. MELLOTT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I want to know your position on my point of order.

The SPEAKER. Your point of order was well taken.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1459, file folio 7705, be placed upon the calendar, notwithstanding the fact that the same was dropped therefrom by reason of not haing been called up within five days of the date of its postponement.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And the bill will be placed upon the calendar.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1984 (Senate Bill No. 991), entitled:

An Act to confirm conveyances of lands made by building and loan associations after expiration of the term of their chartered existence

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 263, entitled:

An Act repealing an act entitled "An Act supplementing and amending section two of an act entitled 'An Act concerning divorces approved March thirteenth one thousand eight hundred and fifteen regulating the submission of issues of fact to a jury the appointment of masters in proceedings for divorce defining the power of the court and the practice in relation thereto Repealing an act approved March tenth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine approved the twentieth day of April one thousand nine hundred and eleven

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this is the repealer which I offered to the House, which was discussed last evening, and which I will vote against because I feel that the repealer should not prevail. The law that was enacted last year, and of which this is a repealer, to my mind is good legislation, and notwithstanding the fact that I am the sponsor of this repealer my position is against it and I shall vote no.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, if the father of the bill deserts the infant, perhaps the stepfather of the same name may help its passage. The object of the bill which this bill seeks to repeal is very simple. It changed the divorce law in such a way that whereas before it was possible for either party to the case to demand a jury trial, now by the act sought to be repealed the right of a jury trial was taken away, and the discretion of a jury trial was lodged with the judge. Now, I am free to admit that it is best for the public morals at times not to have a trial by jury, and as a matter of fact most divorce trials were not tried publicly by jury, but most of them went before a master; but when any person whose character and whose marital rights can best be protected by a jury trial—and that someimes is the case—then, in that case, the party ought to have a righ to a jury trial unincumbered. The act which the Legislature passed last session took away that right and left it discretionary with the judge. I do not want to make an attack on the judges, because they abuse their discretionary power very seldom, if ever, but the law should not be in such a state that it may be abused. Parties in those sacred things, if they want a jury trial, ought to have an absolutely unincumbered right to have it. Therefore, I say this bill ought to pass, and its passage ought not to be weakened by the fact that its sponsor now repudiates it.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to be understood as seriously defending the Act of 1911. There is a bigger question for us to consider here than just the merit or demerit of the Act of 1911. I fear that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott, has not considered the effect of the enactment of this bill at this time. The Act of 1911 was an amendment to the second section of the Act of 1815. That amendment wiped out the second section of the Act of 1815, and if we now repeal the substitute, it will not revive the second section of the Act of 1815 and will leave us without the fundamental provisions of the divorce law of this Commonwealth. I do not believe that the gentleman from Philadelphia will contend for a moment that the enactment of this repealer will re-enact the second section of the Act of 1815. It is well established by the decisions of the courts in relation to the reviving of amended or repealed statutes in this manner, that the repealer of such an act as this will not revive the original law. Consequently, it will leave us in this State without the provisions which is the very foundation of the divorce laws of the State, and it strikes me that the question is not a question as to whether or not we will adhere to the Act of 1911 or to the 1815 and its supplements, but it is a question as to whether we are going to destroy the very foundations of the divorce laws of this Commonwealth. I think that it is unfair method to undertake to determine the desirability of the Act of 1911 and I hope the House will not pass this repealer in its present shape, at least.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, if that be true, and I do not feel prepared to argue it, it seems that we have been mislead by the gentleman from Philadelphia sitting opposite me. He offered this bill as a proper method of testing the propriety of the Act of 1911, and if it is not a proper method to test the propriety of that bill, it ought never to have been introduced, and if introduced the speech which the gentleman made ought never to have been made. This bill can be passed and it can be fixed in the Senate, or it can be withdrawn and amended, but whatever is done, the question of the propriety of the Act of 1911 ought to be put fairly and squarely before us.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. J. R. K. Scott.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if Mr. Mellon is not divorced.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am sure I do not know, except from what I see in the newspapers.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, if he is divorced, then what objection would there be to removing this bill?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. I suppose, Mr. Speaker, so far as Mr. Mellon is concerned, there will be no objection.

Mr. WITBANK. Mr. Speaker, I want an answer to my question. I want to know if Mr. Mellon is divorced.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I have answered the gentleman from Philadelphia's question. During this whole session I have possibly allowed a little bit of familiarity between himself and me, but when he stands here in a serious matter of this character and with levity asks such a question as this, I think I shall seriously reply. This bill had no thought of Mr. Melon. I had no knowledge of Mr. Mellon. All I know of Mr. Mellon is from reports that I read in the newspapers. I suppose the gentleman from Philadelphia was not asking these questions seriously, but if he has, I will answer them seriously. This bill was offered in good faith by a gentleman whose integrity could not possibly be impugned. It became a law, I offered this repealer and will vote against it, not alone for the purpose of giving me the opportunity of expressing the remarks that I have expressed, but for the purpose of allowing the gentleman who voted for it last session to place themselves on record either for or against the law.

I might say, if I may speak while I am on my feet in reference to the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. Scott), they seem to have a little tinge of bitterness, a little more bitter than last session when he and I were opposed to each other. If he, Mr. Speaker, or any one else thinks that this repealer was offered in anything but good faith, he is wrong. This repealer incorporates the amendment of the act of 1815 which was enacted at the last session and the repeal of this bill, the carrying of this repealer, would repeal the Act of 1911.

Mr. Speaker, if I might be permitted to say further, this law of 1911 deprives no citizen of a proper right. The Act of 1911 deprives no person of trial by jury. It is true that it is essential before a trial by jury is granted that either party make application to the court and, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Philadelphia has knowledge of the law of divorce, he will know that prior to 1815 there was no such thing as trial by jury in the divorce proceedings and that the trial by jury has ever been held to be a matter discretionary with the Commonwealth and the rights of the citizens have been preserved in every particular in this bill, and it was preserved that the individual, that the innocent individual, Mr. Speaker, could not have himself and his dragged before the courts and the public and publicly have the innocent suffer, and that great power lays with the court; or, in other words, Mr. Speaker, if a virtuous woman was tied by the bonds of matrimony to an immoral man and she sought to have herself and her children freed from such a burden, that man could demand a trial before a jury and make any immoral, filthy or dirty accusation he might want to make before that woman in order to frighten her, with her love for her children, away from the courts of justice. This bill has surrounded the citizen, whether he be male or female, with merely the strong protecting cloak of the court and that is all, and if the House feel, in their wisdom, that that should be removed, then this repealer should prevail. If, on the contrary, this House agrees with all the modern thought on the question of divorce, not only the thought expressed in the Act of 1911, but the thought that was expressed in the bill introduced into this House known as the Uniform Divorce Law by the friends of the gentleman from Philadelphia, then he must say that the law of 1911 is correct, because the Uniform Divorce Law that has been offered in this House enacts almost in the language this very provision of protecting not only the one individual but the whole of the family, the whole of the Commonwealth, in the cases where the court feels that such protection should be. And, Mr. Speaker, what does it mean? Does it mean the depriving of right? No. It merely means that those facts that are filthy, that those facts that would corrupt the ears of the good people of this Commonwealth, that those facts should be held by the Court in the secrecy of the chamber and not in the publicity of a court room. If that is wrong, if that is depriving any of their rights, then, Mr. Speaker, this repealer that I have offered can prevail. If it does a wrong, then this repealer should be defeated, but I hold that the law of 1911 is proper and I am not abandoning my bill here that I have offered this session, because when I offered it I also offered a written statement that was read publicly in this House, that I offered this bill and would vote against it. I have abandoned nothing, but have occupied the same position, and more than that I went beyond merely standing in my position. I went to the committee and when I went to the Committee and when it was reported out negatively I went on the floor and asked that it be put on the calendar, and when the point of order was raised and sustained by the Chair I asked the House to suspend the ruling so that the bill might come to the floor and so that we might cast our vote upon it.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the House for their indulgence in listening to me. I intend to say no more on this matter. I leave the merits and demerits to the conscience of the House to direct the vote upon this bill.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I did not intend to say anything on this bill or the position that the House occupies in relation to it, and yet I feel, under the circumstances and the vote which was cast last night in relation to keeping the bill on the calendar, that I must say a word. I do not feel, Mr. Speaker, that any of the members of this House, outside of the sponsor of the bill, have anything to regret in relation to the passage of the bill two years ago, and the only regrettable feature in relation to the seponsor of the bill was that he was a man who occupied a place high on the floor of this House and in the estimation of his fellow members. Had he been one of us ordinary members and this bill voted upon and placed upon the statute books as it was by the Constitutional majority vote of this House, there would perhaps have been no newspaper notoriety in relation to the passage of the bill. Unfortunately, however, it came from a mind which was able to grasp a situation and write upon the statute books a law which would meet the conditions and shortly after that time the provisions of the bill were put into operation by a family which stood high in the financial world in this great State; and thereupon, of course, an additional attention was directed to it. We, as members have heard of only one case in which the provisions of this bill were put in operation. And yet the lawyers who are upon the floor of this House know that in more cases than one the provisions have been considered wise by the Court and from day to day have been put into operation.

As we face the situation this morning it seems to me that three things are at hand, staring us in the face at this time:

First, the vindication of the House's action two years ago in passing this law.

Secondly, In wiping off the blots that have been attempted to be placed upon one of the members of this House, he who stood as sponsor for this bill, all that has been heaped upon him by a press which has been unfavorable to him because of his political walks or because of his professional successes.

In relation to the first proposition, Mr. Speaker, as soon as the bill became a law and as soon as its provisions were taken advantage of, so soon some members commenced hearing from narrow minded people throughout this State in relation to this bill. So far as the sponsor of the bill was concerned or his motive, Mr. Speaker, every member of this House who has heard the statement fall from his lips must know that he is sincere, that he is absolutely sincere in all that he says in relation to this bill; and I consider, Mr. Speaker, the attempted stab, which was made by one of the members from Philadelphia in relation this man, was very unjust, unkind and unwise, because the gentleman knew not where of he spoke. There is not a member on the floor of this House, Mr. Speaker, but that knows from the beginning of this session the attitude of the sponsor of the present bill, which he told you at the time he asked to have it placed upon the calendar, and that his attitude has always been out in the open and fair and square. There is not a member, Mr. Speaker, upon the floor of this House who can question the honesty and integrity of purpose of that sponsor, either in relation to this bill or in his position on any other matter or proposition that he has occupied upon the floor of this House.

As to the merits of the bill and why this repeal should not go through and the bill be allowed to stand, I want to say just a word. Every member of this House, be he lawyer or be he layman, knows that in his community that when they have the filthiest, vilest and dirtiest of divorce proceedings the court house is packed the greatest. And why? Because there are those people in every community, who, like the buzzard, seek to feast upon carrion. They seem to take great pleasure, Mr. Speaker, in exploiting the unhappy relations, the impure conditions in other homes.

So as to close, if you please, Mr. Speaker, so as to close to those people the record of a case, this bill was introduced and what has happened since? Before that time—and I recall very vividly as it was suggested here last night, merely suggested in relation to another case in the Western end of the Sate, when that case was upon trial, every child that could read almost picked up the papers which appeared in colored red, yellow and green headlines to see what progress was being made, what people were testifying to in that particular case—mark you, children, nine, and ten years of age and on, up to young manhood and young womanhood,—and I ask, Mr. Speaker, whether or not the publicity which was given to a case of that kind did the community or did this Commonwealth any good. Certainly no one can say yes. In the wisdom of the sponsor of this bill which now we are considering, and who says he shall vote against it, in his wisdom he prepared a law which allows what?

It takes from nobody the trial by jury, but it does say that we have implicit confidence in the judgment of the Court as to whether or not the doors should be opened to the public, and publicity given and advertisement made of the conditions in any particular case. Is that wise, or is it unwise? The same testimony, mark you, Mr. Speaker, which would appear under any bill which is set or will hereafter after stand upon the statute books, reaches the ear of the power which finally decides this matter. The same testimony which would have been introduced before a Commissioner or a Master or before a jury still reaches the ear of the Court, and isn't wise, Mr. Speaker, that we have placed such confidence, that we have such implicit faith that we have in many many other instances in the bosom and wisdom of the court, to place in that same bosom and in that same wisdom the power to say whether or not this particular case is too vile and too filthy, to full of rot and corruption to be advertised broadcast. Instead of that we protect the young mind and the young heart, and we keep from the eyes and minds of those who ought not to hear and who have no interest whatever in this matter those things which the eye of even a matured man or a matured woman ought not to rest upon. Mr. Speaker, I feel that this House has these three things to stamp: First, its approval upon the action of the Legislature in its session of 1911 by the enactment of this bill. Secondly, the taking away from the present sponsor of this bill all of those motives which have been assigned to him as showing his interest in this bill ,or in the original bill, which motives he has openly and positively, and cleanly, and clearly and honestly denied on the floor of this House. Thirdly, to say to the people of this great Commonwealth that it is better than some cases be heard in secret rather than to stir up a stench which would infect that whole community. Mr. Speaker, this repealer ought to go down to an inglorious defeat, with the practically unanimous vote of this House registered against it.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to this House that no man stands higher in my estimation than my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott. There is no man who believes any more in his integrity than I do, but I do say, gentlemen, that it is outrageous when every attorney throughout this State tells you that it is a good law, and tells you that it ought to remain on our statute books. If that is so, why should we be asked to remove a good law? That is what I want to find out. I feel like my friend from Allegheny, Mr. Allen, that this bill ought to be voted down unanimously, and that our vote should be "no." Everybody tells us that the law of 1911 is a good law, and if that is so, I cannot understand why this repealer should be introduced into this House. This law was passed in 1911, and two years is not sufficient time to test it, and I ask the gentlemen of the House to vote unanimously "no" on this measure. I wish to say to the House that if I made any statement against the integrity or sincerity of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott, that it was not done from the heart, and I apologize to the whole House if there has been anything that I have said of that nature.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill has raised two different and totally distinct questions which we must keep in mind. The first question is the propriety and desirability of the Act of 1911. I think enough has been said on that subject to let the House thoroughly understand it and let them vote accordingly. But now, a second a more important question has been raised. I am sorry the gentleman from Philadelphia said anything about my being bitter. There was nothing further from my thought than that, but I am exercised that this House vote intelligently and know what they are doing, since this bill is offered to us as a proper means of determining whether or not the Act of 1911 ought, or ought not to have been passed. That is the whole purpose, the burden of his speech, that is what the gentleman from Allegheny refers to. And yet, the gentleman from Crawford, rises and says that this bill will not do that thing, but if we pass this law, it will not place the law in the same condition as it was prior to the Act of 1911, but will leave us without a large section of our divorce laws at all. In other words, the gentleman from Philadelphia is not doing what he said he was doing. He is not giving us a method of repealing that act and I expect him to rise and explain his position upon this particular question.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, in 1905, the then Executive of the State at that time, Governor Pennypacker, in accordance with resolutions passed by various other states and territories of this Union, appointed Commissioners to meet in conference upon what was known as the "Uniform Divorce Congress." In the 1909 session of this House, a uniform bill in divorce was introduced which met the approval of these Commissioners. The men who composed the Comission from the various States were men of the highest vocations in their respective walks of life, composed of men representing the different religious denominations, ex-judges of the Supreme Courts of the various States, and the best legal minds that could be found in the various States of the United States, and they drafted a bill which they felt could be made a uniform bill throughout the different Commonwealths of the United States, and in 1909 the bill was presented, and the very same bill was offered in 1911, only to be killed in the Judiciary General Committee where the lawyers evidently did not want a fair and uniform divorce bill. Now, I am going to read a section of the uniform divorce bill as introduced in 1909 and in 1911, which met with the approval of that Congress. The only reason that my friend from Philadelphia introduced this repealer was to remove the taint of suspicion that attached to his integrity by the introduction and passage of this bill in 1911. As in the case referred to by the gentleman from Allegeny, immediately after this bill was signed by the Governor, the newspapers of Pennsylvania reeked with the information to the public that this bill was introduced to meet a special case. Now, why was it introduced to meet a special case? I deny that accusation absolutely. I voted for the bill at that time and I do not regret it, and I propose to vote against this repealer. In 1909, section 40, of the Uniform Divorce Congress Bill raises this question: "if the pleadings raise any issue relevant and material to the relief sought which either party may desire to have tried by a jury an issue on the facts aleged or denied in the pleadings shall be framed by the party demanding such trial and presented to the court after notice to the other party for approval. Such issue and trial shall be demanded by the answer or replication or at any time before the taking of testimony upon the merits shall have commenced, and thereafter such trial by jury shall be allowed only in the discretion of the Court upon motion and for cause shown. The Court may, in its discretion, and for its assistance frame a specific question or questions of fact for trial by jury when it is satisfied that such trial can be had without prejudice to public morals." Now, that is the provision in this Act referring to the fact of modifying or abolishing the jury trial so far as divorce cases are concerned. Now, this is the Uniform Divorce Law, I am not referring to the Act of 1911. I am holding in my hand House Bill No. 331, which was given to me for the purpose of presentation by Walter George Smith, who has made a study of this question in conference with the other members composing this Commission in Pennsylvania and throughout the various States. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott, and every member of the Bar of the Philadelphia delegation knows in what high esteem Walter George Smith is held in the City of Philadelphia and State of Pennsylvania. Now, gentlemen, they must have had some particularly good reason when they incorporated that provision in this uniform divorce law. It met with the unanimous approval of the members of that Commission from the various States and Territories, and upon slight consideration you members of this House can see the logical reason for this provision being incorporated into this bill. Day after day we read in the public press of the young son of some wealthy man eloping with some young chorus girl who only marries him knowing that his family is wealthy and simply for the purpose of finally trying to bleed that family into a settlement in divorce, because we know that these young men at the ages of twenty or twenty-two or nineteen have not given the subject of matrimony sufficient consideration. And what is the result? The result is that they get into the hands of a lawyer who for the purpose of exposing the family, when an application in divorce is made upon behalf of the wife demands a jury trial so that that youthful chorus girl wife can show up the family and lead them into newspaper notoriety for which they are not responsible. I say that this provision was inserted in this bill after a sincere consideration of the effect that it would have upon the public morals of the community. Why, gentlemen of the House, no one in this House ever thought of offering a repealer to this bill until the gentleman from Philadelphia. Mr. John R. K. Scott, on account of the reputation he had achieved in the last session, the manner in which he was assailed by the newspapers without any redress, was compelled, for the purpose of his own vindication, to offer this bill to test the sincerity of the members of this House in regard to whether or not they should vote for its repeal. I am compelled, very much against my will, to take issue with the other gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott. I do not believe that when those words fell from his lips that he thought the gentleman from Philadelphia was deceiving this House that he meant it, and I feel that he has sufficiently apologized to the members of the House for the accusation that he made against his colleague from Philadelphia, because in this session they have fought side by side. I have not been with them. I have been consistently opposed to legislation which they advance, but many a time the gentlemen from Philadelphia, John R. K. Scott and S. B. Scott, were in the midst of a contest and he has come to the rescue and helped him to pass legislation which he was favoring. Gentlemen of the House, I am convinced that when you give this subject mature consideration, you will undoubtedly come to the conclusion that the provisions of the act of 1911, as recommended by the Uniform Divorce Commission of 1907, is good legislation and that the only purpose for which you would vote against this bill would be probably because of the supposition that it was introduced for the purpose of effecting one particular case in this State. The right of trial by jury, as has been said, prior to the Act of 1815, was not a common law right. It didn't give either the husband or the wife a right to go before a jury, and what advantage can be gained before a jury? We know, full well, that the judges of the various courts not only of this Commonwealth but other Commonwealths, when they commence to analyze and discuss the evidence as presented to them under a master's report, go over it very carefully, and unless the evidence is sufficient to warrant a decree in divorce it invariably refuses to enter a decree. We know that agitation in this Commonwealth against divorce has been taken up by the Judiciary. If you pass this repealer you have this condition: You have the condition of any two persons desiring to go before a jury no matter what the facts are in the libellant's appeal; no matter how immoral they may be; no matter what the character of the testimony; and we know full well that the press will print the facts and that it will be circulated through the newspaper to corrupt the youthful minds of this Commonwealth. I sincerely hope that you will give this matter due consideration and that you will necessarily vote against the repealer knowing that you will do the right thing to your community and for the moral effect of the Commonwealth.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Private Secretary of the Governor being introduced, presented the following communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

APPROVAL OF CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 21, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed concurrent resolution from the Senate and House of Representatives, recalling from the Governor for the purpose of amendment Houes Bill No. 409, entitled:

"An Act providing for the establishment and maintenance of boards of health in boroughs and townships of the first class and defining their powers and duties providing for the appointment of members of such boards of health by the president judge of the court of common pleas of the county wherein such borough or township of the first class is located providing for the election of a secretary and a health officer providing that the Commissioner of Health may take charge of the administration of health laws in any borough or township of the first class when conditions therein in his opinion constitute a menace to the lives or health of the people living outside the corporate limits of such borough or township of the first class or when it may be known to him that such borough or township of the first class is without an existing or efficient board of health and providing the manner in which the expenses of boards of health or of the Commissioner of Health incurred in administering health laws in any borough or township of the first class shall be paid."

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. KEEPORT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Section 2 line 7 amend by striking out the word "of" and at line 13 by striking out the word "mem—" and inserting the word "member."

Amend section 5 at line 6 by inserting after the word "or" the word "of."

Amend Section 8 line 22 by striking out the word "be."

Amend the title at line 4 by inserting after the word "by" the words "the president of."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing,

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1264.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 15, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1264, entitled:

"An Act regulating the number of persons required as appraisers in claiming exceptions under the act entitled 'An Act relating to the commencement of actions to judgments and decrees for the payment of money to the widows and children of decedents and to partitions in the common pleas relative to penalties on telegraph operators to pleadings in certain actions of debt to ejectments to the protection of fences to partnerships to limitations of writs of entry in manors lands and tenements to the exemption laws to reports of the Supreme Court to appeals relating to ward borough and township officers to the acknowledgments of deeds and sequestrations of life estates' approved April fourteenth one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and twelve) and its supplements and under the act entitled 'An Act to amend section one of an act entitled 'An Act relating to the descent and distribution of the estates of intestates' passed and approved April eighth one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three defining and declaring the interest that shall descend to and vest in the surviving husband or wife of such intestates' approved April first one thousand nine hundred and nine (Pamphlet Laws eighty-seven) and making legal all exemptions thereunder heretofore allowed."

Although not expressly stated to be an amendatory act this bill, in effect, amends several laws which are referred to by titles only, and are not re-enacted and published at length. I am of opinion that the constitutionality of this bill is at least doubtful.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

Mr. HEIDINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this communication be laid upon the table.

Mr. HEMMINGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.
